San Quentin 'Wall Of Fire' Prevents Bloody Race Riot

Bullets, Battles Hurt 15 Convicts In Yard

By ROBERT STREBIEGH

More than 2,000 white and Negro convicts, separated from each other by a "wall of fire" laid down by prison guards, were prevented from staging a major racial war yesterday during an explosive three-and-one-half hour confrontation in San Quentin Prison's main yard.

How many of the prison's 4,005 inmates were involved in the cursing, hate-filled riot was uncertain, but at the height of the action Warden Lawrence E. Wilson estimated that as many as 1,000 Negroes and perhaps 1,400 whites—both groups armed with improvised weapons—threatened bloody conflict.

Despite the numbers involved and the heavy fire from guards, casualties were limited to 15 inmates, one of them seriously injured by a gunshot wound in the mouth. Seven others had minor bullet wounds.

Two prisoners suffered heart attacks and five had head injuries sustained in fights with other inmates. None was identified by prison authorities.

Heavy damage was reported. Authorities said the prisoners set fires, damaged industrial equipment and tore up wooden structures, pipes, valves and gas lines.

A classroom was set afire in the west yard. Another fire scorched the side of a cell block, burning off about 30 per cent of the paint.

Toilets were ripped apart and benches broken up to provide clubs. Trays and utensils from the cafeteria were converted into shields and knives.

WEAPONS FOUND

More than 500 pounds of weapons were gathered up today by guards combing the wreckage-strewn yards.

More than 500 prison personnel struggled to restore order after the trouble started about 12:30 p.m. They were backed up later by 50 Marin County sheriff's deputies, stationed outside the prison walls, and 260 California Highway Patrolmen ordered to the scene by Patrol Commissioner Harold Sullivan.

The racial showdown yesterday followed the fatal stabbing of a white prisoner Monday in the wake of disturbances blamed on Black Muslim inmates.

RACIAL SEPARATION

Shortly after lunch, prisoners in the main yard began separating into white and Negro groups, evidently forewarned through the "grapevine" that a "racial rumble" was in the making.

As the enemy groups squared off, whites on one side of the yard, Negroes on the other, weapons appeared from nowhere—clubs, pipes, pieces of benches torn apart, anything that would serve.

GUARDS FIRE

Alert guards — those posted on the wall above the whites and those above the Negroes — laid down warning gunfire in the clear space between. The shooting and the shouting of the prisoners could be heard a quarter-mile away.

Time and again, Warden Wilson appealed to the white faction to leave the main yard and

Fate Of San Rafael's Top Four Officials On Ballot

By FRANK FARRARA

San Rafael voters will have a chance in the April municipal election to decide whether they want to continue voting for four top city officials.

One of the proposed charter revisions which will appear on the ballot will be to have the police chief, city attorney, city clerk and city treasurer appointed by the council rather than elected.

Voters also will decide whether to grant city councilmen a pay raise to $150 a month, from the current $50 a month for councilmen and $100 a month for the mayor.

These were among charter revisions approved for the ballot by the San Rafael City Council last night.

Councilmen approved a series of recommendations from the city charter revisions committee, altered some before approval and rejected others.

The committee made no recommendation on council salaries, but Councilman Harry A. Barbier proposed placing the pay raise on the ballot.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said the council could grant itself a raise by ordinance. Barbier said, "Let the voters decide."

Specifically the charter revision would provide that the council receive "such compensation as prescribed by general law." This is currently $150 a month in a city of the size of San Rafael.

There's a lot more to the job of councilman than sitting at meetings a couple of times a month, Barbier commented.

There were several spirited debates during the evening, but the sharpest clash came over the proposed revision that would place no limit on expenditures for advertising and promotion. The council approved the "no-limit" revision, which would eliminate the current limit of $1,000, by a 3-2 vote. Councilmen Louis H. Baar and Fred E. Jensen dissented.

Jensen said, "I can't see giving taxpayers' money away without a limit."

The proposal reads merely that the council could authorize expenditures it "may deem proper." Baar described it as "a real mistake and poor policy."

Councilman Charles W. Aby countered, "You put a limit, and they'll ask to the limit."

There was some debate about whether the city attorney should be appointed. The vote for appointment was 4-1, with Baar dissenting.

The city attorney should not be "under the providence of the council" because there might be a tendency for him to render the opinion the council wanted, Baar said.

Other councilmen felt that when it came to giving an opinion, it would make no difference to an attorney whether he was electted or appointed. They conceded that some areas of law and not clear and an opinion could go either way.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. said there should be at least one city official, not necessarily the city attorney, who could act as a check on the council—"one who could stand up and tell you fellows when you're going the wrong way."

Aby replied that it is the city attorney's job to advise and the council's job to set policy.

The council approved a section establishing the city manager position to the charter, and noting that his duties, responsibilities and scope of authority should be set by ordinance. The manager position is now covered only by ordinance, not being included in the charter.

The addition approved for the ballot is a watered-down version of the committee's recommendation that all appointive officers and department heads be subordinate to the city man-

Bobby Kennedy To Back LBJ Ticket In 1968

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., says he will support President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for re-election in 1968.

Kennedy, widely expected to make a bid for the president in 1972, again put to rest rumors he might try for a shot on the Democratic national ticket in 1968.

He admitted in a television interview last night to having a somewhat fatalistic attitude toward the presidency, but emphasized his only plans at present are to seek re-election to the Senate in 1970.

"I just don't know what is going to happen beyond (1968)," Kennedy said. "That's two years away and to try to predict what's going to happen six years from now I think is very, very difficult.

Kennedy ranged over is role in the Senate, his family's so-called dynasty, and his future on "Men of the Senate," a National Education Television (NET) network program.

Asked why members of his wealthy family chose public life "when presumably they could have had very comfortable lives doing nothing more than amusing themselves," Kennedy said his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, Sr., felt the United States was the only country where he could have "done so well" after starting out with little money.

"And therefore our responsibility really was to pay back that debt in some way to the country that made it so possible for all of us to live the kind of lives that we lived," he explained

Ross Hearing Draws No Protest To Joining Flood Control Zone

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The people of Ross seemed resigned last night to the prospect of a concrete ditch through their town.

They turned out some 70 strong to provide a standing-room-only crowd in Town Hall for a public hearing on whether Ross should join the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Zone. But when, near the hearing's close, Mayor Frederick S. Allen asked if anyone wished to speak against the project, there was no response.

Several spoke in favor. More asked questions.

Mayor Allen announced the town council would make no decision last night, continuing the hearing to the Feb. 9 meeting "so anyone who was unable to get here tonight can have a second chance to be heard."

The absence of objections to a prospect that stirred loud complaints a year ago may have resulted largely from Town Engineer Phillip B. Lygren's explanation of the plan, and from agreement by Lt. Col. John Boerger, district engineer, that the Army Corps of Engineers will meet a set of nine conditions Lygren proposed.

The town engineer, after reviewing the history of the project, what it would mean to Ross, and what its lack would mean to Ross, recommended the town join the flood control zone with these conditions:

1. Provision for aesthetic considerations, including preservation of natural landscape features wherever possible.

2. Facilities to relieve overflow in the vicinity of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Ross School as responsibilities of the flood control zone.

3. Reimbursement to the town for public property acquired for the channel alignment.

4. Recognition of loss of environmental value of trees, etc., in negotiations for acquiring right of way.

5. Direct representation of Ross on the flood control zone advisory board.

6. Inclusion of reconstruction of the Lagunitas Road Bridge as part of the main project.

7. Provision for incorporating future bridge abutments within the channel walls and footings at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

8. Guarantee that the concrete channel will not extend beyond the Shady Lane Bridge on Ross Creek and the Sir Francis Drake Bridge on San Anselmo Creek except at request of the Town of Ross and City of San Anselmo.

9. Guarantee that channel alignments "will be adopted only after careful thought has been given to preservation of existing sylvan landscapes and the usability of adjacent property remainders."

Mayor Allen asked whether the Corps of Engineers would agree to these conditions.

Replied Colonel Boerger, "We feel that the provisions he asks can be met and should be met."

County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said that "as a

Novato Man Wounded After He Fires Shots At Deputies

A 59-year-old Novato auto salseman late yesterday shot twice at officers attempting to arrest him at home for an inebriacy hearing, then was shot by one of the officers.

William H. Hovey Sr. of 109 San Felipe Way was reported in "just fair" condition today at Callison Memorial Hospital in San Francisco, where he was being treated for the gunshot wound after emergency treatment at Novato General Hospital. An attending physician said the bullet went through Hovey's chest, narrowly missing the heart and breaking two ribs and left shoulder blade.

Sheriff's Deputy Anthony J. Russo, said he went to Hovey's home about 5:30 p. m. to serve a warrant of arrest on a petition by Hovey's wife, Ora, that he be committed for medical treatment as an inebriate.

Novato Police Officers Gary P. Stansfield and Melvin Lesku met Russo there. Two days earlier, Novato police had confiscated a shotgun and a .44 caliber Magnum revolver from Hovey after a complaint by his wife.

Deputy Russo said that, after being served with the warrant, Hovey thrust his right hand inside his coat. Forewarned the man might have another gun, Russo dropped his hand to his own gun butt. But Hovey pulled out a package of cigarettes.

Officer Lesky left on another assignment. Russo said Hovey, who had been drinking, stalled when told he would have to go to the county jail.

Again, said Russo, Hovey reached under this coat. But this time, he pulled out a .38 caliber revolver.

Russo said he dodged through a doorway into the kitchen and turned to see Officer Stansfield raising his hands.

The deputy said Hovey pointed the gun at him and fired

Late Primary, Cross Filing Bills Offered

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill was introduced in the Assembly today to shift the primary election from June to August in years the governor is elected.

The measure was sponsored by Assemblyman Joames A. Hayes, R-Long Beach. The present campaign is too long, Hayes said.

A similar bill was introduced in the Senate but it would apply to all election years.

Also today, Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, submitted a bill to permit cross-filing of candidates in the primary election. This would allow a return to the system where Republicans could seek the Democratic nomination and vice versa.

144 Gls Dead In Vietnam Last Week

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. fighting men suffered their heaviest casualties of the war last week while American troop strength in Vietnam was being escalated to the 400,000 mark, military spokesmen said today.

Spokesmen said a total of 1,194 American servicemen were killed, wounded or missing in action last week as the war's biggest campaign raged in the Iron Triangle.

It was the first time the weekly toll had exceeded 1,000.

U.S. military officials said that in the week ended last Saturday 144 Americans were killed, 1044 wounded and six were missing in combat. The casualty toll reached a previous high last Sept. 29 when 142 were killed, 825 were wounded and three were listed as missing. The highest American death toll was in November 1965, when 248 servicemen died in the Ia Drang Valley battle.

Meanwhile, U.S. B-52 bombers today hammered suspected Communist strongholds in the Iron Triangle for the 13th straight day. As many as 15,000 American troops have been sweeping through the area since last week.

Former Sen. Barry Goldwater, winding up a three-day visit to Vietnam, told newsmen the U.S. war effort was being hamstrung by restrictions limiting the number of North Vietnamese targets subject to air attack.

Hearings Ordered On Pilot Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Formal hearings on a reported shortage of combat pilots for the Vietnam war were ordered today by Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of a Senate Defense Watchdog subcommittee.

Dates for the inquiry will be announced later.

Reagan Asks Creation Of Tuition Committee

BERKELEY (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan suggested today that a special committee be set up to study his controversial proposal for tuition at the giant University of California.

Reagan, in Berkeley for a U.C. Board of Regents meeting and debate over tuition and budget cuts, told a news conference such a committee "should try to get down to practical issues" before a decision is made on tuition.

While Reagan was making his suggestion, Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh was telling other newsmen that the wisest thing to do is delay any action on tuition while ramifications are studied.

Reagan told reporters, "I believe in tuition. I believe it is a logical answer."

The governor declined to comment on whether U.C. President Clark Kerr's job would be discussed at the regents meeting.

Kerr was asked about reports that regents are pressing for his ouster.

"That is a queasy question," Kerr replied. "You ought to ask regents, not me."

Unruh said he opposes tuition at U.C. and state colleges.

"To impose tuition to close a financial gap would be a pure tax on education," he said.

The speaker received a petition from a delegation of UCLA students opposing tuition. The petition had been signed by 5,000 students.

Unruh and Kerr both said they did not expect tuition to be discussed at today's session.

Reagan bypassed his right to be chairman of the University of California Board of Regents today.

Reagan, an ex-officio member of the board, asked Regent Theodore R. Meyer of San Francisco to continue as chairman. Reagan has the right as governor to take the chair.

Twenty-three of the 24 regents —all but William N. Roth of Washington, D.C.—were present.

The agenda placed the university budget second of two general items for the afternoon meeting.

Reagan Will Fly South Tomorrow

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan plans to fly to Los Angeles for the weekend following tomorrow's session of the University of California Board of Regents.

The governor will return to Sacramento late Monday or early Tuesday, his office said.

While Reagan was making his suggestion, Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh was telling other newsmen that the wisest thing to do is delay any action on tuition while ramifications are studied.

Reagan told reporters, "I believe in tuition. I believe it is a logical answer."

The governor declined to comment on whether U.C. President Clark Kerr's job would be discussed at the regents meeting.

Kerr was asked about reports that regents are pressing for his ouster.

"That is a queasy question," Kerr replied. "You ought to ask regents, not me."

Unruh said he opposes tuition at U.C. and state colleges.

"To impose tuition to close a financial gap would be a pure tax on education," he said.

The speaker received a petition from a delegation of UCLA students opposing tuition. The petition had been signed by 5,000 students.

Unruh and Kerr both said they did not expect tuition to be discussed at today's session.

Reagan bypassed his right to be chairman of the University of California Board of Regents today.

Reagan, an ex-officio member of the board, asked Regent Theodore R. Meyer of San Francisco to continue as chairman. Reagan has the right as governor to take the chair.

Twenty-three of the 24 regents —all but William N. Roth of Washington, D.C.—were present.

The agenda placed the university budget second of two general items for the afternoon meeting.

Reagan Will Fly South Tomorrow

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan plans to fly to Los Angeles for the weekend following tomorrow's session of the University of California Board of Regents.

The governor will return to Sacramento late Monday or early Tuesday, his office said.

DeSalvo Conviction Criticized

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Attorney F. Lee Bailey, charging that "Massachusetts just burned another witch," says he'll challenge the state's criminal insanity law in appealing the assault conviction of Albert DeSalvo, the man who claims to be the Boston strangler.

DeSalvo

DeSalvo, 35, was sentenced last night to 10-years-plus-life after an all-male jury convicted the mental patient on charges of robbery and attacking four women in their suburban Boston homes in 1964.

None of the charges was connected with the series of killings attributed to the strangler.

"It is the fault of no one but the law," Bailey told newsmen as he left Middlesex County Superior Court.

Bailey had asked for verdicts of not guilty by reason of insanity and had not contested the charges against DeSalvo.

Bailey challenged the definition of insanity in the Massachusetts penal code several times during the seven-day trial.

Sea Hunt On For Heiress And Husband

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Planes are searching between Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands for the only daughter of one of the world's richest women, missing in a small twin-engine plane with her husband and a pilot.

Audrey Bruce Currier, a granddaughter of Andrew W. Mellon, and her husband, Stephen R. Currier, were last heard from Tuesday night 30 minutes after the Piper Apache took off from San Juan for a 70-mile hop to St. Thomas, in the Virgin Islands. The pilot was John D. Watson, 52, of Airplane Charters Inc., the owner of the plane.

More than 20 planes and ships spent all yesterday fanning over the eastern Caribbean. But they found no trace of the heiress to an estimated $700-million share of the vast Mellon financial empire or her husband, 36, a philanthropist and sponsor of civil rights causes.

Planes kept up the hunt throughout the night and the air-sea search was to resume at daylight.

The Coast Guard said the Curriers and Watson were believed to be the only persons aboard the missing plane.

Filibuster Foes Lose Round In Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 61-37 vote has halted a bipartisan drive for a stronger Senate anti-filibuster rule.

After yesterday's setback, the only hope left for those who want to make it easier to halt filibusters is to muster a two-thirds majority to bring the debate on rules to a close.

A chance to do this will be offered under a cloture petition to be filed by leaders of both parties and other senators.

However, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told reporters that although he will sign the debate-closing petition, he will vote against it and expects it to fail.

The petition automatically will come to a vote next Tuesday under a rule requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting to end debate.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield wouldn't forecast the outcome of Tuesday's vote. But he said if it were close and it appeared a second cloture petition would have any possibility of success, he would make another try before turning to other matters.

An attempt to bypass the two-thirds rule was the key to the strategy of those who favor making it possible to choke off a filibuster either by a three-fifths majority of senators voting or by a majority of the Senate membership.

They contended that at the start of a new Congress a majority of the Senate has a constitutional right to adopt rules unfettered by any rules previously adopted.

Acting on behalf of the bipartisan group, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., moved to shut off debate by majority vote on taking up the proposed three-fifths rule. Dirksen raised a point of order against the motion.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Senate's presiding officer, said this presented a constitutional question and turned it over to the Senate for a decision.

But he said that if the Senate voted to table and thus kill Dirksen's point of order, he would interpret this as instructing him to put McGovern's motion to a vote without further debate.

And Humphrey said that under those circumstances, a majority vote on McGovern's motion to end debate would prevail.

WAITING IN JAPAN

Drath Is 'Praying' For Hanoi's Nod

TOKYO (AP) — Two Quakers continued today to prepare for a planned mission to deliver medical supplies to North Vietnam, hopeful that the communist nation would approve the trip.

The supplies are expected to weigh about one ton and will be financed by about $25,000 contributed by people in Japan and the United States, said Phillip Drath.

Drath, a building contractor from San Rafael, said North Vietnam has not yet formally approved the mission. But, he said, a fellow Quaker visiting Hanoi reported that the visit would be welcomed.

PRAYING FOR NOD

"We're praying that approval comes," he told the Associated Press in an interview from a community near Yokosuka, site of a large U.S. naval base.

Drath, 53, and another Quaker, Horace Champney, 61, of Yellow Springs, Ohio, arrived in Tokyo Tuesday with plans to sail to North Vietnam next month aboard a 50-foot ketch owner by Pacifist-educator Dr. Earle L. Reynolds.

Reynolds, 59, also would make the trip probably with five other persons who are still to be selected, Drath said.

In 1958 Reynolds sailed his ketch, the Phoenix, into the Eniwetok testing grounds in the Pacific to protest planned U. S. nuclear tests in the area. He comes from Antioch, Ohio, but has lived in Japan the past 10 years.

Drath said the U.S. State Department "has made it known" it would not validate the passports of the Americans making the voyage.

"But we're going to make the trip if North Vietnam approves it," he said.

Drath, an unsuccessful peace candidate for Congress at the last elections, declined to discuss possibilities of a North Vietnamese rejection.

The Quakers also hope to get permission from North Vietnam to establish a Quaker clinic similar to one presently operating in South Vietnam.

"We don't feel there are such things as enemies," said Drath. "We're all brothers."

Drath said the group would meet with Japanese doctors to discuss the type of medical supplies that should be taken to North Vietnam.

The group said it hoped to leave around Feb. 5 for North Vietnam, arriving there around the end of the month after a stopover in Hong Kong.

$250,000 Blaze In Shops Center

SANTA CLARA (UPI) — Explosions of 55-gallon drums of paint thinner and cases of ammunition prevented nearly 50 firemen from bringing a fire at the Grand View Shopping Center here under immediate control before it caused an estimated $250,000 damage last night.

The blaze started in the hardware store owned by Anthony Slavich about a half hour after he closed the store at 9 p.m.

A beauty salon in the shopping complex was destroyed and other stores had extensive water damage.

Ky Prefers Piloting To Presidency

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) —South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky put piloting above politicking today and said he would relinquish power as soon as his nation gets its new constitution.

South Vietnam is "on the threshold of genuine democracy," Ky declared on the second day of an Australia-New Zealand visit marked thus far by plaudits and cheers instead of threatened anti-war demonstrations.

"I am looking forward to handing over my power as soon as the constituent assembly finishes its business," the 35-year-old Ky told newsmen. "I want to return to the air force before I get too old to fly jets."

The constituent assembly, elected to write the constitution setting up civilian government, is expected to complete its task next month. Ky said yesterday he expected the South Vietnamese air force he once headed would get jet fighter planes sometime in March.

ALEXANDER B. TROWBRIDGE
In temporary job?

Johnson Picks Trowbridge As Commerce Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The resignation of John T. Connor as secretary leaves the Commerce Department stripped of its top hierarchy. And it soon will lose many of its functions to the new Department of Transportation.

The task of regrouping a smaller department for possible merger with the Labor Department now falls to Alexander B. Trowbridge, 37, a native of New Jersey.

ACTING BOSS

President Johnson, in accepting Connor's resignation yesterday, named Trowbridge acting secretary. He had been assistant secretary of commerce for domestic and international business since May 6, 1965.

Connor's resignation, rumored for many months, followed last week's swearing in of Alan S. Boyd as secretary of the new Department of Transportation.

Boyd had been undersecretary of commerce for transportation, considered the department's No. 3 spot.

POST VACANT

The No. 2 post — that of undersecretary — has been vacant since the resignation last year of LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida.

The White House indicated that Johnson does not now plan to name a full successor to Connor pending congressional action on his request to merge the Commerce and Labor departments.

Connor cited this proposed merger and creation of the Department of Transportation in his letter of resignation.

Connor reportedly was disenchanted with the department's lack of influence in shaping economic policy.

Marin Debate Stars Move Up

Two seniors on the Terra Linda High School debate team won certificates of merit and moved up the ladder toward the state championship in a recent debating tournament at Richmond High School.

Darryl Henning of San Rafael and Keith Walton face two more rounds of qualifying debates on March 18 and April 22. If successful in both, they will compete for the championship at the state tournament in Santa Barbara in May.

The resolution throughout the competition and on which teams must be prepared to argue both for and against is "Resolved, that the U.S. foreign aid program be limited to non-military assistance."

Mao's Arch Political Foe Reported Held

HONG KONG (UPI)—Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung was reported today to have placed his chief political enemy, President Liu Shao-chi, under house arrest in Peking and jailed Liu's son for subversive acts.

Intelligence sources here said Liu was being held a virtual prisoner in a walled compound in which government and Communist party officials reside.

The sources said it was unlikely that Liu could have fled Peking as reported Tuesday by a Hong Kong newspaper. The newspaper said Liu was establishing a "battle" headquarters 225 miles southeast of Peking to direct the fight against Mao.

A correspondent for Japan's Yomiuri Shimbun newspaper reported in Tokyo that factions loyal to Mao had arrested the 68-year-old president's son, Liu Yun-jo, today in Peking on suspicion of having "secret contact with foreign countries."

South Korea Boat Shelled; 28 Missing

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean shore batteries sank a 650-ton South Korean navy patrol ship off the east coast of Korea today and 28 crewmen are missing, the South Korean defense ministry announced.

The ministry said 51 crewmen were rescued quickly and U.S. and South Korean ships and planes were searching for the missing. But Defense Minister Kim Sung-eun said most of them were feared drowned.

The patrol ship sank in about 20 minutes after more than 200 Communist shells hit it, the ministry said.

The announcement said Patrol Craft Escort 56 was attacked about 2:30 p.m. immediately south of the imaginary extension of the military demarcation line between North and South Korea. The ship, commanded by Cmdr. Kim Seung-bae, was on patrol protecting a group of South Korean fishing boats operating in the area.

It was the first time in Korea's 14-year armistice that a South Korean warship was sunk by Communist batteries.

ALEXANDER B. TROWBRIDGE

Johnson Picks Trowbridge As Commerce Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The resignation of John T. Connor as secretary leaves the Commerce Department stripped of its top hierarchy. And it soon will lose many of its functions to the new Department of Transportation.

The task of regrouping a smaller department for possible merger with the Labor Department now falls to Alexander B. Trowbridge, 37, a native of New Jersey.

ACTING BOSS

President Johnson, in accepting Connor's resignation yesterday, named Trowbridge acting secretary. He had been assistant secretary of commerce for domestic and international business since May 6, 1965.

Connor's resignation, rumored for many months, followed last week's swearing in of Alan S. Boyd as secretary of the new Department of Transportation.

Boyd had been undersecretary of commerce for transportation, considered the department's No. 3 spot.

POST VACANT

The No. 2 post — that of undersecretary — has been vacant since the resignation last year of LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida.

The White House indicated that Johnson does not now plan to name a full successor to Connor pending congressional action on his request to merge the Commerce and Labor departments.

Connor cited this proposed merger and creation of the Department of Transportation in his letter of resignation.

Connor reportedly was disenchanted with the department's lack of influence in shaping economic policy.

Marin Debate Stars Move Up

Two seniors on the Terra Linda High School debate team won certificates of merit and moved up the ladder toward the state championship in a recent debating tournament at Richmond High School.

Darryl Henning of San Rafael and Keith Walton face two more rounds of qualifying debates on March 18 and April 22. If successful in both, they will compete for the championship at the state tournament in Santa Barbara in May.

The resolution throughout the competition and on which teams must be prepared to argue both for and against is "Resolved, that the U.S. foreign aid program be limited to non-military assistance."

Mao's Arch Political Foe Reported Held

HONG KONG (UPI)--Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung was reported today to have placed his chief political enemy, President Liu Shao-chi, under house arrest in Peking and jailed Liu's son for subversive acts.

Intelligence sources here said Liu was being held a virtual prisoner in a walled compound in which government and Communist party officials reside.

The sources said it was unlikely that Liu could have fled Peking as reported Tuesday by a Hong Kong newspaper. The newspaper said Liu was establishing a "battle" headquarters 225 miles southeast of Peking to direct the fight against Mao.

A correspondent for Japan's Yomiuri Shimbun newspaper reported in Tokyo that factions loyal to Mao had arrested the 68-year-old president's son, Liu Yun-jo, today in Peking on suspicion of having "secret contact with foreign countries."

South Korea Boat Shelled; 28 Missing

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean shore batteries sank a 650-ton South Korean navy patrol ship off the east coast of Korea today and 28 crewmen are missing, the South Korean defense ministry announced.

The ministry said 51 crewmen were rescued quickly and U.S. and South Korean ships and planes were searching for the missing. But Defense Minister Kim Sung-eun said most of them were feared drowned.

The patrol ship sank in about 20 minutes after more than 200 Communist shells hit it, the ministry said.

The announcement said Patrol Craft Escort 56 was attacked about 2:30 p.m. immediately south of the imaginary extension of the military demarcation line between North and South Korea. supervisor, I certainly feel the requests are reasonable."

Lygren noted that the Corps of Engineers' plan now calls for a 33-foot wide, straight-sided channel through Ross to the confluence of Corte Madera Creek with San Anselmo Creek, the Corps having abandoned a plan for a wall at the south edge of Ross.

He said that to prevent floods from tributary streams in Ross, an expanded culvert system would be needed from Willow Avenue, Allen Avenue and Drake Boulevard to the new creek channel. He estimated this would cost $60,000.

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones asked whether these auxiliary installations would be financed by the flood control district.

Edward W. Colthurst, Corte Madera mayor and chairman of the district's advisory board, said that would have to be determined by a joint study by his board and the county engineering staff. Mogens Ring of the county staff said they would appear to be a flood control zone responsibility.

One of the most persistent questioners was Lester A. Bricca of Sylvan Lane, but he objected when Mayor Allen reported the council had received two petitions with long lists of signatures—"one in favor and one against."

Bricca said he was the author of one of them, and "it was not a petition against flood control . . . It merely asked the council to completely explore every possibility before we put in the ditch." This brought a round of applause.

Colonel Boerger fielded most of the questions to the apparent satisfaction of the questioners. He got a burst of laughter when he replied to a question by Fred H. Field of 96 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, who wanted to know "what is meant by design control?"

"Design control," said the colonel, "is what I have personally because the project can't be built unless I sign the plans."

Waldo Grade Tow, Crash Hurts Three

Two cars collided with a pcikup truck towing a station wagon at 8:15 p.m. yesterday on the Waldo Grade of Highway 101, resulting in minor injuries to one driver and his wife and the occupant of the towed car.

The cars were southbound when the truck, driven by Joseph Polite, 28, of San Francisco, towing the station wagon in which Allen Miller, 30, of San Francisco was rdiing, began pulling into the slow lane, reported the California Highway Patrol.

A car driven by Jeanne Cliburn Dorinson, 50, of Laurel Grove Avenue, Ross, collided with the station wagon. Then a car driven by Paul Robert Georg, 49, of Healdsburg ran into the rear of the Dorinson car, pushing it into the station wagon again, which then rammed the rented truck driven by Polite.

Georg was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut chin and his wife, Mrs. Elvera Georg, for a brusied forehead. Miller was examined at the hospital for minor injuries.

two shots in rapid succession.

Both slugs embedded themselves in the living room wall about three feet from the deputy.

Russo fired once with his .357 caliber Magnum revolver.

The bullet passed through Hovey's body and smashed a stereophonic set behind him. Hovey dropped his weapon.

Officer Stansfield, whose own version today was that he did not raise his hands, but instead was drawing his gun and demanding that Hovey drop his revolver, telephoned for an ambulance.

Deputy Russo said while awaiting the ambulance, Hovey said to him, "I could have shot you right through the heart."

Mrs. Hovey's affidavit stated Hovey has been drinking from one-half pint to two-fifths of vodka daily, and had lost several jobs because of his drinking.

Last Jan. 10, she said, he kept her up all night, once striking her and breaking her spectacles.

Novato police said Hovey is a chronic alcoholic and has given them trouble in the past.

Waldo Grade Tow, Crash Hurts Three

Two cars collided with a pcikup truck towing a station wagon at 8:15 p.m. yesterday on the Waldo Grade of Highway 101, resulting in minor injuries to one driver and his wife and the occupant of the towed car.

The cars were southbound when the truck, driven by Joseph Polite, 28, of San Francisco, towing the station wagon in which Allen Miller, 30, of San Francisco was rdiing, began pulling into the slow lane, reported the California Highway Patrol.

A car driven by Jeanne Cliburn Dorinson, 50, of Laurel Grove Avenue, Ross, collided with the station wagon. Then a car driven by Paul Robert Georg, 49, of Healdsburg ran into the rear of the Dorinson car, pushing it into the station wagon again, which then rammed the rented truck driven by Polite.

Georg was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut chin and his wife, Mrs. Elvera Georg, for a brusied forehead. Miller was examined at the hospital for minor injuries.

Two more firms will be interviewed at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Bolinas School Library. Five firms were interviewed last week. Selection is expected at the regular board meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Stinson Beach School, Carpenter said.

Also to be considered at the Wednesday meeting is a recommendation yesterday by the district's policy committee that teachers be offered one-year contracts when they reach age 65. At present, the district has no retirement policy, no teacher ever having reached the age in the district, Carpenter said.

OBITUARIES

Angelina S. Corvi, 69, Dies

Angelina Stella Corvi, of 41 Rosebank Avenue, Kentfield, widow of a Kentfield produce rancher, died unexpectedly today at her home. She was 69 years old.

Mrs. Corvi awoke at 3 a.m. and complained of chest pains, then collapsed, according to Ast. Coroner E. R. Fontaine. Efforts by a doctor to revive her failed. Fontaine said she had a heart ailment and death apparently was due to natural causes.

Mrs. Corvi's husband, Eugene John Corvi, died in 1948, two years after selling his produce ranch on which the College of Marin football field and parking lot, Adaline E. Kent School and Eat and Run Drive-In now stand.

A native of Italy, Mrs. Corvi immigrated directly to Kentfield 51 years ago.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lena D. Fassi of Kentfield and Mrs. Louise Pieroni of San Francisco; a son, Eugene John Corvi of Kentfield; two sisters, Mrs. Louise Lonardi of Cordelia, Solano County, and Mrs. Mary Karas of Petaluma, and two grandchildren.

Private family funeral will be Saturday at 10 a.m. at St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae, where a Requiem Mass will be offered. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Private Rosary service will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

SHOOT

two shots in rapid succession.

Both slugs embedded themselves in the living room wall about three feet from the deputy.

Russo fired once with his .357 caliber Magnum revolver.

The bullet passed through Hovey's body and smashed a stereophonic set behind him. Hovey dropped his weapon.

Officer Stansfield, whose own version today was that he did not raise his hands, but instead was drawing his gun and demanding that Hovey drop his revolver, telephoned for an ambulance.

Deputy Russo said while awaiting the ambulance, Hovey said to him, "I could have shot you right through the heart."

Mrs. Hovey's affidavit stated Hovey has been drinking from one-half pint to two-fifths of vodka daily, and had lost several jobs because of his drinking.

Last Jan. 10, she said, he kept her up all night, once striking her and breaking her spectacles.

Novato police said Hovey is a chronic alcoholic and has given them trouble in the past.

COPTER PILOT LOOPS—AND LIVES

Conservationists Pick E. L. Braun President

E. L. (Bob) Braun of 121 Gloria Drive, San Rafael, chemistry instructor at College of Marin and chairman of the San Francisco Bay Chapter of the Sierra Club, was elected president of the Conservation Council of Marin last night.

Clifford Hanssen of Mill Valley, a vice president of the Marin Conservation League, was elected vice president. Jean Barnard of Mill Valley was re-elected secretary, and Joan Polsdorfer of Ross was re-elected treasurer.

Members heard William Penn Mott Jr., general manager of the East Bay Regional Park District, predict greater use of water district land for recreation in the future.

The policy of closing water supplies to recreation will probably be changed, Mott said. Recreational use of reservoirs filled with highly treated sewage effluent was also predicted by Mott.

Puerto Suello Chain Crash Hits Traffic

Three accidents, fog, and heavy commute traffic clogged Highway 101 for more than an hour on Puerto Suello Hill last evening. One driver was injured when four cars collided about 5:27 p.m. in the southbound lanes.

California highway patrol said cars driven by Salvator John Priolo, 36, of 515 Pinewood Drive, San Rafael; Airman Clarence Edward Stone Jr., 28, of 1051 Turner Drive, Novato, and Shamus Joseph O'Connell, 19, of 44 San Gabriel Drive, Fairfax, stopped in slow moving traffic. A fourth car, driven by Diane Marie Bellefeuille, 19, of 1 Tamal Road, Forest Knolls, hit the rear of O'Connell's car, causing the chain reaction collision.

Miss Bellefeuille was treated at Kaiser Terra Linda Valley hospital for a bruised nose.

Two other non-injury accidents followed in the tie-up.

Redwood Park Bill Offered; Udall Criticizes Reagan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A very controversial subject, the proposed Redwood National Park in Northern California, flowered again yesterday on Capitol Hill.

Legislation to establish a 90,000-acre park was introduced in both houses of Congress, and Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall said the department would delay seeking congressional action on a proposed 45,000-acre park.

The smaller park was recommended last year by the Johnson administration with the backing of California state officials, but Senate Interior Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., has delayed action at the request of new California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Udall told a news conference his agency had reached an agreement with former Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the 45,000-acre proposal but that Reagan "apparently chose to scuttle that agreement."

"He (Reagan) has taken a clearcut view that the Redwood park is not needed," Udall said. "I was not lead to expect great things from him conservation-wise, so I was not surprised."

Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif., who sponsored legislation for the 90,000-acre park in the House yesterday, criticized a plan reportedly endorsed by Reagan as a "compromise between little and nothing."

Thirty three House members joined Cohelan in introducing his bill. The Senate legislation was sponsored by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., and 15 co-sponsors.

The bills call for a park in the Redwood Creek area, rather than the Mill Creek site recommended by the Johnson and Brown administrations.

The Cohelan-Metcalf bill is similar to a measure they sponsored last year but differs in that it includes a provision for payment to counties in the park area for losses in tax revenues which would result from creation of the park.

Democrat Is Challenged In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The right of Democrat Alan Sieroty to sit in the Assembly was challenged today by Republican Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield of South Gate.

Wakefield filed a petition with the Assembly today contending that Sieorty did not meet residency requirements to run for the Assembly from the 59th district, in Beverly Hills, in the Nov. 7 general election.

He said that was a breach of the state constitution.

Sieroty took the floor to deny the charge. The petition was referred to the Rules Committee with no debate.

Wakefield said "he did not live in the district long enough." The constitution requires a year's residence in the district before the general election. Wakefield claimed Sieorty didn't take up residence in the district until last Feb. 21.

Medal Of Honor To Heroic Pilot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, with a big assist from President Johnson, pays tribute today to the first man from that service to win the Medal of Honor in the Vietnam war.

Maj. Bernard F. Fisher, 40, veteran of 200 Vietnam combat sorties, receives from Johnson the nation's highest award for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty."

Fisher, from Kuna, Idaho, flew through Communist fire and hazardous weather to rescue a crash-landed fellow pilot from a battle scarred air strip near Ashau in South Vietnam last March 10.

Out Of Hospital

Adele Loubert, 20, of 70½ Locust Avenue, Mill Valley, returned home from Marin General Hospital last night after recovering from an overdose of sleeping pills she reportedly consumed Tuesday.

Muir Beach Asks Report On Water

Muir Beach Communtiy Services District directors last night asked Marin Municipal Water District to prepare a detailed report on how their district could finance connection to the water district, board president Jack F. Harris reported.

In an engineering study last fall, the water district estimated cost of the connection at $223,541. Directors of the Muir Beach district expect to apply for a $200,000 state loan to finance the connection from Tamalpais Valley, but first must have the financing report and voter approval on annexation to the water district.

Several residents of the Muir Woods area indicated last night that they would like to be served by the new water line, Harris said.

Connecting Muir Beach to the water district would add $1.84 to the $1 tax rate of the community services district, directors estimated last week.

Directors last night also paid $2,500 of the $3,200 owed for a 50,000-gallon wooden water tank installed in November for $5,250.

McCarthy Bill Set To Thwart Check Thieves

I-J Speial Report

SACRAMENTO — Thieves who steal welfare and medically indigent checks from mailboxes will have a more difficult time cashing the checks, under a Senate bill introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

McCarthy introduced SB-74 at the request of Solano County welfare and health department officials, who reported an increasing number of thefts of welfare checks in the Vallejo area.

When a thief steals a check, he also gets an identification card enclosed with the check. He uses this identification card to cash the check.

McCarthy's bill would simply change the wording on the identification card, adding: "Not for check cashing purposes."

Condition Is Fair

Mrs. Alice Glassford, 85, of 140 Pine Street, San Anselmo, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital, suffering from pneumonia. Mrs. Glassford was taken to the hospital by ambulance yesterday, shortly after noon, after San Anselmo firemen administered resuscitation at her home.

Romney Favors An Open Party

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney said today that although Republicans have generally recognized that splinter groups "are not a healthy thing for the party," he is in favor of "an open party."

Romney made the comment at a news conference held while organizers for the United Republicans of America were holding a conference of their own in another part of the Capitol Building.

In an engineering study last fall, the water district estimated cost of the connection at $223,541. Directors of the Muir Beach district expect to apply for a $200,000 state loan to finance the connection from Tamalpais Valley, but first must have the financing report and voter approval on annexation to the water district.

Several residents of the Muir Woods area indicated last night that they would like to be served by the new water line, Harris said.

Connecting Muir Beach to the water district would add $1.84 to the $1 tax rate of the community services district, directors estimated last week.

Directors last night also paid $2,500 of the $3,200 owed for a 50,000-gallon wooden water tank installed in November for $5,250.

McCarthy Bill Set To Thwart Check Thieves

I-J Speial Report

SACRAMENTO — Thieves who steal welfare and medically indigent checks from mailboxes will have a more difficult time cashing the checks, under a Senate bill introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

McCarthy introduced SB-74 at the request of Solano County welfare and health department officials, who reported an increasing number of thefts of welfare checks in the Vallejo area.

When a thief steals a check, he also gets an identification card enclosed with the check. He uses this identification card to cash the check.

McCarthy's bill would simply change the wording on the identification card, adding: "Not for check cashing purposes."

Condition Is Fair

Mrs. Alice Glassford, 85, of 140 Pine Street, San Anselmo, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital, suffering from pneumonia. Mrs. Glassford was taken to the hospital by ambulance yesterday, shortly after noon, after San Anselmo firemen administered resuscitation at her home.

Puerto Suello Chain Crash Hits Traffic

Three accidents, fog, and heavy commute traffic clogged Highway 101 for more than an hour on Puerto Suello Hill last evening. One driver was injured when four cars collided about 5:27 p.m. in the southbound lanes.

California highway patrol said cars driven by Salvator John Priolo, 36, of 515 Pinewood Drive, San Rafael; Airman Clarence Edward Stone Jr., 28, of 1051 Turner Drive, Novato, and Shamus Joseph O'Connell, 19, of 44 San Gabriel Drive, Fairfax, stopped in slow moving traffic. A fourth car, driven by Diane Marie Bellefeuille, 19, of 1 Tamal Road, Forest Knolls, hit the rear of O'Connell's car, causing the chain reaction collision.

Miss Bellefeuille was treated at Kaiser Terra Linda Valley hospital for a bruised nose.

Two other non-injury accidents followed in the tie-up.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney said today that although Republicans have generally recognized that splinter groups "are not a healthy thing for the party," he is in favor of "an open party."

Romney made the comment at a news conference held while organizers for the United Republicans of America were holding a conference of their own in another part of the Capitol Building.

Verdict Of Insanity In Drownings

SKOWHEGAN, Maine (AP) — A verdict of innocent by reason of insanity has acquitted Constance Fisher of murder charges brought for the bathtub drownings of her second three children in a repetition of the way her first three children died 12 years ago.

Mrs. Fisher, 38, was ruled insane after the first three children died, but was discharged from a mental hosptal five years later as cured.

A Superior Court jury of nine men and three women deliberated only 40 minutes yesterday before returning their verdict.

Justice Albert Knudsen ordered the Fairfield housewife turned over to the Maine commissioner of health and corrections. She was expected to be committed to the Augusta State Hospital, where she had been since the incident last June.

Her commitment this time was a criminal proceeding, rather than a civil matter as it was in 1954.

The second three children, about the same ages as the first three when they died, were Nathalie, 9 months, Kathleen, 6, and Michael, 4.

The final witness, Dr. Walter Rohm, a psychiatrist at Augusta State Hospital, testified that Mrs. Fisher suffered from a mental disease characterized by "desperate gloom" and thus had a "basic feeling of hopelessness, despair and pessimism."

Good housekeeping in the textile industry has reduced its number of fires from a level about twice that of all industry 25 years ago to half that of all industry today.

Principal Favors Joint Rec Plan

Robert Gaw, principal of Del Mar School, will propose an all-year joint recreation program by Reed School District and the City of Tiburon at a meeting in city hall at 8 p.m. today of the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission.

"We have the equipment, space and facilities, and the city has a parks and recreation commission which could be involved in the program," Gaw said yesterday.

Commissioners will also discuss a resolution restating their ideas on uses of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property since its abandonment by the railroad was approved. Discussion of landscaping for Tiburon Boulevard is also on the agenda.

'THERE'S A TIME TO BE DEAD'

Milton Paul Rougeau Jr., 23, a Palo Alto warehouseman, climbed onto a cable near the south tower of the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday. When bridge workers saw him there at 2:40 p.m., three of them, Buck Hayman, Richard Seward and Charles Vaughn, went up the cable after him. Rougeau climbed higher, then suddenly lay down on the cable. As the three grabbed him and began to work their way back to safety, he struggled and cried: "There's a time to be dead!" Tightening Is Ordered In Medi-Cal Program

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A "tightening-up" of California's own medical care program, designed to save $30 million in state and federal funds, was announced by the Reagan administration today.

The state's $1 billion welfare program faces other reductions under Gov. Reagan, but most of the cuts were expected to come in administration rather than benefits for the needy.

Williams said the planned changes in the Medi-Cal program would save $30 million by the end of June, but that quality of medical services would not suffer. The tightening-up, he said, was a legal necessity caused by legislative limits on the program.

The cost-cutting steps would include tighter control over admissions to nursing and convalescent homes and revision of methods of paying doctors, drug bills and clinics.

Williams said he has asked doctors and dentists to help save money for the Medi-Cal program, including deferrment of "costly elective procedures" where possible and by "exercising extra vigilance in admitting patients to long-term care facilities."

Referring to the welfare program as a whole, Williams and Assemblyman John Veneman, R-Modesto, said there would be no flat 10 per cent cutback in the next fiscal year's budget. Veneman headed a Reagan task force on welfare.

Of the state's 1.1 million on welfare last fall, more than 700,000 were in the families with needy children category.

"I don't think the legislature would be receptive to cutting categorical aid," added Williams, one of the governor's closest advisors on welfare along with Lt. Gov. Robert Finch.

Actually, although the state's welfare aid is in the $1 billion class, the state puts up less than half the money—$320 million directly. The counties put up another $150 million and the federal government picks up half of the entire tab.

Novato Doctor Survives In Fatal Crash

A Sacramento obstetrician was killed yesterday when a car driven by a Novato doctor hit a boulder on Interstate Highway 80 near Donner Lake.

The driver, Dr. Wayne Campbell, 38, a general practitioner of 1615 Hill Road, escaped with minor injury and was back at work today.

United zpress International reported from Truckee that Dr. Sidney Schweitzer, 41, of Sacramento was killed when the car hit a boulder that had rolled into the eastbound lane of the highway. The vehicle plunged 250 feet down an embankment.

Dr. Campbell's wife suffered fractures of bones in the right arm and left foot and was undergoing surgery today at Novato General Hospital.

Dr. Schweitzer's wife, Dorothy, 37, suffered multiple facial fractures and was taken to a Sacramento hospital.

Dr. Campbell said he was on the inside eastbound lane about 10 miles west of Truckee when the car hit the boulder and went over the cliff. He said it turned over once or twice. Dr. Schweitzer was sitting beside the driver in the front seat.

Face molds of wax and other materials are recorded in early Hindu and Chinese history.

Rougeau climbed higher, then suddenly lay down on the cable. As the three grabbed him and began to work their way back to safety, he struggled and cried: "There's a time to be dead!" The California Highway Patrol took the young man to San Francisco General Hospital for observation. His time had not come. (AP Wirephoto)

Tightening Is Ordered In Medi-Cal Program

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A "tightening-up" of California's own medical care program, designed to save $30 million in state and federal funds, was announced by the Reagan administration today.

The state's $1 billion welfare program faces other reductions under Gov. Reagan, but most of the cuts were expected to come in administration rather than benefits for the needy.

Williams said the planned changes in the Medi-Cal program would save $30 million by the end of June, but that quality of medical services would not suffer. The tightening-up, he said, was a legal necessity caused by legislative limits on the program.

The cost-cutting steps would include tighter control over admissions to nursing and convalescent homes and revision of methods of paying doctors, drug bills and clinics.

Williams said he has asked doctors and dentists to help save money for the Medi-Cal program, including deferrment of "costly elective procedures" where possible and by "exercising extra vigilance in admitting patients to long-term care facilities."

Referring to the welfare program as a whole, Williams and Assemblyman John Veneman, R-Modesto, said there would be no flat 10 per cent cutback in the next fiscal year's budget. Veneman headed a Reagan task force on welfare.

Of the state's 1.1 million on welfare last fall, more than 700,000 were in the families with needy children category.

"I don't think the legislature would be receptive to cutting categorical aid," added Williams, one of the governor's closest advisors on welfare along with Lt. Gov. Robert Finch.

Actually, although the state's welfare aid is in the $1 billion class, the state puts up less than half the money—$320 million directly. The counties put up another $150 million and the federal government picks up half of the entire tab.

The Golden Rule in various forms appears in eight of the world's major religions.

Foundation Has New Officers

Mrs. Harold Rosenblum has been elected as president of the Sausalito Foundation for 1967.

Also elected at the annual membership meeting at Sausalito Woman's Club were Dr. Edward E. Shev, vice president; Donald J. Duncan Jr., secretary, and George Folsom, treasurer.

Mrs. R. J. Krajeski, Mrs. Fred McFarland, Edward Davis, Neil Davis and Rev. John Thornton were named to fill vacancies on the board of trustees.

The foundation is for preservation of scenic beauty and development of recreation in Sausalito. Among its projects have been purchase of underwater lots on the waterfront and restoration of the sea lion statue.

In Fair Condition

A 75-year-old San Francisco woman was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering a possible heart attack last night at the Glad Hand Restaurant in Sausalito. Sausalito fire department ambulance was called at 9:44 p.m. when Mrs. Amy P. Seid fainted at the restaurant.

Novato Doctor Survives In Fatal Crash

A Sacramento obstetrician was killed yesterday when a car driven by a Novato doctor hit a boulder on Interstate Highway 80 near Donner Lake.

The driver, Dr. Wayne Campbell, 38, a general practitioner of 1615 Hill Road, escaped with minor injury and was back at work today.

United zpress International reported from Truckee that Dr. Sidney Schweitzer, 41, of Sacramento was killed when the car hit a boulder that had rolled into the eastbound lane of the highway. The vehicle plunged 250 feet down an embankment.

Dr. Campbell's wife suffered fractures of bones in the right arm and left foot and was undergoing surgery today at Novato General Hospital.

Dr. Schweitzer's wife, Dorothy, 37, suffered multiple facial fractures and was taken to a Sacramento hospital.

Dr. Campbell said he was on the inside eastbound lane about 10 miles west of Truckee when the car hit the boulder and went over the cliff. He said it turned over once or twice. Dr. Schweitzer was sitting beside the driver in the front seat.

Face molds of wax and other materials are recorded in early Hindu and Chinese history.

Fate Of San Rafael's Top Four Officials On Ballot

ager, except the city attorney if he were appointed.

Barbier, a member of the fire commission, said this would create conflict with that commission. "What if the fire commission ordered the fire chief to do something and the city manager said 'no'? Then what's the use of a fire commission?" he asked.

The council also approved a charter revision that will give the council 60 days to fill vacancies in its own membership between elections, with a special election required if the 60 days expire without an appointment. The charter now gives the council 20 days to fill vacancies, after which the appointive power passes to the board of education.

There will be no charter revision proposal on the ballot to change the present method whereby the city council fills vacancies on the board of education between elections.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini sought to have the school board appointment issue placed on the ballot, but was defeated by a 4-1 vote.

He contended that counclimen do not represent the residents of the school district who live outside the city and don't know what's happening in school matters.

Baar said he felt the council has done a good job in appointing members to the board of education.

Bettini also lost his bid to include a revision extending the mayor's term from two to four years. The vote rejecting this was also 4-1.

Proposed charter revisions approved for the ballot include:

1. A section on granting franchises that would eliminate the ban against exclusive franchises.

2. Changing the municipal election date to the third Tuesday of April of each odd- numbered year, and operating under general law procedures for elections, initiative, referendum and recall.

3. Elimination of the fire chief as a member of the fire commission, and provisions that one member of the park and recreation commission and one member of the library board may be city councilmen.

4. Elimination of obsolete sections of the charter relating to police, court, health department, advertising, and hours of labor.

5. Boosting the $1,500 maximum on city purchases that can be made without formal bidding to $2,500.

6. Removing the minimum four-cent tax rate for parks, setting the term for a park and recreation commission at four years (there is no term set now), and authorizing no expenditure by the park and recreation commission as final until approved by the council.

7. Removing the minimum .7 of a mill tax rate for the library, providing that the library board cannot expend funds for purchase, lease or rental of real property until final approval by the council, and reducing the residence requirement to be come a library trustee from five to three years.

8. Removing the tax limitation, now 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation, for pension or retirement plans.

Bettini commended the committee for doing an ontstanding job and relieved it of further duty. Members of the committee were Roy M. Michaels, chairman, John D. LaNoue, Leon Sigard, Gerald H. Purcell, and Thomas P. Boyd.

The council adjourned until 5:30 p. m. Jan. 30, when it will review the proposed ballot measures in their final form. It also will decide whether each proposal will be placed on the ballot individually, or whether technical changes will be put together on one ballot and significant changes as individual measures.

The council also passed a resoultion authorizing the use of votamatic voting devices in the municipal election.

Committee member Boyd was absent.

PRISON

go to the football field in the lower yard.

For more than three hours, neither group would comply. Associate Warden James W. L. Park said that it may have been a case of neither side being willing to "lose face." He said he believed "85 to 90 per cent" of the men involved were "scared to death" about what was happening but would not cooperate with officials for fear of reprisals by other inmates.

SHIVERED IN FOG

Eventually, however, the white inmates were herded by guards, tear gas and gunfire to the football field, where they were all assembled by 4 p.m., shivering in their dungarees and light thirts in the cold, damp fog.

Meanwhile the Negroes were moved into the prison's east block, where they were locked temporarily in cells until they could be taken in small numbers to their regular cells.

Though the potential racial war was de-fused with separation of the two groups, there was sporadic fire as late as 7:30 p.m. as warning shots were fired when prisoners on the football field attempted to slip away to other parts of the prison or to set fires to warm themselves.

It was 9:30 before all were back in their cells, taken from the field in groups of 25.

Moving them was delayed as a massive effort was underway to return to their cells the hundreds of inmates who had been held at their job stations when the trouble broke out.

Parks said the situation was "an extremely dangerous one." He credited the guards who kept the two factions at bay with "getting on top of it real fast."

All of the prisoners were confined to their cells today except a few required to keep essential services operating, such as heating and electrical plant and kitchen facilities.

The inmates were served sandwiches last night after the prison settled down to tense and edgy order.

This continued to be their fare today, and will until sufficient quiet prevails to permit return to the use of the mess halls, according to Keith Rayball, educational supervisor. There is no way of serving hot meals in the cells, he noted, but it may be possible shortly to send men in small groups of 50 or 100 to the mess hall.

Yesterday's riot was thought to be an outgrowth of violence that began last Saturday when several convicts, both white and Negro, were fired from jobs in the food department.

On Monday, Black Muslims were reported organizing a general protest strike, to which about 800 inmates responded rather than face reprisals. It was then that Robert Holderman, 20-year-old forger from San Francisco, defied the strike and was fatally stabbed.

"A meticulous investigation into that murder and a search for a hard core hoodlum element" has been underway since Monday, Hayball said.

He said there are about 100 Black Muslims at the prison.

Parks said the prison officials now have the huge and tedious task of digging out the troublemakers and getting at the cause of the riot.

Panama Lecture Next Wednesday

The annual meeting of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum will be next Wednesday and was not scheduled for last night as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

David Cavagnaro, an assistant at the California Academy of Science, will give an illustrated talk on "Adventure in Panama" at the meeting planned for 8 p. m. in the board of supervisors chambers at Marin County Civic Center.

Trustees will be elected. Also on the agenda is the presentation of awards for outstanding service to the museum during 1966.

Celler Will Direct House Powell Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Emanuel Celler, senior member of the House, and eight other Congressmen were named today to judge whether Adam Clayton Powell should serve in the 90th Congress.

The House barred Powell from taking his seat Jan. 10 after colleagues charged him with defying New York Courts and abusing the chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee.

One Negro was appointed to the panel. He is Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., a 37-year-old lawyer who is starting his second term in Congress.

Other Democrats included Reps. James Corman of California, Claude Pepper, of Florida, and Andrew Jacobs Jr. of Indiana.

House GOP leader Gerald Ford, of Michigan, selected as Republican members Reps. Arch Moore of West Virginia, Charles Teague of California, Clark MacGregor of Minnesota and Vernon Thomson of Wisconsin.

"GOD ...not chance"

The more deeply you understand the power and love of God, the less you believe in chance. There's a law of Spirit much greater than the law of averages, and those who discover it, and live by it, will help to light the world's way out of chaos. Trustee Cites New Brown Act Policy

If someone wants to be considered for appointment to a committee vacancy on the Mill Valley School District Board, he or she "must be willing to be discussed openly or rejected" in public.

That's the decision of the board in the wake of recent controversy over closed sessions, board president William L. Clark announced today.

Speaking on radio station KTIM's Sounding Board," Dr. Clark said board members did not, and still do not, consider they violated the Ralph M. Brown Act by holding a closed meeting Jan. 4 to hire an architect.

'HAVE TO MOVE'

"I submit that no political body anywhere is going to consider openly the selection of a few citizens from a large list, discussing the reasons for rejecting some people. Or if they do, the whole board will have to move out of town the next day," said Dr. Clark.

In answer to a listener's question as to how school boards could justify closed session appointments to vacancies on school boards — which are elective offices — Dr. Clark said:

"At the time we felt this was the proper way to do it. We have since considered the problem, decided this is not a very good way to appoint replacements, and in future appointments to board vacancies will be considered openly."

Edward M mills, co-editor and publisher of the Mill Valley Record, asked if Joseph E. Brodowitz had been appointed to the board in closed session. Dr. Clark said consideration had been secret, appointment had been public.

STORER PLEASED

Thomas T. Storer, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, applauded Dr. Clark's announcement. "I think the thrust is right. The people have the right to elect this man or woman to the board, and if a vacancy occurs between elections they should certainly be in on it," he said.

Storer said the Brown Act needs clarification. But, he said, "a lot of people who argue for secret meetings with personnel when it might not involve complaints use the efficiency argument, citing private business efficiency. Government is not private business. It is the people's business. The boards and commissions exist to aid in the conduct of the people's business."

The supervisor said he will suggest a blue ribbon committee of citizens be appointed to go into the matter.

"In Marin we have top people in business. Enough of them would be interested to serve on such a committee to go into personnel matters and improve efficiency in local government," said Storer.

County Counsel Douglas J Maloney called the state legislature "sanctimonious" for making the Brown Act apply to local government but not the state agencies. He said the act is "very definitely needed. Many public agencies used to meet in private in the past and decide everything and have an open meeting later for just half an hour. The problem is the whole concept has to be expanded to other areas of government."

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales called for judicial and legislative interpretation of phrases in the act.

"What's a meeting?" he asked. "What's action?" To his knowledge, said Bales, no prosecution under the criminal provision of the act, which makes violation a misdemeanor, has ever been taken in California.

Saying the open meeting law is necessary, Bales said: "Open meetings tend to reduce error, broaden citizen participation in government, give maximum insurance against wrong doing, protect the honest legislator, and afford more accurate reporting by news media.

"It's a known fact that the results of closed meetings drift out anyway."

Publisher Mills said the Brown Act seems to come up "with strong and responsible boards, who want good looking facades." He cited a case in 1936 when the Mill Valley City Council fired a city manager in Franklin Hospital. "It was a very fine responsible council, but it's still not the way to do it. They say they don't want to be slugging somebody in the open, or we don't want to fire this man in front of other people. But it still isn't right because you may have a weak and irresponsible board. You let them have secret sessions and you're in deep trouble."

"Freedom of the Press is a corny phrase, but it's still the best we have."

Chairmanship Move Tried By McAteer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. J Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco, resigned from the influential Senate Rules Committee today and the upper house unanimously elected a freshman Southern California Democrat to replace him.

McAteer said he was giving up the Rules Committee poet "to get a committee chairmanship" and "to give Los Angeles representation on Rules."

McAteer's replacement is Sen. Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach, a former assemblyman elected to the upper house last fall. Kennick joins Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, as the second Southern Californian on the five-man Rules Committee.

McAteer declined to say whether he was seeking chairmanship of another influential group, the Governmental Efficiency Committee. He has served on that committee six of the eight years he's been in the Senate.

According to Senate tradition, a member of the Rules Committee cannot serve as chairman of another committee.

Belvedere Blackout

A power line fell in Belvedere yesterday in front of the police station at 83 Beach Road, cutting electricity in 50 homes in the area from 11:05 to 11:40 p.m., according to Z. Peter Malcon, district electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Prosecution Rests; Judge Denies Acquittal For Baker

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Federal Judge Oliver Gasch denied today defense motions for acquittal of Bobby Baker on all charges, which include income tax evasion and conspiracy.

The ruling came after the government had rested its case in the trial of the former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

The defense then prepared to summon witnesses to testify in Baker's behalf.

U.S. Attorney William Bittman wound up his prosecution with testimony from Glen D. Harrison, an Internal Revenue Service agent from Dallas. He testified in support of two counts charging the former secretary to Senate Democrats with evading $23,090.97 in federal income taxes in 1961-62.

Baker's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, following up with cross-examination and preparing to swing into the defense of the case, drew acknowledgement from Harrison that Baker had overreported the amount of taxes he owed in 1962.

Harrison agreed with Williams that Baker had paid $225 in self-employed Social Security tax which he did not need to do, and failed to claim an investment credit which would have allowed him another $8,700 in income without increasing his tax liability.

Harrison also conceded he was basing his opinion that Baker had evaded more than $20,000 in 1962 taxes entirely on the assumption that the defendant had kept nearly $100,000 which three West Coast saving and loan officials said they gave Baker in the belief the money would go for Senate campaign expenses.

Fate Of San Rafael's Top Four Officials On Ballot

ager, except the city attorney if he were appointed.

Barbier, a member of the fire commission, said this would create conflict with that commission. "What if the fire commission ordered the fire chief to do something and the city manager said 'no'? Then what's the use of a fire commission?" he asked.

The council also approved a charter revision that will give the council 60 days to fill vacancies in its own membership between elections, with a special election required if the 60 days expire without an appointment. The charter now gives the council 20 days to fill vacancies, after which the appointive power passes to the board of education.

There will be no charter revision proposal on the ballot to change the present method whereby the city council fills vacancies on the board of education between elections.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini sought to have the school board appointment issue placed on the ballot, but was defeated by a 4-1 vote.

He contended that counclimen do not represent the residents of the school district who live outside the city and don't know what's happening in school matters.

Baar said he felt the council has done a good job in appointing members to the board of education.

Bettini also lost his bid to include a revision extending the mayor's term from two to four years. The vote rejecting this was also 4-1.

Proposed charter revisions approved for the ballot include:

1. A section on granting franchises that would eliminate the ban against exclusive franchises.

2. Changing the municipal election date to the third Tuesday of April of each odd- numbered year, and operating under general law procedures for elections, initiative, referendum and recall.

3. Elimination of the fire chief as a member of the fire commission, and provisions that one member of the park and recreation commission and one member of the library board may be city councilmen.

4. Elimination of obsolete sections of the charter relating to police, court, health department, advertising, and hours of labor.

5. Boosting the $1,500 maximum on city purchases that can be made without formal bidding to $2,500.

6. Removing the minimum four-cent tax rate for parks, setting the term for a park and recreation commission at four years (there is no term set now), and authorizing no expenditure by the park and recreation commission as final until approved by the council.

7. Removing the minimum .7 of a mill tax rate for the library, providing that the library board cannot expend funds for purchase, lease or rental of real property until final approval by the council, and reducing the residence requirement to be come a library trustee from five to three years.

8. Removing the tax limitation, now 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation, for pension or retirement plans.

Bettini commended the committee for doing an ontstanding job and relieved it of further duty. Members of the committee were Roy M. Michaels, chairman, John D. LaNoue, Leon Sigard, Gerald H. Purcell, and Thomas P. Boyd.

The council adjourned until 5:30 p. m. Jan. 30, when it will review the proposed ballot measures in their final form. It also will decide whether each proposal will be placed on the ballot individually, or whether technical changes will be put together on one ballot and significant changes as individual measures.

The council also passed a resoultion authorizing the use of votamatic voting devices in the municipal election.

Committee member Boyd was absent.

Celler Will Direct House Powell Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Emanuel Celler, senior member of the House, and eight other Congressmen were named today to judge whether Adam Clayton Powell should serve in the 90th Congress.

The House barred Powell from taking his seat Jan. 10 after colleagues charged him with defying New York Courts and abusing the chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee.

One Negro was appointed to the panel. He is Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., a 37-year-old lawyer who is starting his second term in Congress.

Other Democrats included Reps. James Corman of California, Claude Pepper, of Florida, and Andrew Jacobs Jr. of Indiana.

PRISON

go to the football field in the lower yard.

For more than three hours, neither group would comply. Associate Warden James W. L. Park said that it may have been a case of neither side being willing to "lose face." He said he believed "85 to 90 per cent" of the men involved were "scared to death" about what was happening but would not cooperate with officials for fear of reprisals by other inmates.

SHIVERED IN FOG

Eventually, however, the white inmates were herded by guards, tear gas and gunfire to the football field, where they were all assembled by 4 p.m., shivering in their dungarees and light thirts in the cold, damp fog.

Meanwhile the Negroes were moved into the prison's east block, where they were locked temporarily in cells until they could be taken in small numbers to their regular cells.

Though the potential racial war was de-fused with separation of the two groups, there was sporadic fire as late as 7:30 p.m. as warning shots were fired when prisoners on the football field attempted to slip away to other parts of the prison or to set fires to warm themselves.

It was 9:30 before all were back in their cells, taken from the field in groups of 25.

Moving them was delayed as a massive effort was underway to return to their cells the hundreds of inmates who had been held at their job stations when the trouble broke out.

Parks said the situation was "an extremely dangerous one." He credited the guards who kept the two factions at bay with "getting on top of it real fast."

All of the prisoners were confined to their cells today except a few required to keep essential services operating, such as heating and electrical plant and kitchen facilities.

The inmates were served sandwiches last night after the prison settled down to tense and edgy order.

This continued to be their fare today, and will until sufficient quiet prevails to permit return to the use of the mess halls, according to Keith Rayball, educational supervisor. There is no way of serving hot meals in the cells, he noted, but it may be possible shortly to send men in small groups of 50 or 100 to the mess hall.

Yesterday's riot was thought to be an outgrowth of violence that began last Saturday when several convicts, both white and Negro, were fired from jobs in the food department.

On Monday, Black Muslims were reported organizing a general protest strike, to which about 800 inmates responded rather than face reprisals. It was then that Robert Holderman, 20-year-old forger from San Francisco, defied the strike and was fatally stabbed.

"A meticulous investigation into that murder and a search for a hard core hoodlum element" has been underway since Monday, Hayball said.

He said there are about 100 Black Muslims at the prison.

Parks said the prison officials now have the huge and tedious task of digging out the troublemakers and getting at the cause of the riot.

Hale Champion Takes Post As Consultant At Harvard

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Hale Champion, former Gov. Edmund G. Brown's closest adviser, will take a writing and consulting position at Harvard University for one year beginning Feb. 6.

Champion, 44, state finance director until his resignation Jan. 2, will be on the staff of the Kennedy School of Government. He will specialize in the field of local, state and federal relations, Champion said.

Brown often referred to Champion as his "good right arm." Champion worked in the Democratic administration first as Brown's press secretary, then as executive secretary and then as finance director, at a salary of $30,319 a year.

Champion said he would return to California as soon as the year was up. He has made plans for then, but would not divulge them.

Champion said he does not plan to be active during the 1968 election campaign in any position such as a campaign manager. He has been Brown's top political strategist.

Mrs. Champion said she will resign her job as a member of the Sacramento City Board of Education so she and their children could be with Champion during his term at Harvard.

The Champions and their baby girl were kidnaped in the summer of 1965 by two fugitives from Oregon and later were released near Tonopah, Nev.

Student Recruiter

Admission requirements and the curriculum of University of San Francisco will be outlined by Dr. Augustine P. Donoghue, university director of admissions, at 10:45 a.m. tomorrow at Three-R High School, San Rafael, and afterwards at San Rafael Military Academy.

Students Stone U.S. Consulate

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Student demonstrators stoned the U.S. consulate and other American offices in the Bolivian city of Cochabamba last night. There were no reports of injuries, the government said today.

In reporting the attack, a government statement said several opposition political leaders were arrested and it would compensate the U.S. Embassy for any damage.

Employees' Ethics Code Is Settled

The Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday had an embarrassment of ethics, and discussed the problem at length before deciding on an ethical way to handle it.

The commission, charged by the board of supervisors with drawing a code of ethics to be adopted as a guideline for employee conduct, had a proposal from its subcommittee, composed of commissioners Bella H. Aaron and Victor P. Reed, and another from the Marin County Employees Assn.

Mrs. Aaron told the commission yesterday that she and Reed had met with Frederick Ward, manager of the association, to discuss the matter.

"I thought we were agreed," she said.

But Ward sent a separate code, adopted by the association at its annual membership meeting last Saturday.

The association list, a decalogue of dos and don'ts, Mrs. Aaron argued, was not much different than the shorter creed that she composed.

The commission, mindful that the association does not represent all employees, sent the Reed-Aaron creed on to the board and decreed that the association list was a fine thing for it.

Neither list was read, but the Reed-Aaron code includes a long paragraph banning acceptance of gratuities and applies to officers, employees and officials of the county.

The association decalogue says nothing about gratuities and establishes the ethic for employees only, not mentioning officials and officers. Otherwise, though worded differently, the creeds were much the same.

The commission referred a letter from Attorney Theodore C. Lachet, questioning the right of law officers to quiestion school pupils without parental consent, to the county counsel's office for an opinion.

Chicago, German Papers Sued In JFK Story Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Look magazine is seeking damages in excess of $200,000 from the Chicago Daily News in a court suit charging the newspaper with unfair competition and infringement of copyright in publishing excerpts of the book, "The Death of a President."

Look filed separate lawsuits yesterday against the Chicago Daily News, in U.S. District Court in Chicago, and the German magazine Stern, in Hamburg, Germany, asking for damages and an injunction against both publications over the serialization of the book.

Look claimed that it had embargoed until Jan. 10 its press release detailing some aspects of the first installment of the book and that the Chicago Daily News prematurely published on Jan. 7 an "excessive amount of material" from the first installment.

Stern was accused in the suit of breach of contract.

Trustee Cites New Brown Act Policy

If someone wants to be considered for appointment to a committee vacancy on the Mill Valley School District Board, he or she "must be willing to be discussed openly or rejected" in public.

That's the decision of the board in the wake of recent controversy over closed sessions, board president William L. Clark announced today.

Speaking on radio station KTIM's Sounding Board," Dr. Clark said board members did not, and still do not, consider they violated the Ralph M. Brown Act by holding a closed meeting Jan. 4 to hire an architect.

'HAVE TO MOVE'

"I submit that no political body anywhere is going to consider openly the selection of a few citizens from a large list, discussing the reasons for rejecting some people. Or if they do, the whole board will have to move out of town the next day," said Dr. Clark.

In answer to a listener's question as to how school boards could justify closed session appointments to vacancies on school boards — which are elective offices — Dr. Clark said:

"At the time we felt this was the proper way to do it. We have since considered the problem, decided this is not a very good way to appoint replacements, and in future appointments to board vacancies will be considered openly."

Edward M mills, co-editor and publisher of the Mill Valley Record, asked if Joseph E. Bodowitz had been appointed to the board in closed session. Dr. Clark said consideration had been secret, appointment had been public.

STORER PLEASED

Thomas T. Storer, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, applauded Dr. Clark's announcement. "I think the thrust is right. The people have the right to elect this man or woman to the board, and if a vacancy occurs between elections they should certainly be in on it," he said.

Storer said the Brown Act needs clarification. But, he said, a lot of people who argue for secret meetings with personnel when it might not involve complaints use the efficiency argument, citing private business efficiency. Government is not private business. It is the people's business. The boards and commissions exist to aid in the conduct of the people's business."

The supervisor said he will suggest a blue ribbon committee of citizens be appointed to go into the matter.

"In Marin we have top people in business. Enough of them would be interested to serve on such a committee to go into personnel matters and improve efficiency in local government," said Storer.

County Counsel Douglas J Maloney called the state legislature "sanctimonious" for making the Brown Act apply to local government but not the state agencies. He said the act is "very definitely needed. Many public agencies used to meet in private in the past and decide everything and have an open meeting later for just half an hour. The problem is the whole concept has to be expanded to other areas of government."

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales called for judicial and legislative interpretation of phrases in the act.

"What's a meeting?" he asked. "What's action?" To his knowledge, said Bales, no prosecution under the criminal provision of the act, which makes violation a misdemeanor, has ever been taken in California.

Saying the open meeting law is necessary, Bales said: "Open meetings tend to reduce error, broaden citizen participation in government, give maximum insurance against wrong doing, protect the honest legislator, and afford more accurate reporting by news media.

"It's a known fact that the results of closed meetings drift out anyway."

Publisher Mills said the Brown Act seems to come up "with strong and responsible boards, who want good looking facades." He cited a case in 1936 when the Mill Valley City Council fired a city manager in Franklin Hospital. "It was a very fine responsible council, but it's still not the way to do it. They say they don't want to be slugging somebody in the open, or we don't want to fire this man in front of other people.But it still isn't right because you may have a weak and irresponsible board. You let them have secret sessions and you're in deep trouble."

"Freedom of the Press is a corny phrase, but it's still the best we have."

Chairmanship Move Tried By McAteer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. J Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco, resigned from the influential Senate Rules Committee today and the upper house unanimously elected a freshman Southern California Democrat to replace him.

McAteer said he was giving up the Rules Committee poet "to get a committee chairmanship" and "to give Los Angeles representation on Rules."

McAteer's replacement is Sen. Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach, a former assemblyman elected to the upper house last fall. Kennick joins Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, as the second Southern Californian on the five-man Rules Committee.

McAteer declined to say whether he was seeking chairmanship of another influential group, the Governmental Efficiency Committee. He has served on that committee six of the eight years he's been in the Senate.

According to Senate tradition, a member of the Rules Committee cannot serve as chairman of another committee.

Belvedere Blackout

A power line fell in Belvedere yesterday in front of the police station at 83 Beach Road, cutting electricity in 50 homes in the area from 11:05 to 11:40 p.m., according to Z. Peter Malcon, district electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Prosecution Rests; Judge Denies Acquittal For Baker

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Federal Judge Oliver Gasch denied today defense motions for acquittal of Bobby Baker on all charges, which include income tax evasion and conspiracy.

The ruling came after the government had rested its case in the trial of the former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

The defense then prepared to summon witnesses to testify in Baker's behalf.

U.S. Attorney William Bittman wound up his prosecution with testimony from Glen D. Harrison, an Internal Revenue Service agent from Dallas. He testified in support of two counts charging the former secretary to Senate Democrats with evading $23,090.97 in federal income taxes in 1961-62.

Baker's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, following up with cross-examination and preparing to swing into the defense of the case, drew acknowledgement from Harrison that Baker had overreported the amount of taxes he owed in 1962.

Harrison agreed with Williams that Baker had paid $225 in self-employed Social Security tax which he did not need to do, and failed to claim an investment credit which would have allowed him another $8,700 in income without increasing his tax liability.

Harrison also conceded he was basing his opinion that Baker had evaded more than $20,000 in 1962 taxes entirely on the assumption that the defendant had kept nearly $100,000 which three West Coast saving and loan officials said they gave Baker in the belief the money would go for Senate campaign expenses.

Insurance Firms Leave County Minus Policies

Government agencies can no longer purchase insurance to protect against inverse condemnation losses.

Marin County supervisors discovered this when they approved a collection of new policies recommended by the Independent Insurance Agents Assn. of Marin.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the insurance companies have left the field following a recent superior court ruling in Los Angeles, where property owners won a $7 million verdict from the county. This was a case where a road slipped down onto homes. The plaintiffs did not have to prove any public negligence, only that their property was being used by the public (though slipped) facility without any payment.

Maloney said insurance companies also will not cover losses possible under the 1964 Civil Rights Act. There are suits by San Quentin inmates totalling nearly $1 million against Marin officials, including one for $500,000 against Maloney himself. The county counsel recommended against admission of suit to court and the inmate brought suit charging that Maloney had violated his civil rights.

In such suits, Maloney said, it is the cost of defense that usually causes the biggest public loss, not awards to the plaintiffs.

Since the law is so new, insurance companies have not entered the field and the county must provide its own defense.

The new insurance program approved by the board consolidates some liability policies, increases the deduction level on some coverages, and extends coverage into areas previously uninsured.

New areas of coverage include liability for errors or ommissions by any county employee.

Rerouting Of Sierra Freeway Is Postponed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A decision on the controversial proposed rerouting of the Junipero Serra Freeway on the San Francisco peninsula has been postponed by the State Highway Commission for a month.

The commission, in its meeting here yesterday, said it wanted to give its new members time to familiarize themselves with the proposal.

Dana Pengilly, highways engineer, said the first proposed route of 4.5 miles along the Upper Crystal Springs Reservoir would cost $6.8 million compared to a $21.9 million cost for the 5.2 mile revised route.

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission and the city water district favor the revised route, saying the other would damage watershed.

SOCIETY SPEAKER — James Wolson, Mountain View seed company executive who attended beautification conferences on the state and national level, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow before the Garden Society of Marin in the chemistry building, College of Marin. His topic will be "Growing Your Own."

Hale Champion Takes Post As Consultant At Harvard

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Hale Champion, former Gov. Edmund G. Brown's closest adviser, will take a writing and consulting position at Harvard University for one year beginning Feb. 6.

Champion, 44, state finance director until his resignation Jan. 2, will be on the staff of the Kennedy School of Government. He will specialize in the field of local, state and federal relations, Champion said.

Brown often referred to Champion as his "good right arm." Champion worked in the Democratic administration first as Brown's press secretary, then as executive secretary and then as finance director, at a salary of $30,319 a year.

Champion said he would return to California as soon as the year was up. He has made plans for then, but would not divulge them.

Champion said he does not plan to be active during the 1968 election campaign in any position such as a campaign manager. He has been Brown's top political strategist.

Mrs. Champion said she will resign her job as a member of the Sacramento City Board of Education so she and their children could be with Champion during his term at Harvard.

The Champions and their baby girl were kidnaped in the summer of 1965 by two fugitives from Oregon and later were released near Tonopah, Nev.

Student Recruiter

Admission requirements and the curriculum of University of San Francisco will be outlined by Dr. Augustine P. Donoghue, university director of admissions, at 10:45 a.m. tomorrow at Three-R High School, San Rafael, and afterwards at San Rafael Military Academy.

Students Stone U.S. Consulate

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Student demonstrators stoned the U.S. consulate and other American offices in the Bolivian city of Cochabamba last night. There were no reports of injuries, the government said today.

In reporting the attack, a government statement said several opposition political leaders were arrested and it would compensate the U.S. Embassy for any damage.

Employees' Ethics Code Is Settled

The Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday had an embarrassment of ethics, and discussed the problem at length before deciding on an ethical way to handle it.

The commission, charged by the board of supervisors with drawing a code of ethics to be adopted as a guideline for employee conduct, had a proposal from its subcommittee, composed of commissioners Bella H. Aaron and Victor P. Reed, and another from the Marin County Employees Assn.

Mrs. Aaron told the commission yesterday that she and Reed had met with Frederick Ward, manager of the association, to discuss the matter.

"I thought we were agreed," she said.

But Ward sent a separate code, adopted by the association at its annual membership meeting last Saturday.

The association list, a decalogue of dos and don'ts, Mrs. Aaron argued, was not much different than the shorter creed that she composed.

The commission, mindful that the association does not represent all employees, sent the Reed-Aaron creed on to the board and decreed that the association list was a fine thing for it.

Neither list was read, but the Reed-Aaron code includes a long paragraph banning acceptance of gratuities and applies to officers, employees and officials of the county.

The association decalogue says nothing about gratuities and establishes the ethic for employees only, not mentioning officials and officers. Otherwise, though worded differently, the creeds were much the same.

The commission referred a letter from Attorney Theodore C. Lachet, questioning the right of law officers to quiestion school pupils without parental consent, to the county counsel's office for an opinion.

Chicago, German Papers Sued In JFK Story Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Look magazine is seeking damages in excess of $200,000 from the Chicago Daily News in a court suit charging the newspaper with unfair competition and infringement of copyright in publishing excerpts of the book, "The Death of a President."

Look filed separate lawsuits yesterday against the Chicago Daily News, in U.S. District Court in Chicago, and the German magazine Stern, in Hamburg, Germany, asking for damages and an injunction against both publications over the serialization of the book.

Look claimed that it had embargoed until Jan. 10 its press release detailing some aspects of the first installment of the book and that the Chicago Daily News prematurely published on Jan. 7 an "excessive amount of material" from the first installment.

Stern was accused in the suit of breach of contract.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Trouble Brews At San Rafael High—But For How Long Now?

Has a San Rafael High School faculty faction continued to germinate trouble for the city schools over the years? If so, how long has this been going on?

Board President Carl J. Brown, himself a teacher in a neighboring district, declared at last week's meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education:

"I HAVE BEEN on this board for almost four years and it seems that this school district has had one crisis after another and they usually germinate at San Rafael High School." He then went on to list several, in each of which teachers at that high school figured.

Several former members of the board of education agree that the "series of crises" started well before Brown became a board member four years ago in April. Most of them comment that San Rafael High School has been the scene of most of the troubles.

REX T. SILVERNALE, who served on the board from 1953 to 1963, thinks a series of problems which are still unresolved began during the time the late Supt. Frank T. Lucas was in failing health and unable to exercise a strong hand in administration.

"San Rafael High School has had two or three faculty factions as far back as I can remember," said Silvernale in answer to a question. He recalled that "a couple of staff satisfaction surveys" showed faculty unrest while he was on the board.

"THE REAL PROBLEMS arose when Frank Lucas was unable to function," he said. "Some of these have carried over."

Lucas's successor, Bert C. Corona, was handicapped in attempting to solve them by lack of full support of the board, Silvernale believes.

Willard E. Vernon, who was on the board from 1953 to '61, thinks the troubles go back even farther. He says "there was a lot of resentment" when Lucas stepped on some faculty toes on succeeding the late Oliver Hartzell in the superintendency.

"There have been a certain number of teachers that have been a problem," said Vernon. They're probably the same people today . . . The principal difficulty was at the high school."

C. PAUL BETTINI, who served 10 years on the board of education before being elected mayor in 1965, says difficulties at San Rafael High run back as long as his service.

Bettini said these centered mostly in the social studies department at the school—probably because of the nature of the courses, which tend to be controversial. "I think there are similar problems in most high school districts," he said.

John M. Bagshaw says that during his four years on the board, 1959-63, he often heard that a faction on the San Rafael High faculty was stirring up trouble "but I never could determine that this was the case—it was always rumor."

"NEVERTHELESS, said Bagshaw, "I can't help but feel that this probably exists . . . When it comes to a showdown it's 'not ethical' to say who is responsible. These people protect one another very well."

Bagshaw said problems at San Rafael High predated his joining the board in 1959, "but I wouldn't call them crises."

Thomas P. Boyd, whose service on the board of education predates that of all the others questioned, agrees with Vernon that troubles at the high school began when Superintendent Lucas "stepped on toes," but he doubts those were related to recent problems.

During his 11 years on the board, from 1947 to '58, said Boyd, "the only problems the board had with teachers were the usual ones about salary schedules. We had no fomentation."

HOWEVER, HE SAID, "there was a crisis between Lucas and the teachers. He disturbed a lot of the older ones."

If, indeed, factional troubles at San Rafael High go back so far—and if some of the same people may be involved today, Silvernale and Vernon believe—what is to be done about it?

Board President Brown, in his statement last week, made a plea for united effort at a solution.

"WITH THE NEW YEAR just beginning and the arrival of a new superintendent in a very few weeks," he said, "I feel it is incumbent on all of us involved with the education of our young people — board members, administrators, teachers, and community at large — to continue to search for solutions to educational problems. At the same time, it seems to me that the interest of all is best served when problems are solved in a highly professional manner."

Silvernale suggested that problems can be solved only by a strong superintendent with united board backing. Vernon put somewhat the same idea a different way.

"The board has a lot to do with how this goes," said Vernon. "They've got to be able to talk to each other."

Ruling Against Harbor Board On Zone Issue

An informal attorney general's opinion of October, 1965, backs the County of Marin's contention that its zoning laws govern the Bolinas Harbor District's proposed development.

The harbor district board of directors has long contended that since its lands were deeded in trust from the State Land Commission, county zoning does not apply.

In an informal opinion asked by State Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ventura County, Deputy Atty. Gen. James Ganulin held that a harbor district "must therefore comply with applicable building and zoning ordinances" under the government code.

The opinion cited the case of Laguna Beach County Water District vs. Orange County, and was requested after a dispute between Ventura County and the Ventura Harbor District.

Ganulin concluded that the harbor districts in this case might appeal the county's action in the courts. This is what Marin supervisors have been trying to get the Bolinas Harbor District board to do to settle the argument.

The informal opinion was sent yesterday to Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino, who will forward it to the harbor district board.

Insurance Firms Leave County Minus Policies

Government agencies can no longer purchase insurance to protect against inverse condemnation losses.

Marin County supervisors discovered this when they approved a collection of new policies recommended by the Independent Insurance Agents Assn. of Marin.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said the insurance companies have left the field following a recent superior court ruling in Los Angeles, where property owners won a $7 million verdict from the county.

This was a case where a road slipped down onto homes. The plaintiffs did not have to prove any public negligence, only that their property was being used by a public (though slipped) facility without any payment.

Maloney said insurance companies also will not cover losses possible under the 1964 Civil Rights Act. There are suits by San Quentin inmates totalling nearly $1 million against Marin officials, including one for $300,000 against Maloney himself. The county counsel recommended against admission of a suit to court and the inmate brought suit charging that Maloney had violated his civil rights.

In such suits, Maloney said, it is the cost of defense that usually causes the biggest public loss, not awards to the plaintiffs.

But since the law is so new, insurance companies have not entered the field and the county must provide its own defense.

The new insurance program approved by the board consolidates some liability policies, increases the deduction level on some coverages, and extends coverage into areas previously uninsured.

New areas of coverage include liability for errors or ommissions by any county employee.

Rerouting Of Sierra Freeway Is Postponed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A decision on the controversial proposed rerouting of the Junipero Serra Freeway on the San Francisco peninsula has been postponed by the State Highway Commission for a month.

The commission, in its meeting here yesterday, said it wanted to give its new members time to familiarize themselves with the proposal.

Dana Pengilly, highways engineer, said the first proposed route of 4.5 miles along the Upper Crystal Springs Reservoir would cost $6.8 million compared to a $21.9 million cost for the 5.2 mile revised route.

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission and the city water district favor the revised route, saying the other would damage watershed.

BERNHARD W. GRETHEL
Mill Valley engineer

B. W. Grethel Ends Career As Engineer

Bernhard W. Grethel, member of a pioneer Mill Valley family, has retired after 30 years service as a hydroelectric engineer with the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission.

Assistant general manager of the Hetch Hetchy project, Grethel was born and raised in Mill Valley, where his father established Grethel's Bakery in the 1890s.

Grethel, 60, was connected with San Francisco's big water supply and power Hetch Hetchy project during his career with the commission. He obtained his electrical engineering degree from Heald Engineering College.

Now a San Francisco resident, Grethel will be honored at a retirement dinner tomorrow with his wife Eunice.

Library Opened For Hub School

Hidden Valley School's new library, part of a three-unit addition to the school in San Anselmo, opened to the students today with a ceremonial ribbon-cutting by student body president Chris Braun.

The ceremony marked completion of the second library at the intermediate level completed this year by the San Anselmo School District. The other is at the new Red Hill School.

Other new units at Hidden Valley School, which went into service Jan. 3, held science labs with adjoining conference rooms, a locker room and three classrooms.

Marin artist Andrea Hendricks has lent the new library several of her paintings for the library's first cultural exhibit, according to librarian Rose Mary Gicker.

Driver Injured

Ruggero Tarabori, 70, of San Francisco was treated for bruises Tuesday at Novato General Hospital after his car, entering southbound lanes of Highway 101 from San Antonio Creek Road, collided with a car driven by Margaret Ruth McWilliams, 49, of Burbank, California Highway Patrol reported.

Bond Issue Key Proposal Of Hub Recreation Survey

In a 40-page report on public recreation and parks in San Anselmo, Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr., concludes that a bond issue is "the only conceivable way" for the city to finance needed recreational facilities.

In the study, which Snyder made on his own time as part of graduate study at San Francisco State College, he says San Anselmo's greatest recreational needs are a community recreation center, neighborhood recreation and park areas, tiny tot play areas, a community swimming pool, and more lighted tennis courts.

The report was presented to the park and recreation commission this week.

Snyder said another, specifically financial, study would have to be made to determine the cost of the needed facilities.

As soon as the report is approved by the commission, he said, he will try to make copies available to interested members of the community.

The four pages of recommendations at the end of the report are not confined to the recreation department.

Snyder recommends that:

1. Duties, benefits, policies and procedures, functions and interrelationships of all city employees be put in writing.
2. The policy toward accepting gifts to the parks and recreation department should also be put in writing.
3. The city should adopt a long-range financial plan for capital improvements and expansion of recreation and park services.
4. An inventory should be made of all public, private and potential recreation facilities, and activities of the city, schools and private organizations should be coordinated.
5. An additional recreation supervisor, clerk-typist and park maintenance man should be hired.
6. Expenses should be paid for commissioners and director to participate in professional and educational conferences.
7. A park planning consultant should be hired to develop a comprehensive master plan of present and future facilities.
8. Funds should be allocated for first-stage development of the Memorial Park master plan.
9. Acquisition of the American Legion building and property adjacent to Memorial Park should be investigated.
10. San Anselmo should seek co-operation from San Rafael and Marin County in developing Sorich Ranch as a regional park.
11. School playgrounds should be developed into neighborhood parks.
12. The park and recreation department should have a more adequate office.
13. An ordinance should be enacted requiring new subdivisions to dedicate lands for park and recreation use.
15. More power equipment should be provided for maintaining Memorial Park.

Five states, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas, have adopted the mocking bird as the state bird.

Trouble Brews At San Rafael High—But For How Long Now?

Has a San Rafael High School faculty faction continued to germinate trouble for the city schools over the years? If so, how long has this been going on?

Board President Carl J. Brown, himself a teacher in a neighboring district, declared at last week's meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education:

"I HAVE BEEN on this board for almost four years and it seems that this school district has had one crisis after another and they usually germinate at San Rafael High School." He then went on to list several, in each of which teachers at that high school figured.

Several former members of the board of education agree that the "series of crises" started well before Brown became a board member four years ago in April. Most of them comment that San Rafael High School has been the scene of most of the troubles.

REX T. SILVERNALE, who served on the board from 1953 to 1963, thinks a series of problems which are still unresolved began during the time the late Supt. Frank T. Lucas was in failing health and unable to exercise a strong hand in administration.

"San Rafael High School has had two or three faculty factions as far back as I can remember," said Silvernale in answer to a question. He recalled that "a couple of staff satisfaction surveys" showed faculty unrest while he was on the board.

"THE REAL PROBLEMS arose when Frank Lucas was unable to function," he said. "Some of these have carried over."

Lucas's successor, Bert C. Corona, was handicapped in attempting to solve them by lack of full support of the board, Silvernale believes.

Willard E. Vernon, who was on the board from 1953 to '61, thinks the troubles go back even farther. He says "there was a lot of resentment" when Lucas stepped on some faculty toes on succeeding the late Oliver Hartzell in the superintendency.

"There have been a certain number of teachers that have been a problem," said Vernon. They're probably the same people today . . . The principal difficulty was at the high school."

C. PAUL BETTINI, who served 10 years on the board of education before being elected mayor in 1965, says difficulties at San Rafael High run back as long as his service.

Bettini said these centered mostly in the social studies department at the school—probably because of the nature of the courses, which tend to be controversial. "I think there are similar problems in most high school districts," he said.

John M. Bagshaw says that during his four years on the board, 1959-63, he often heard that a faction on the San Rafael High faculty was stirring up trouble "but I never could determine that this was the case—it was always rumor."

"NEVERTHELESS, said Bagshaw, "I can't help but feel that this probably exists . . . When it comes to a showdown it's 'not ethical' to say who is responsible. These people protect one another very well."

Bagshaw said problems at San Rafael High predated his joining the board in 1959, "but I wouldn't call them crises."

Thomas P. Boyd, whose service on the board of education predates that of all the others questioned, agrees with Vernon that troubles at the high school began when Superintendent Lucas "stepped on toes," but he doubts those were related to recent problems.

During his 11 years on the board, from 1947 to '58, said Boyd, "the only problems the board had with teachers were the usual ones about salary schedules. We had no fomentation."

HOWEVER, HE SAID, "there was a crisis between Lucas and the teachers. He disturbed a lot of the older ones."

If, indeed, factional troubles at San Rafael High go back so far—and if some of the same people may be involved today, Silvernale and Vernon believe—what is to be done about it?

Board President Brown, in his statement last week, made a plea for united effort at a solution.

"WITH THE NEW YEAR just beginning and the arrival of a new superintendent in a very few weeks," he said, "I feel it is incumbent on all of us involved with the education of our young people — board members, administrators, teachers, and community at large — to continue to search for solutions to educational problems. At the same time, it seems to me that the interest of all is best served when problems are solved in a highly professional manner."

Silvernale suggested that problems can be solved only by a strong superintendent with united board backing. Vernon put somewhat the same idea a different way.

"The board has a lot to do with how this goes," said Vernon. "They've got to be able to talk to each other."

Ruling Against Harbor Board On Zone Issue

An informal attorney general's opinion of October, 1965, backs the County of Marin's contention that its zoning laws govern the Bolinas Harbor District's proposed development.

The harbor district board of directors has long contended that since its lands were deeded in trust from the State Land Commission, county zoning does not apply.

In an informal opinion asked by State Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ventura County, Deputy Atty. Gen. James Ganulin held that a harbor district "must therefore comply with applicable building and zoning ordinances" under the government code.

The opinion cited the case of Laguna Beach County Water District vs. Orange County, and was requested after a dispute between Ventura County and the Ventura Harbor District.

Ganulin concluded that the harbor districts in this case might appeal the county's action in the courts. This is what Marin supervisors have been trying to get the Bolinas Harbor District board to do to settle the argument.

The informal opinion was sent yesterday to Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino, who will forward it to the harbor district board.

RIGHT TOTEM — Tiburon artist Willard R. Cox puts the finishing touches to a drawing of a totem pole, similar to the design he has submitted again for use on a stamp to commemorate the Alaskan purchase. His first totem proved to be from British Columbia.

Tiburon Artist Finally Gets Right Totem Pole For Stamp

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

It looked every inch an authentic Alaskan totem pole as Tiburon artist Willard R. Cox sat down to use it as a model for the design for a new stamp marking the centenary of United States' purchase of Alaska from Russia.

In fact, the photograph used by Cox for the special commission clearly stated "an Alaskan totem pole." U. S. postal atuhorities accepted the design enthusiastically.

Then the blow fell.

"The totem pole wasn't from Alaska at all," Cox said at his studio yesterday. "It was the type found in British Columbia."

He immediately sat down and rushed off two more designs last week, and this time he feels there is no doubt he has the right totem. Yesterday, he was still waiting to hear if his latest design has been accepted.

"I got the call from a lady with the stamp design board. It seems that after a great deal of research, they eventually traced my original totem to British Columbia," said Cox.

"A great pity!," he added, with a sigh. "It was a good looking one, too.".

REVISED DESIGN

The revised design — of the Giant Rock Oyster Memorial Totem — is almost as attractive and, if accepted, will be on an eight-cent airmail stamp to be issued March 30.

A talented artist, popular in Tiburon for his illustrations of the local scene, Cox is not used to making such mistakes, but he takes it in stride.

Other stamp designers have gone "into print" with mistakes that proved far more serious.

A recent United States stamp saluting Poland's milennium included in its design the head of the imperial eagle — instead of the Polish eagle now accepted by the country. The stamp caused little short of an international incident.

THE COMMISSION

Cox's associations with Alaska helped him get the commission for the Alaska Purchase commemorative issue in the first place

A fried, Norman Todhunter, an artist member of the postmaster general's stamp advisory committee, considered him the right man for the job.

Cox has made several trips to Alaska. His first wife, Anita Nordale Cox, who died 10 years ago, was the sister of an Alaskan newspaper editor, Hjalmar Nordale.

He made his last trip there about five years ago. "A beautiful country," he said ". . . really beautiful."

For the stamp, Cox made many rough sketches, working at his home at 2345 Spanish Trail Road, overlooking the bay. They included a gold prospector with a pan, a railroad locomotive, and a gold star.

MOST SYMBOLIC

"I reckoned a gold prospector could be found anywhere so the design simmered down to the old totem pole. It was the most symbolic thing I could think of," he said.

His presentation was for a vertical stamp and if his suggestions for colors are accepted, the stamp will be in black and salmon pink. He offered golden yellow as an alternative.

Cox is well known for his black and white sketches of Tiburon and Marin in which he captures the nostalgia of a skyline rapidly changing.

Postal authorities have announced the 8-cent airmail stamp will have its first day's sale at Sitka, the old Russian capital of the territory bought 100 years ago and which achieved statehood in 1959.

And the design? Cox feels certain it will be his — complete with the now-authenticated totem pole.

County Prep Students Sponsor Charity Dance

Marin County high school students will sponsor a dance Jan. 28 at San Rafael High School for the benefit of the March of Dimes, dance chairman Christine Smith of Larkspur has announced.

Music for the 8 p.m. to midnight dance in the school gym will be supplied by "The Pullice," according to Miss Smith, who is also chairman of the county's teen-age program for the charitable drive.

Tam Concert Experiment To Be Tried

Tamalpais High School's midwinter concert will feature an unusual performance for parents, faculty and friends when members of the school's orchestra, band and choir are handed a score for sight reading.

The experiment will take place on Jan. 26 at 8 p.m. in Ruby Scott Auditorium. Admission is free.

The rest of the program will feature the 25-piece orchestra playing "Allegro" from "Divertimento" by Mozart; a sonata by Correlli conducted by Senior John Balmer; and the finale frfom Beethoven's Fifth Symphony.

Tam's band will play "Prelude" and "Musette" by Bach; "Madrilene" from "El Cid" by Massenet; and "Before the Wind" by Nestico. Both the band and the orchestra will be under the direction of Robert L. Greenwood, head of the fine arts department at the high school.

The 58-member choir, directed by Laurence A. Nelson, will perform three selections.

STAR IN 'PIRATES' — When the famed D'Oyly Carte Opera Company presents Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" at the Curran Theater in San Francisco on Jan. 26, John Reed will portray Major-General Stanley. The company will be in San Francisco from Monday through Jan. 28.

Ross Approves Higher Employee Pay Scale

Votes of three Ross town councilmen last night gave the Ross police force 5 per cent higher pay than recommended in a State Personnel Service survey.

The council postponed until Feb. 2 introduction of a comprehensive personnel ordinance. But on motion of Mayor Frederick S. Allen, it raised the pay of town employees retroactive to Jan. 1.

The new scale puts Police Chief John Harris and Fire Chief A. T. Henrich at $862 per month, with pay for the newest patrolman at $570.

Councilman W. Peter McAndrew argued long and forcefully against going beyond the State Personnel Service recommendations.

"It's a matter of principle; I'm not concerned about the differences in dollars," said McAndrew. He argued that the council had paid $1,000 for the state survey and recommendations "because none of us is an expert on what salaries to pay." After hiring experts to do

Votes of three Ross town councilmen last night gave the the job, he insisted, "we should go along with what they recommend."

His argument was so persuasive that Councilman Natalie Lewis abstained from voting, "I just can't make up my mind." But Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. and Roy Farrington Jones went along with Mayor Allen to vote the higher scale. They contended the responsibilities of Ross officers called for more competitive salaries.

The council took up the salary matter after a public hearing on joining the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Zone. It will meet Feb. 2 to discuss the Marin Art and Garden Center master plan.

Schine's Inn To Be Auctioned

POMONA (AP) — A plush Pomona inn owned by G. David Schine, wealthy hotelman and a central figure in the 1954 Army-McCarthy hearings, will sold at public auction tomorrow, the Los Angeles Times repotrs.

The Times said the inn will be sold under a court order initiated by the Atlantic Savings and Loan Assn., which claims a note for $806,000 is due.

Schine purchased the Pomona Valley Inn in 1964. Limited partners included comedian Phil Silvers, industrialist Patrick J. Frawley, businessman Jerry Ohrbach, songwriter Sammy Cahn, and William D. Pauley of Miami, Fla., a former ambassador to Peru and Brazil, the Times says.

Three Art Shows

Rose McReynolds, former member of the Marin Society of Artists, now a resident of Humboldt County, has three exhibits of her work running concurrently: 13 paintings at the Variety Gallery in Arcata; 17 at the Red Barn in Eureka, and 45 at Aldo's Humboldt House, Eureka.

Addition Approved

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments last night approved Warrne R. Cushman's application to build an addition to his home at 45 Ash Avenue, but asked that he maintain a 16-foot rear yard setback, rather than the 13-foot setback he requested.

BERNHARD W. GRETHEL
Mill Valley engineer

B. W. Grethel Ends Career As Engineer

Bernhard W. Grethel, member of a pioneer Mill Valley family, has retired after 30 years service as a hydroelectric engineer with the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission.

Assistant general manager of the Hetch Hetchy project, Grethel was born and raised in Mill Valley, where his father established Grethel's Bakery in the 1890s.

Grethel, 60, was connected with San Francisco's big water supply and power Hetch Hetchy project during his career with the commission. He obtained his electrical engineering degree from Heald Engineering College.

Now a San Francisco resident, Grethel will be honored at a retirement dinner tomorrow with his wife Eunice.

Library Opened For Hub School

Hidden Valley School's new library, part of a three-unit addition to the school in San Anselmo, opened to the students today with a ceremonial ribbon-cutting by student body president Chris Braun.

The ceremony marked completion of the second library at the intermediate level completed this year by the San Anselmo School District. The other is at the new Red Hill School.

Other new units at Hidden Valley School, which went into service Jan. 3, held science labs with adjoining conference rooms, a locker room and three classrooms.

Marin artist Andrea Hendricks has lent the new library several of her paintings for the library's first cultural exhibit, according to librarian Rose Mary Gicker.

Driver Injured

Ruggero Tarabori, 70, of San Francisco was treated for bruises Tuesday at Novato General Hospital after his car, entering southbound lanes of Highway 101 from San Antonio Creek Road, collided with a car driven by Margaret Ruth McWilliams, 48, of Burbank, California Highway Patrol reported.

Bond Issue Key Proposal Of Hub Recreation Survey

In a 40-page report on public recreation and parks in San Anselmo, Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr., concludes that a bond issue is "the only conceivable way" for the city to finance needed recreational facilities.

In the study, which Snyder made on his own time as part of graduate study at San Francisco State College, he says San Anselmo's greatest recreational needs are a community recreation center, neighborhood recreation and park areas, tiny tot play areas, a community swimming pool, and more lighted tennis courts.

The report was presented to the park and recreation commission this week.

Snyder said another, specifically financial, study would have to be made to determine the cost of the needed facilities.

As soon as the report is approved by the commission, he said, he will try to make copies available to interested members of the community.

The four pages of recommendations at the end of the report are not confined to the recreation department.

Snyder recommends that:

1. Duties, benefits, policies and procedures, functions and interrelationships of all city employees be put in writing.
2. The policy toward accepting gifts to the parks and recreation department should also be put in writing.
3. The city should adopt a long-range financial plan for capital improvements and expansion of recreation and park services.
4. An inventory should be made of all public, private and potential recreation facilities, and activities of the city, schools and private organizations should be coordinated.
5. An additional recreation supervisor, clerk-typist and park maintenance man should be hired.
6. Expenses should be paid for commissioners and director to participate in professional and educational conferences.
7. A park planning consultant should be hired to develop a comprehensive master plan of present and future facilities.
8. Funds should be allocated for first-stage development of the Memorial Park master plan.
9. Acquisition of the American Legion building and property adjacent to Memorial Park should be investigated.
10. San Anselmo should seek co-operation from San Rafael and Marin County in developing Sorich Ranch as a regional park.
11. School playgrounds should be developed into neighborhood parks.
12. The park and recreation department should have a more adequate office.
13. An ordinance should be enacted requiring new subdivisions to dedicate lands for park and recreation use.
15. More power equipment should be provided for maintaining Memorial Park.

Carol Burnett, Infant Are Fine

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Entertainer Carol Burnett and her newborn 8-pound, 7-ounce daughter were "doing fine" today at St. John's Hospital.

The television and film comedienne gave birth to the baby girl yesterday.

Miss Burnett and her husband, television producer Joe Hamilton, have one other daughter, Carrie, 3.

Sixty insurance companies went broke trying to pay off claims resulting from the 1871 Chicago fire which did $200 million in property damage and laid waste to three and one-half square miles.

Sausalito Planners Reject Parking Plan

Sausalito Planning Commission last night rejected a proposal by commissioner Roy Starbird to change the city's zoning ordinance requirement of off-street parking for nonconforming commercial structures only if the use is "intensified."

His proposal would have eliminated the exemption, and would have required off-street parking in event of any structural alteration or change in property. The change "is not needed," said chairman Alan D. Bonapart. He said "The detriment to some property owners would not be offset by any substantial improvement in the parking situation."

The five commissioners present voted unanimously to reject the proposal, he reported. Commissioners Starbird, John A. Sweeny and Hendrik J. Keizer were absent.

Sausalito Planning Commission also:

1. Recommended the city council consider an ordinance to require interim use permits in the central waterfront area while the "701" planning program for the area is being prepared.

2. Heard Bonapart report "701" funds in the present budget could finance the program through the spring, until the city can apply for $15,000 for the second phase of the program. A recent change in federal regulations may mean the city will not be eligible for second phase funds until July, he said.

3. Authorized planning consultant William E. Spangle Jr. to work with the county planning staff on rezoning unincorporated land bounded by Nevada Street, Bridgeway, Waldo Point and Highway 101.

TWA, Hilton Merger Near

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles C. Tillinghast, president of Trans World Airlines, and Conrad N. Hilton, chairman of Hilton International Co., said today they have reached an agreement in principle on a merger plan.

They said they were prepared to recommend the plan to their respective boards and stockholders.

Hilton operates hotels around the world. TWA ranks second to United Air Lines in revenue passenger miles flown in the Free World.

Terra Linda Park Chief Quits Post

James Hand resigned as Terra Linda park and recreation director last night, effective April 27, saying he did not believe the district could afford him.

Hand, who came to the district from Simi Valley Recreation District in Ventura County, last April, said the Terra Linda district is too small to afford a diretcor. It needs, he said, can be handled by recreation supervisors, with the district board handling administration.

In the campaign preceeding the election last November when two incumbents were unseated, the expenses for district staff were a major campaign issue. Hand is paid $9,600 per year and, with fringe benefits, the cost comes to over $10,000. This just about equals the operating deficit this year, he said.

Directors accepted the resignation with reluctance.

Supreme Court Slows Vallejo Murder Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An alternative writ of prohibition was issued by the California Supreme Court yesterday which probably stops the first-degree murder trial of James E. Anderson, accused slayer of two Vallejo policemen.

The suspect was indicted by a grand jury, but a Superior Court judge later threw the case out on grounds of insufficient evidence. The judge maintained the only probable cause given the grand jury was "triple hearsay evidence."

The Solano County district attorney appealed the ruling to the District Court of Appeal, where it is pending—and then filed an information on which a jury has been impaneled to try Anderson.

Monomoy Island, near Cape Cod in Massachusetts, will be the first National Wildlife Refuge to be considered for inclusion in the National Wilderness Preservation System.

Quarter System Plan Introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Resolutions calling for early conversion of the state colleges and the University of California to the year-around quarter system were introduced yesterday in the legislature.

The resolutions would pledge the legislature to provide $7.24 million to continue conversion from the semester system in the 1967-68 state budget.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has asked that the conversion be delayed one year.

RIGHT TOTEM — Tiburon artist Willard R. Cox puts the finishing touches to a drawing of a totem pole, similar to the design he has submitted again for use on a stamp to commemorate the Alaskan purchase. His first totem proved to be from British Columbia.

Tiburon Artist Finally Gets Right Totem Pole For Stamp

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

It looked every inch an authentic Alaskan totem pole as Tiburon artist Willard R. Cox sat down to use it as a model for the design for a new stamp marking the centenary of United States' purchase of Alaska from Russia.

In fact, the photograph used by Cox for the special commission clearly stated "an Alaskan totem pole." U. S. postal atuhorities accepted the design enthusiastically.

Then the blow fell.

"The totem pole wasn't from Alaska at all," Cox said at his studio yesterday. "It was the type found in British Columbia."

He immediately sat down and rushed off two more designs last week, and this time he feels there is no doubt he has the right totem. Yesterday, he was still waiting to hear if his latest design has been accepted.

"I got the call from a lady with the stamp design board. It seems that after a great deal of research, they eventually traced my original totem to British Columbia," said Cox.

"A great pity!," he added, with a sigh. "It was a good looking one, too.".

REVISED DESIGN

The revised design — of the Giant Rock Oyster Memorial Totem — is almost as attractive and, if accepted, will be on an eight-cent airmail stamp to be issued March 30.

A talented artist, popular in Tiburon for his illustrations of the local scene, Cox is not used to making such mistakes, but he takes it in stride.

Other stamp designers have gone "into print" with mistakes that proved far more serious.

A recent United States stamp saluting Poland's milennium included in its design the head of the imperial eagle — instead of the Polish eagle now accepted by the country. The stamp caused little short of an international incident.

THE COMMISSION

Cox's associations with Alaska helped him get the commission for the Alaska Purchase commemorative issue in the first place

A fried, Norman Todhunter, an artist member of the postmaster general's stamp advisory committee, considered him the right man for the job.

Cox has made several trips to Alaska. His first wife, Anita Nordale Cox, who died 10 years ago, was the sister of an Alaskan newspaper editor, Hjalmar Nordale.

He made his last trip there about five years ago. "A beautiful country," he said ". . . really beautiful."

For the stamp, Cox made many rough sketches, working at his home at 2345 Spanish Trail Road, overlooking the bay. They included a gold prospector with a pan, a railroad locomotive, and a gold star.

MOST SYMBOLIC

"I reckoned a gold prospector could be found anywhere so the design simmered down to the old totem pole. It was the most symbolic thing I could think of," he said.

His presentation was for a vertical stamp and if his suggestions for colors are accepted, the stamp will be in black and salmon pink. He offered golden yellow as an alternative.

Cox is well known for his black and white sketches of Tiburon and Marin in which he captures the nostalgia of a skyline rapidly changing.

Postal authorities have announced the 8-cent airmail stamp will have its first day's sale at Sitka, the old Russian capital of the territory bought 100 years ago and which achieved statehood in 1959.

And the design? Cox feels certain it will be his — complete with the now-authenticated totem pole.

County Prep Students Sponsor Charity Dance

Marin County high school students will sponsor a dance Jan. 28 at San Rafael High School for the benefit of the March of Dimes, dance chairman Christine Smith of Larkspur has announced.

Music for the 8 p.m. to midnight dance in the school gym will be supplied by "The Pullice," according to Miss Smith, who is also chairman of the county's teen-age program for the charitable drive.

Tam Concert Experiment To Be Tried

Tamalpais High School's midwinter concert will feature an unusual performance for parents, faculty and friends when members of the school's orchestra, band and choir are handed a score for sight reading.

The experiment will take place on Jan. 26 at 8 p.m. in Ruby Scott Auditorium. Admission is free.

The rest of the program will feature the 25-piece orchestra playing "Allegro" from "Divertimento" by Mozart; a sonata by Correlli conducted by Senior John Balmer; and the finale frfom Beethoven's Fifth Symphony.

Tam's band will play "Prelude" and "Musette" by Bach; "Madrilene" from "El Cid" by Massenet; and "Before the Wind" by Nestico. Both the band and the orchestra will be under the direction of Robert L. Greenwood, head of the fine arts department at the high school.

The 58-member choir, directed by Laurence A. Nelson, will perform three selections.

STAR IN 'PIRATES' — When the famed D'Oyly Carte Opera Company presents Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" at the Curran Theater in San Francisco on Jan. 26, John Reed will portray Major-General Stanley. The company will be in San Francisco from Monday through Jan. 28.

Ross Approves Higher Employee Pay Scale

Votes of three Ross town councilmen last night gave the Ross police force 5 per cent higher pay than recommended in a State Personnel Service survey.

The council postponed until Feb. 2 introduction of a comprehensive personnel ordinance. But on motion of Mayor Frederick S. Allen, it raised the pay of town employees retroactive to Jan. 1.

The new scale puts Police Chief John Harris and Fire Chief A. T. Henrich at $862 per month, with pay for the newest patrolman at $570.

Councilman W. Peter McAndrew argued long and forcefully against going beyond the State Personnel Service recommendations.

"It's a matter of principle; I'm not concerned about the differences in dollars," said McAndrew. He argued that the council had paid $1,000 for the state survey and recommendations "because none of us is an expert on what salaries to pay." After hiring experts to do

Votes of three Ross town councilmen last night gave the the job, he insisted, "we should go along with what they recommend."

His argument was so persuasive that Councilman Natalie Lewis abstained from voting, "I just can't make up my mind." But Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. and Roy Farrington Jones went along with Mayor Allen to vote the higher scale. They contended the responsibilities of Ross officers called for more competitive salaries.

The council took up the salary matter after a public hearing on joining the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Zone. It will meet Feb. 2 to discuss the Marin Art and Garden Center master plan.

Festival Theater Set To Close Out Operas

Festival Theater, San Anselmo, will close its tandem presentations of "Trouble in Tahiti" and "Tale for A Deaf Ear" on Sunday.

The last performances will be tomorrow and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Meeting Shifted

A meeting of Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club at 8 p.m. Monday to organize committees for the 1967 Rhubarb Revue has been shifted from the Methodist Church to the home of Bernard Healey, 635 Northern Avenue, club president Joe Allen said today. Casting will be Feb. 3.

Schine's Inn To Be Auctioned

POMONA (AP) — A plush Pomona inn owned by G. David Schine, wealthy hotelman and a central figure in the 1954 Army-McCarthy hearings, will sold at public auction tomorrow, the Los Angeles Times repotrs.

The Times said the inn will be sold under a court order initiated by the Atlantic Savings and Loan Assn., which claims a note for $806,000 is due.

Schine purchased the Pomona Valley Inn in 1964. Limited partners included comedian Phil Silvers, industrialist Patrick J. Frawley, businessman Jerry Ohrbach, songwriter Sammy Cahn, and William D. Pauley of Miami, Fla., a former ambassador to Peru and Brazil, the Times says.

Three Art Shows

Rose McReynolds, former member of the Marin Society of Artists, now a resident of Humboldt County, has three exhibits of her work running concurrently: 13 paintings at the Variety Gallery in Arcata; 17 at the Red Barn in Eureka, and 45 at Aldo's Humboldt House, Eureka.

Addition Approved

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments last night approved Warrne R. Cushman's application to build an addition to his home at 45 Ash Avenue, but asked that he maintain a 16-foot rear yard setback, rather than the 13-foot setback he requested.

Trade Expert Expects More Competition

By DAVID DIETZ

A former Marin resident who served over five years as a U. S. trade representative in West Germany said yesterday that American firms will have to sell more products there to hold profitable positions.

Paul H. Brent, formerly of Mill Valley, made the comment when asked what effect the Common Market would have on American sales in Germany.

The market, scheduled to go into effect July 1, 1968, will mean a tariff-free flow of goods among West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

ALREADY THERE

"Some of our companies have a strong foothold in Germany," Brent said, "but it will take more activity to maintain it."

Brent is home on leave after serving as commercial counselor at the U. S. Embassy in Bonn. He is staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Bergisch of 60 Park Avenue, Mill Valley, pending re-assignment by the Foreign Service in April.

During his foreign duty, Brent said, American firms were highly successful on the German market, which recently moved from fourth place to third, behind Canada and Japan, in U. S. imports. He reported imports up 7 per cent in the first nine months of 1966 over the same period in 1965, and up 11 per cent in 1965 over 1964.

FAIRS HELPING

He attributed the brisk business to a "liberal" German trading policy, its modest tariffs, and a steady demand by Germans for better prodcuts. Increased American participation in industrial fairs and exhibits also has proved beneficial, Brent said.

As to the impact on the business climate of the new German government, Brent said he expects no change in policty under Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger.

"Kiesinger has said he will follow the established policies in trade and the economic field," Brent said. "I can see no change in the liberal, open policy that exists now."

COMMON MARKET

However, he anticipated the Common Market cutting into American business in Germany if our firms do not steo up activity He said American trade already has felt the effect of the market around the world, as foreign imports of U. S. goods decreased 2 per cent in 1966 from the previous year.

"It means we're going to have to get out and sell more," Brent declared.

While awaiting new duty, Brent expects his wife, Ruth, to join him at his parents' home soon. The couple have two children, Steven, 24, and Susan, 21.

Before joining the Foregin Service in 1961, Brent served for 25 years with the Department of Commerce, once heading its foreign trade division in San Francisco.

Sausalito Planners Reject Parking Plan

Sausalito Planning Commission last night rejected a proposal by commissioner Roy Starbird to change the city's zoning ordinance requirement of off-street parking for nonconforming commercial structures only if the use is "intensified."

His proposal would have eliminated the exemption, and would have required off-street parking in event of any structural alteration or change in property.

The change "is not needed," said chairman Alan D. Bonapart. He said "The detriment to some property owners would not be offset by any substantial improvement in the parking situation."

The five commissioners present voted unanimously to reject the proposal, he reported. Commissioners Starbird, John A. Sweeny and Hendrik J. Keizer were absent.

Sausalito Planning Commission also:

1. Recommended the city council consider an ordinance to require interim use permits in the central waterfront area while the "701" planning program for the area is being prepared.

2. Heard Bonapart report "701" funds in the present budget could finance the program through the spring, until the city can apply for $15,000 for the second phase of the program. A recent change in federal regulations may mean the city will not be eligible for second phase funds until July, he said.

3. Authorized planning consultant William E. Spangle Jr. to work with the county planning staff on rezoning unincorporated land bounded by Nevada Street, Bridgeway, Waldo Point and Highway 101.

TWA, Hilton Merger Near

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles C. Tillinghast, president of Trans World Airlines, and Conrad N. Hilton, chairman of Hilton International Co., said today they have reached an agreement in principle on a merger plan.

They said they were prepared to recommend the plan to their respective boards and stockholders.

Hilton operates hotels around the world. TWA ranks second to United Air Lines in revenue passenger miles flown in the Free World.

Supreme Court Slows Vallejo Murder Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An alternative writ of prohibition was issued by the California Supreme Court yesterday which probably stops the first-degree murder trial of James E. Anderson, accused slayer of two Vallejo policemen.

The suspect was indicted by a grand jury, but a Superior Court judge later threw the case out on grounds of insufficient evidence. The judge maintained the only probable cause given the grand jury was "triple hearsay evidence."

The Solano County district attorney appealed the ruling to the District Court of Appeal, where it is pending—and then filed an information on which a jury has been impaneled to try Anderson.

Terra Linda Park Chief Quits Post

James Hand resigned as Terra Linda park and recreation director last night, effective April 27, saying he did not believe the district could afford him.

Hand, who came to the district from Simi Valley Recreation District in Ventura County, last April, said the Terra Linda district is too small to afford a diretcor. It needs, he said, can be handled by recreation supervisors, with the district board handling administration.

In the campaign preceeding the election last November when two incumbents were unseated, the expenses for district staff were a major campaign issue. Hand is paid $9,600 per year and, with fringe benefits, the cost comes to over $10,000. This just about equals the operating deficit this year, he said.

Directors accepted the resignation with reluctance.

Monomoy Island, near Cape Cod in Massachusetts, will be the first National Wildlife Refuge to be considered for inclusion in the National Wilderness Preservation System.

Quarter System Plan Introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Resolutions calling for early conversion of the state colleges and the University of California to the year-around quarter system were introduced yesterday in the legislature.

The resolutions would pledge the legislature to provide $7.24 million to continue conversion from the semester system in the 1967-68 state budget.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has asked that the conversion be delayed one year.

Trade Expert Expects More Competition

By DAVID DIETZ

A former Marin resident who served over five years as a U. S. trade representative in West Germany said yesterday that American firms will have to sell more products there to hold profitable positions.

Paul H. Brent, formerly of Mill Valley, made the comment when asked what effect the Common Market would have on American sales in Germany.

The market, scheduled to go into effect July 1, 1968, will mean a tariff-free flow of goods among West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

ALREADY THERE

"Some of our companies have a strong foothold in Germany," Brent said, "but it will take more activity to maintain it."

Brent is home on leave after serving as commercial counselor at the U. S. Embassy in Bonn. He is staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Bergisch of 60 Park Avenue, Mill Valley, pending re-assignment by the Foreign Service in April.

During his foreign duty, Brent said, American firms were highly successful on the German market, which recently moved from fourth place to third, behind Canada and Japan, in U. S. imports. He reported imports up 7 per cent in the first nine months of 1966 over the same period in 1965, and up 11 per cent in 1965 over 1964.

FAIRS HELPING

He attributed the brisk business to a "liberal" German trading policy, its modest tariffs, and a steady demand by Germans for better prodcuts. Increased American participation in industrial fairs and exhibits also has proved beneficial, Brent said.

As to the impact on the business climate of the new German government, Brent said he expects no change in policty under Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger.

"Kiesinger has said he will follow the established policies in trade and the economic field," Brent said. "I can see no change in the liberal, open policy that exists now."

COMMON MARKET

However, he anticipated the Common Market cutting into American business in Germany if our firms do not steo up activity He said American trade already has felt the effect of the market around the world, as foreign imports of U. S. goods decreased 2 per cent in 1966 from the previous year.

"It means we're going to have to get out and sell more," Brent declared.

While awaiting new duty, Brent expects his wife, Ruth, to join him at his parents' home soon. The couple have two children, Steven, 24, and Susan, 21.

Before joining the Foregin Service in 1961, Brent served for 25 years with the Department of Commerce, once heading its foreign trade division in San Francisco.

Mercenary Mother Better Check Group Medical Insurance Plans

DEAR HELEN:

The father of my unborn baby wants to marry me now. We are very much in love and we want to right the wrong. We know it will be a good marriage. I'm 17. He's 20.

But my mother, while she doesn't mind our getting married, wants us to wait until after the baby is born. You see, my dad has a group medical and hospitalization insurance plan that she is sure will pay entirely for the baby, as long as I'm a part of the family.

I don't think the plan would care for unwed mothers, and besides, my baby's name is more important than a hospital bill. I want it to be born legitimate. In our state the birth certificate says whether you are or aren't.

What do you think.—CAN'T SIGN

DEAR CAN'T:

I think your mercenary mother had better check again. Few group medical insurance plans cover illegitimate births in the family—unless the expectant mother pays the premium as "head of the household." A dependent who becomes pregnant will have her bills paid only if she is the wife of the man in whose name the policy is made . . . according to my insurance agent (who adds there are exceptions).

If this is your mother's only objection to an early marriage, she should pipe down and let your new husband pay for his baby.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

The letter about "My mother the nut" fit my mother so well that I just had to write and tell you more teen-agers should praise their Moms.

My mother lets all my friends come to our house as if it were their own home. She never needs advance notice. She doesn't allow monkey business but she isn't bossy, and they all love her.

My Mom isn't spic and span either, but her small faults are made great with her thoughtfulness for all of us. She can get into some awful messes, but we pitch in and everything is straightened out with a good old laugh. My Dad often calls her his nutty wife and loves her for it. He wouldn't have her change for anything.

I'm another teen who thinks her nutty mother is the greatest. If more kids appreciated their parents as humans, and lots of fun, there would be a lot less trouble in the world.—SUE.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Mercenary Mother Better Check Group Medical Insurance Plans

DEAR HELEN:

The father of my unborn baby wants to marry me now. We are very much in love and we want to right the wrong. We know it will be a good marriage. I'm 17. He's 20.

But my mother, while she doesn't mind our getting married, wants us to wait until after the baby is born. You see, my dad has a group medical and hospitalization insurance plan that she is sure will pay entirely for the baby, as long as I'm a part of the family.

I don't think the plan would care for unwed mothers, and besides, my baby's name is more important than a hospital bill. I want it to be born legitimate. In our state the birth certificate says whether you are or aren't.

What do you think.—CAN'T SIGN

DEAR CAN'T:

I think your mercenary mother had better check again. Few group medical insurance plans cover illegitimate births in the family—unless the expectant mother pays the premium as "head of the household." A dependent who becomes pregnant will have her bills paid only if she is the wife of the man in whose name the policy is made . . . according to my insurance agent (who adds there are exceptions).

If this is your mother's only objection to an early marriage, she should pipe down and let your new husband pay for his baby.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

The letter about "My mother the nut" fit my mother so well that I just had to write and tell you more teen-agers should praise their Moms.

My mother lets all my friends come to our house as if it were their own home. She never needs advance notice. She doesn't allow monkey business but she isn't bossy, and they all love her.

My Mom isn't spic and span either, but her small faults are made great with her thoughtfulness for all of us. She can get into some awful messes, but we pitch in and everything is straightened out with a good old laugh. My Dad often calls her his nutty wife and loves her for it. He wouldn't have her change for anything.

I'm another teen who thinks her nutty mother is the greatest. If more kids appreciated their parents as humans, and lots of fun, there would be a lot less trouble in the world.—SUE.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

How Child Center Works

There's Purpose In Keeping Preschool Program Open

By PAT PERRY

One little girl and two brothers sat quietly eating canned beef stew from paper plates, earnestly watched by three teachers, and a county schools administrator.

The boys' mother had gone to Fairchild Semiconductor factory for a job interview, hopeful that at last she could get off the welfare rolls while her sons were in safe keeping.

And that, in essence, is the reason officials have struggled and connived to keep the child care center and preschool program at Novato going, despite cutbacks and delays in funding and lease arrangements.

LEASED ROOMS

Operating in leased rooms at St. Francis Episcopal Church, Fifth and Grant avenues, the child center started a week ago. The three children eating beef stew are, so far, the only ones enrolled for all-day care, although there's room for 48. There are already 42 in morning and afternoon pre-school programs.

"Parents who indicated an interest when the program was first proposed have found other solutions, during the long delay in getting going," explained director William Perry. "Now we have to start recruiting again."

Criteria for getting children into the center aren't so rigid as those for the pre-school program. In fact, a single mother or father can earn almost an unlimited amount and only pay the maximum fee of 42 cents an hour. Fees are scaled according to the ability to pay, right down to two cents an hour, with an average rate around 14 cents.

Two-parent families can earn up to $508 a month and be eligible with one child, an extra $66 for each additional child.

The pre-school program is an extension of the summer Head Start concept, designed to offer cultural and environmental enrichment for pre-schoolers from disadvantaged homes.

NO U.S. FUNDS

Originally written to qualify for Economic Opportunity Act funds, the projects were handicapped when expected federal funds didn't materialize. There's sufficient money promised now to run the county's programs until June, including the Novato center and the program at Manzanita School in Marin City.

To qualify for the pre-school programs, stringent criteria apply, since state funds are financing it. Children must come from families already receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (welfare) payments, or from homes where English is not the primary language.

To start this second week of operation at Novato there were 22 3, 4, and 5 year olds in the morning program from 9 to noon, 20 in the afternoon, all being bussed in from the San Rafael area.

In the Children's Center in operation at Manzanita School for Southern Marin children, there are 80 enrolled of whom 30 are children who aren't old enough to go to school, so they get the nursery school program too.

BIGGEST PROBLEM

Perry said the biggest problem encountered — apart from the uncertainty of forthcoming funds — was finding a site. After a series of letdowns, the county two weeks ago signed an 18-month lease for the handsome series of classrooms, kitchen and restrooms at the Episcopal Church on Fifth and Grant avenues, in effect guaranteeing to pay $700 a month rent.

It is, undeniably, very expensive child care and nursery school at present. Three fulltime teachers are paid $440, $536 and $440 a month each. It's difficult to figure a per-child cost, but the state of California has committed a maximum of $36,377 for the compensatory education faction—pre-school, while an additional $47,000 has been budgeted by the state and county of Marin, plus parent fees, to keep the program child center going county-wide until the end of June.

It would be fair, said Perry, to divide the 42 children going to Novato pre-school into the $36,377 total. This figures at $866 per child — or $144 a month for nursery school, going down to $100 a month if the projected 60 children enroll.

Wouldn't it be cheaper to pay for the children to go to established nursery schools? This is not the intent or purpose of programs for disadvantaged children, explained Perry. Existing nursery schools all have waiting lists too, he said.

The all-day child care — from 7:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. — is a bargain for parents, he contended, since Marin County babysitting rates start at $25 a week for one child, while the highest rate in the child care centers is 42 cents an hour.

EAGER PUPILS—Taken to the Novato pre-school program by bus, from the San Rafael area, 20 children attend afternoon classes in the project for culturally deprived children.

Novato Junior Chamber Again To Seek Opinions Of The City

Residents of Novato will have a chance to voice their opinions on the city in general and its various units in a third annual survey by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, starting Monday.

More than 40 questions are on a list to be delivered to residents between 7 and 9 P.M., starting Monday, and picked up during the same hours on Jan. 25 and 26.

In the previous two surveys, the answers were given the officials. Some major projects resulted. The Jaycees hope this survey will prove as helpful.

As in the preceding ones, the city government will come in for most of the questions on this survey.

Some of the questions deal with general satisfaction with the city council, acquiring a larger site for a civic center, rating of city services, whether the city should continue annexations, how much progress has the city made since incorporation, whether the city should hire special consultants, and where it should spend its resources.

Citizens are asked to rate the police department on size and quality.

Other questions ask opinions about adding a second municipal pool, additional neighborhood parks, a recreation center, a major park, or a municipal golf course. Others ask if the city should continue the after-school recreational program, buy and maintain small neighborhood parks and play areas, and what are the needs for family or adult recreation.

Flouridation of water is again on the questionaire. It was approved by a majority answering a previous questionnaire, but has never been started.

Another question asks whether all taxing agencies should be consolidated.

There are questions as to whether people are satisfied with street maintenance, whether school buses be used for recreational purposes, and what adult school courses are wanted.

The downtown business district is the object of several questions about the types of stores which should be encouraged, what goods are not available in Novato, and the general appearance of the downtown shopping area.

General questions concern rating the city for friendliness, what type of industry should be encouraged, extension of rapid transit to Novato, parking in downtown Novato, the libarary facilties and the county airport facilities. One page is provided to make personal observations.

The questionnaire opens with several personal questions on the age of the person, family, home ownership, etc.

Petitions On Abortion Laws

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Four women carried petitions to the Capitol asking for liberalized abortion laws but were told by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-Atherton, that "it's not so simple."

The women from San Mateo and Santa Clara counties said yesterday they had 8,000 signatures from persons supporting laws that would let doctors perform abortions if the child might be born deformed or if the mother was the victim of rape or incest.

Present law permits abortions only if the mother's life is in danger.

Anti-Obscenity Bills Readied

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two anti-obscenity proposals by Republican Gov. Reagan's administration plus a third bill to give courts "wider latitude" in defining obscenity were prepared for introduction today in the Senate.

A proposal by Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, would delete the words, "without redeeming social significance," from the California obscenity laws.

The governor's bills, sponsored by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, would prohibit "sale of harmful matter" to persons under 18. Lagomarsino, R - Ojai, said the measures would also permit materials to be judged more strictly if it appeared to be directed toward youth or if it were sold chiefly for its "prurient appeal."

Secularizing School Proposed

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — The president of the University of Notre Dame said today it is "inevitable" the priests who have run the school for 124 years should relinquish part of their control.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh outlined a proposal to "secularize" top-level administration of Notre Dame, which has earned the reputation as being one of, if not the foremost Roman Catholic university in the United States.

In a 4,000-word letter to the "members of the Notre Dame family," Father Hesburgh formally acknowledged behind the scene discussions aimed at reorganizing Notre Dame's legal administration to include an equal number of lay persons on the school's board of trustees.

Redwood High Shows Sister City Culture

The Redwood High School library is exhibiting a collection of paintings, sketches and photographs from Redwood's sister school in Preetz, Germany, as part of an art exchange with that school.

The exchange was initiated by Redwood language teacher Robert Mautner three years ago, under which Redwood students send selections of their art work to Preetz. The exhibit will be set up for several weeks, after which it will be returned to Germany.

Telegram Urges No U.C. Tuition

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A group of Democratic assemblyman say tuition shouldn't be imposed on University of California students by the regents, meeting today at Berkeley.

The 16 legislators sent a telegram yesterday to Theodore Meyer of San Francisco, regents chairman. The group's spokesman, Assemblyman John L. Burton, D - San Francisco, said George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, was among the signers of the telegram.

BEAUTIFUL BRIDEGROOM: WHY, IT'S GOLDEN BOY!

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — Traditionally brides are beautiful, but here was the bridegroom telling the assembled guests: "I feel beautiful."

Paul Hornung, the "Golden Boy" of pro football's Green Bay Packers, was married yesterday to Patricia Roeder, of Green Bay, Wis. The ceremony was performed in the Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd by the Rt. Rev. Daniel F. Sullivan.

Hornung, 31, considered a fast man in night life circles, told the guests, "Everyone was nervous but me."

The veteran halfback, a graduate of Notre Dame and twice voted the National Football League's outstanding player, and his 28-year-old bride will honeymoon in Hawaii.

Warriors Beaten As Rick Has His Worst Game—13

BALTIMORE (AP) — It's no secret that to stop the San Francisco Warriors, opponents must stop Rick Barry, the leading scorer in the National Basketball Assn.

It's another thing to do it, of course, or else Barry wouldn't have so many points this season and the Warriors wouldn't be in first place in the NBA's Western Division.

The Chicago Bulls, and particularly Don Fojis, put the clamps on Barry last night in Evansville Ind., and the last-place Bulls pulled out a 111-107 victory. This cut the Warriors' first-place margin to eight games over the St. Louis Hawks, whom they meet tomorrow night in San Francisco.

The Warriors play the New York Knicks tonight in Baltimore.

Barry was held by the Bulls to 13 points, his lowest total of the season but he nearly won the game, anyway.

He hit a field goal that closed the gap to 109-107, but Jim King then missed a field goal attempt that would have tied it before Keith Erickson sewed it up for the Bulls with two free throws.

Nate Thurmond of the Warriors led all with 27 points and 26 rebounds. Jim Washington paced a balanced Bulls attack with 19 points.

SHORTS TOO SHORT FOR THE CRUSTY OLD DEARS

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Male athletes will have to watch how they dress in future—someone's been complaining about their too-short shorts.

The women's committee of the West Australia Amateur Athletic Assn. has sent a protest letter to the men's committee objecting to shorts with cutaway legs and narrow sides.

But the question everybody is asking is: Who exactly complained?

"Probably just one or two crusty old dears," believes Commonwealth Games long jumper Phil May, 22, who confessed to being an offender.

"I don't think younger girls mind in the least.

"Many foreign athletes wear skimpier shorts than mine—especially the girls."

'Spyglass' Holds Secrets To Pro, Amateur Golf Treasure

PEBBLE BEACH — Bing Crosby believes Spyglass Hill, the sixth and newest of Monterey Peninsula's beautiful golf courses, holds the secret to the treasure pro and amateur golfers are seeking in his 26th annual clambake this weekend.

HANLEY

If Robert Louis Stevenson still were around to revisit Del Monte Forest he undoubtedly would concur because, as schoolboys know, the Spyglass Hill of his first novel was a strategic landmark on Treasure Island.

WHETHER IT be a treasure hunt for golf or pirate loot, an absolutely fascinating name like Spyglass Hill imparts real zest to the search. In name alone Spyglass has become as famous since its christening last March 11 as the majestic Pebble Beach and Cypress Point courses.

Intriguing names also have been bestowed on Spyglass' individual holes that wind through seaside pines and dunes. The first hole is most appropriately named Treasure Island because it is a green island in the sand. Long John Silver, Jim Hawkins and Billy Bones, all famed characters of Stevenson's book, lend their names to other holes.

IT'S DOUBTFUL, however, whether any of them ever will achieve the worldwide fame of Cypress Point's unique par 3 16th hole or Pebble Beach's magnificent par 5 18th, a truly breath-taking finisher with or without weather.

If the winds are up this weekend, Spyglass won't be a match for Pebble which is as perverse as a shrew in weather. Only the first five holes of Spyglass are exposed. From the sixth on golfers, regardless of whether they hit from the short, middle or long tees, are protected by the pines.

PEBBLE, IN CONTRAST, starts innocently with protected holes but from the sixth on it gets rugged if the Pacific surf is pounding and the winds howling. Pebble's No. 7 is a harmless looking 110-yard par 3 yet Lawson Little swears he once had to smash a No. 3 iron with everything he had to reach the green.

Pebble's No. 17, a par 3 218-yarder, exacted a toll of nine strokes from the great Arnold Palmer a few years back. Of course, Cypress Point's 16th, with its windswept scenery and 200-yard chasm carry over the Pacific, always will be the single-hole casualty champ of the Crosby.

SUBSTITUTION OF Spyglass for Monterey Peninsula Country Club as the third course in the Crosby definitely adds spice to this year's clambake. However, it still remains to be seen whether Spyglass holds the key to tournament riches.

CROSBY, NO johnny-come-lately with a golf stick or novice in evaluating golf courses, readily acknowledges Spyglass must bow to Pebble if the weather kicks up. But this does not in any way detract from his profound admiration for Spyglass.

Crosby's judgment of any golf course must be respected. After all, he is one of only two golfers who ever aced Cypress' 16th even though Bob Hope insists he did it with his eyes closed.

New Grid Rules Ban Gadgetry

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — More kicking, less electronic gadgetry and a little more actual playing time — that's what college football rules makers hope will develop from changes they've adopted.

The Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. decided yesterday to put the foot back in football and to outlaw electronic scouting devices, especially instant video-tape replays.

The fans will be getting more football for their money under a new rule which stops the clock when the ball changes hands until it is put into play by the defensive team.

"This should add about two minutes of actual playing time to the game," said Dave Nelson, head coach at the University of Delaware.

Committee Chairman Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan athletic director, said it was decided "there have been too many fair catches on kicks from scrimmage and it's the unanimous feeling that this should change."

HOLD THAT LINE

Interior linemen on the kicking team will now have to hold their positions until the ball is kicked, thus allowing the player receiving the punt about two additional seconds.

Crisler said most teams employ a nine-man spread on the line and place their punter 15 yards back, giving linemen an excellent chance to converge on the kick receiver to smother any runback.

Nelson said, "This will bring back the short or quick kick and open up a host of offensive variations."

Crisler said the rule should help develop new offensive strategy because "it brings kicking back into the game by holding the five interior lineman at the line of scrimmage."

In banning electronic scouting equipment during games, Crisler said economics was a big factor, but that keeping football philosophy from developing into a "push button type of thing" was also a major concern.

All electronic scouting gear will be prohibited during games, and specific mention was made of video-tape replays which could be flashed back to the coaches.

GREAT TEMPTATION

The committee agreed that many teams, both on college and junior college levels, won't be able to afford the electronic devices, but the temptation will be great to do so.

Most coaches agreed that it would mean the addition of at least one more member to their staffs to operate the equipment.

Most of the 15 rules changes agreed to during the three-day meeting involved clarifications of existing regulations.

Rather than ban the tackle-eligible play as proposed by a coaches subcommittee, the rule was modified to prohibit the offensive team from flanking any player, back or lineman, outside the eligible tackle.

A new rule allows coaches to confer with one player during any charged timeout.

A team which takes possession of the ball either by punt, fumble or intercepted pass won't have to give up the ball should it have a penalty called against on the same play. The team will also retain possession if there are offsetting penalties on the same play.

It was agreed to appoint a committee of college coaches to work with a similar group of high school coaches to draw up a common code of ethics which apply to both levels of competition.

Crosby Golf Tougher By Four Strokes

Addition Of Spyglass Favors Long Hitters

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH (AP) —"Addition of the Spyglass Hill golf course will make Bing Crosby's tournament easier for a long ball hitter to win," declared powerful Jack Nicklaus as the firing started today.

"It will also make scores average four strokes higher than in the past," he added before the 336 golfers swung into action.

Winner of the Masters the past two years, Nicklaus won a little wager yesterday as he toured the par 36 - 36 Spyglass Hill course in two-under 70.

Sponsor Crosby had bet $5 that Nicklaus couldn't better the regulation figures. He should have bet Arnold Palmer who arded 74 while playing with Nicklaus.

Or Billy Casper, the United States Open king, who had a 77 for his practice session at Spyglass. While neither Nicklaus or Palmer has won the Crosby,the title twice has gone to Casper, in 1958 and 1963, the first time with a record 277 for 72 holes.

Under the format of Crosby's 26th annual pro-am tournament, each pro teams with an amateur and each duo plays once each over Cypress Point, Pebble Beach and Spyglass Hill during the first three days. Low scorers contest the finals Sunday at Pebble.

This year the new Spyglass replaces the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, a par-71 layout in Crosby's triumverate. Today, Palmer was at Spyglass, Nicklaus at Pebble Beach and Casper at Cypress Point.

IT'S ROUGH

Pros have criticized Spyglass as rough both on fairway and green. Nicklaus says, "in a couple of years and with a few minor changes, this will be a fine golf course. Still, if you take three courses on this Monterey Peninsula to play a tournament this course must be one of the three."

Tees on Spyglass will be at the championship spots, probably as far back as possible, so the course will measure 6,972 yards.

Pebble Beach goes 6,747 and Cypress Point 6,333, each playing to par 72 and all three having holes located along the Pacific Ocean beach where winds can play havoc with golf shots.

Veteran Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., said Spyglass reminded him of eastern courses and added, "it's a tough course and there isn't much grass on the greens. But I suspect the scores will be relatively good. I don't think the high scores will be on this course."

Palmer figured a score of 285 to 288 would be very good at the conclusion of play Sunday. A year ago, Don Massengale of Jacksboro, Tex., surprised everyone by winning with a 283 for usually it has been the veteran pro who wins the Crosby.

Palmer also believes the inclusion of Spyglass will send the pro-am scores higher. While the winning pro collects $16,000, the pro on the winning team gets $2,700. Arnie doesn't feel the amateurs, even with their handicaps counting in the scoring, can help too much at Spyglass.

Two well-known amateurs had trouble with Spyglass Hill.

Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers' retired southpaw pitching ace, commented, "This course wasn't made for left-handers. It's more for right-handers who hit hooks."

Singer Dean Martin, who also plays in the tournament, declared, "The whole course should be declared an unplayable lie."

Weather ranging from warm sunshine to snow always plays a big part in this golf tournament. Forecasts were for fair weather.

OAKLAND AMONG EIGHT TEAMS

New Pro Cage League Says Wilt Has Signed Contract

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — Sportsmen representing eight cities meet again today to continue formulation of a new professional basketball league.

The prospective owners convened yesterday, but no details were announced. A source said any announcement is likely to come tomorrow from Professional Sports Management in New York, the company backing the league.

The Los Angeles Herald-Examiner said groups from eight cities have paid $50,000 each toward financing franchises for the American Basketball Assn.

The eight cities hoping to join the ABA are Anaheim, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Oakland, Houston, Dallas, Louisville, and New York.

The owners were shown a $250,000 contract signed by Wilt Chamberlain, star of the Philadelphia 76ers in the flourishing National Basketball Assn., the Herald-Examiner said. But in Philadelphia, Chamberlain neither confirmed nor denied the report.

The New York World Journal Telegram said the new league may begin play next year in at least 10 cities and would raid the NBA for players.

A source close to the new league said that among those being considered for commissioner are George Mikan, former star with the NBA's Minneapolis Lakers, and retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay.

Goose Tatum, Basketball's Clown Prince, Dies At 45

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Goose Tatum once said, "I'll keep playing until the people stop laughing."

After nearly 20 years, basketball fans around the world had a reason to stop laughing yesterday when Goose, the "clown prince of basketball," died unexpectedly at his home.

Tatum, 45, a former member of the zany Harlem Globetrotters, had battled a chronic liver ailment for the past two years.

Characteristically, Tatum was planning to fly to Dallas where the Harlem Road Kings were scheduled to play a "Goose Tatum Day" benefit game Saturday night. Goose formed the Road Kings several years ago when he split away from the Globetrotters.

Tatum was planning to disobey doctor's orders to rest six months because there were people in Dallas, just as there are everywhere, who needed to laugh.

"I couldn't let all those people down by not being there," he said. "I'll even play some."

The game will still be played as a benefit to the Goose.

Marquis Haynes, who was billed as the world's greatest dribbler when he was a teammate of Tatum's on the Globetrotters, will be at the game along with Sugarfoot Johnson and many of Tatum's old friends on the Globetrotters.

Haynes plans to take a night off from his own team, the Harlem Magicians, to fly to Dallas and sub for Tatum in the game.

Funeral services were scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow with private services at the Fort Bliss National Cemetery. Tatum served in the Army from 1942 to 1945.

Li'l League Meeting

The first 1967 meeting of the Larkspur - Corte Madera Twin Cities Little League board of directors will be held today at 8:30 p.m. at the Corte Madera firehouse. The public is invited to attend.

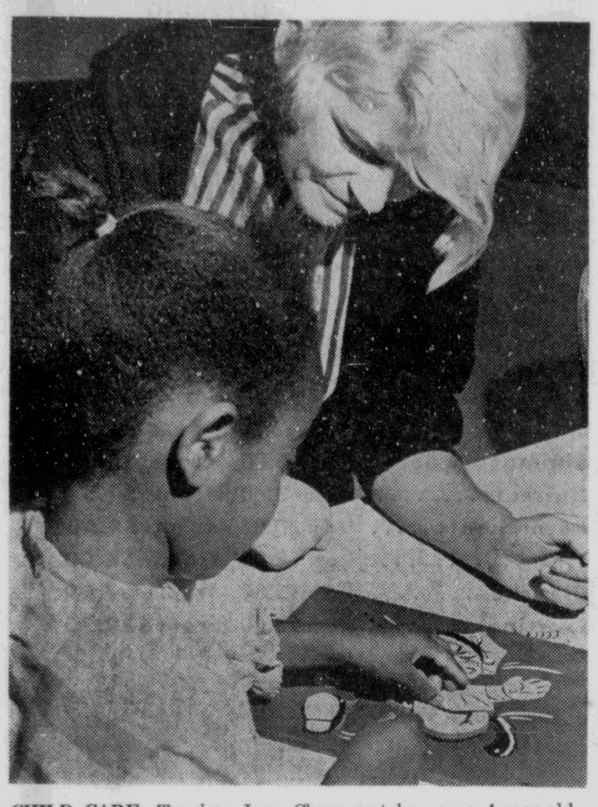
There's Purpose In Keeping Preschool Program Open

By PAT PERRY



CHILD CARE—Teacher Joan Chase watches as a 4-year-old girl, one of the first to be enrolled for all-day care, works a puzzle at the Novato child center. She comes from a broken home and her mother works.

One little girl and two brothers sat quietly eating canned beef stew from paper plates, earnestly watched by three teachers, and a county schools administrator.

The boys' mother had gone to Fairchild Semiconductor factory for a job interview, hopeful that at last she could get off the welfare rolls while her sons were in safe keeping.

And that, in essence, is the reason officials have struggled and connived to keep the child care center and preschool program at Novato going, despite cutbacks and delays in funding and lease arrangements.

LEASED ROOMS

Operating in leased rooms at St. Francis Episcopal Church, Fifth and Grant avenues, the child center started a week ago. The three children eating beef stew are, so far, the only ones enrolled for all-day care, although there's room for 48. There are already 42 in morning and afternoon pre-school programs.

"Parents who indicated an interest when the program was first proposed have found other solutions, during the long delay in getting going," explained director William Perry. "Now we have to start recruiting again."

Criteria for getting children into the center aren't so rigid as those for the pre-school program. In fact, a single mother or father can earn almost an unlimited amount and only pay the maximum fee of 42 cents an hour. Fees are scaled according to the ability to pay, right down to two cents an hour, with an average rate around 14 cents.

Two-parent families can earn up to $508 a month and be eligible with one child, an extra $66 for each additional child.

The pre-school program is an extension of the summer Head Start concept, designed to offer cultural and environmental enrichment for pre-schoolers from disadvantaged homes.

NO U.S. FUNDS

Originally written to qualify for Economic Opportunity Act funds, the projects were handicapped when expected federal funds didn't materialize. There's sufficient money promised now to run the county's programs until June, including the Novato center and the program at Manzanita School in Marin City.

To qualify for the pre-school programs, stringent criteria apply, since state funds are financing it. Children must come from families already receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (welfare) payments, or from homes where English is not the primary language.

To start this second week of operation at Novato there were 22 3, 4, and 5 year olds in the morning program from 9 to noon, 20 in the afternoon, all being bussed in from the San Rafael area.

In the Children's Center in operation at Manzanita School for Southern Marin children, there are 80 enrolled of whom 30 are children who aren't old enough to go to school, so they get the nursery school program too.

BIGGEST PROBLEM

Perry said the biggest problem encountered — apart from the uncertainty of forthcoming funds — was finding a site. After a series of letdowns, the county two weeks ago signed an 18-month lease for the handsome series of classrooms, kitchen and restrooms at the Episcopal Church on Fifth and Grant avenues, in effect guaranteeing to pay $700 a month rent.

It is, undeniably, very expensive child care and nursery school at present. Three fulltime teachers are paid $440, $536 and $440 a month each. It's difficult to figure a per-child cost, but the state of California has committed a maximum of $36,377 for the compensatory education faction—pre-school, while an additional $47,000 has been budgeted by the state and county of Marin, plus parent fees, to keep the program child center going county-wide until the end of June.

It would be fair, said Perry, to divide the 42 children going to Novato pre-school into the $36,377 total. This figures at $866 per child — or $144 a month for nursery school, going down to $100 a month if the projected 60 children enroll.

Wouldn't it be cheaper to pay for the children to go to established nursery schools? This is not the intent or purpose of programs for disadvantaged children, explained Perry. Existing nursery schools all have waiting lists too, he said.

The all-day child care — from 7:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. — is a bargain for parents, he contended, since Marin County babysitting rates start at $25 a week for one child, while the highest rate in the child care centers is 42 cents an hour.

EAGER PUPILS—Taken to the Novato pre-school program by bus, from the San Rafael area, 20 children attend afternoon classes in the project for culturally deprived children.

Anti-Obscenity Bills Readied

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two anti-obscenity proposals by Republican Gov. Reagan's administration plus a third bill to give courts "wider latitude" in defining obscenity were prepared for introduction today in the Senate.

A proposal by Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, would delete the words, "without redeeming social significance," from the California obscenity laws.

The governor's bills, sponsored by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, would prohibit "sale of harmful matter" to persons under 18. Lagomarsino, R - Ojai, said the measures would also permit materials to be judged more strictly if it appeared to be directed toward youth or if it were sold chiefly for its "prurient appeal."

Secularizing School Proposed

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — The president of the University of Notre Dame said today it is "inevitable" the priests who have run the school for 124 years should relinquish part of their control.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh outlined a proposal to "secularize" top-level administration of Notre Dame, which has earned the reputation as being one of, if not the foremost Roman Catholic university in the United States.

In a 4,000-word letter to the "members of the Notre Dame family," Father Hesburgh formally acknowledged behind the scene discussions aimed at reorganizing Notre Dame's legal administration to include an equal number of lay persons on the school's board of trustees.

Redwood High Shows Sister City Culture

The Redwood High School library is exhibiting a collection of paintings, sketches and photographs from Redwood's sister school in Preetz, Germany, as part of an art exchange with that school.

The exchange was initiated by Redwood language teacher Robert Mautner three years ago, under which Redwood students send selections of their art work to Preetz. The exhibit will be set up for several weeks, after which it will be returned to Germany.

Telegram Urges No U.C. Tuition

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A group of Democratic assemblyman say tuition shouldn't be imposed on University of California students by the regents, meeting today at Berkeley.

The 16 legislators sent a telegram yesterday to Theodore Meyer of San Francisco, regents chairman. The group's spokesman, Assemblyman John L. Burton, D - San Francisco, said George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, was among the signers of the telegram.

Drunken Driving

Ambrose Daniel Chico, 31, of 1251 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, was fined $174 and placed on six months probation yeaterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. Fairfax police arrested him Jan. 6 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Novato Junior Chamber Again To Seek Opinions Of The City

Residents of Novato will have a chance to voice their opinions on the city in general and its various units in a third annual survey by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, starting Monday.

More than 40 questions are on a list to be delivered to residents between 7 and 9 P.M., starting Monday, and picked up during the same hours on Jan. 25 and 26.

In the previous two surveys, the answers were given the officials. Some major projects resulted. The Jaycees hope this survey will prove as helpful.

As in the preceding ones, the city government will come in for most of the questions on this survey.

Some of the questions deal with general satisfaction with the city council, acquiring a larger site for a civic center, rating of city services, whether the city should continue annexations, how much progress has the city made since incorporation, whether the city should hire special consultants, and where it should spend its resources.

Citizens are asked to rate the police department on size and quality.

Other questions ask opinions about adding a second municipal pool, additional neighborhood parks, a recreation center, a major park, or a municipal golf course. Others ask if the city should continue the after-school recreational program, buy and maintain small neighborhood parks and play areas, and what are the needs for family or adult recreation.

Flouridation of water is again on the questionaire. It was approved by a majority answering a previous questionnaire, but has never been started.

Another question asks whether all taxing agencies should be consolidated.

There are questions as to whether people are satisfied with street maintenance, whether school buses be used for recreational purposes, and what adult school courses are wanted.

The downtown business district is the object of several questions about the types of stores which should be encouraged, what goods are not available in Novato, and the general appearance of the downtown shopping area.

General questions concern rating the city for friendliness, what type of industry should be encouraged, extension of rapid transit to Novato, parking in downtown Novato, the libarary facilties and the county airport facilities. One page is provided to make personal observations.

The questionnaire opens with several personal questions on the age of the person, family, home ownership, etc.

Petitions On Abortion Laws

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Four women carried petitions to the Capitol asking for liberalized abortion laws but were told by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-Atherton, that "it's not so simple."

The women from San Mateo and Santa Clara counties said yesterday they had 8,000 signatures from persons supporting laws that would let doctors perform abortions if the child might be born deformed or if the mother was the victim of rape or incest.

Present law permits abortions only if the mother's life is in danger.

Terrell Mad: Clay Gets All The Ink

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ernie Terrell may announce today whether or not he is satisfied with efforts by promoters to settle his complaints about pre-fight promotion of his Feb. 6 fight with Cassius Clay.

Terrell, the World Boxing Assn. champion, complained earlier this week that promoters failed to give him equal billing with Clay, the concensus heavyweight champion, on signs and billboards advertising the fight. Terrell threatened to pull out of the fight.

Both Terrell and his manager met yesterday with officials of Astrodome Championship Enterprises, the promoting group, in an effort to work out Terrell's complaints.

"We realize the tremendous pride that Ernie has, and we will try to see that he gets the recognition he so richly deserves," said Fred Hofheinz, president of the promoting group.

Terrell had complained that some signs had only a picture of Clay and that Clay's name on many of the signs was in much larger lettering.

Bill Giles, vice president and director of public relations for the Astrodome, site of the fight, said Hamid was told the promoting group was willing to change some of the signs and give definite equal billing to Terrell in all future materials used for promotion of the fight.

"We can't change many of the signs but we will have new ones made," Giles said. "The new ones will have pictures of both fighters or no pictures whatsoever."

Meanwhile, Zora Folley, who hopes to be the next challenger for the title regardless of whether Clay or Terrell is the winner, has predicted that Terrell will have to win a decision if he expects to defeat Clay, or Muhammad Ali, as Clay prefers to be known.

Folley, the No. 2 ranked heavyweight from Chandler, Ariz., scored a first round knockout over Floyd Joyner of San Francisco here Tuesday night as both Clay and Terrell watched from ringside.

"I don't believe Terrell will knock Ali out," Folley said.

"He could outpoint him with that terrific left hand, but I really feel as if Ali will win in nine to 12 rounds.

"I really don't care who wins, as I think I can beat either of them. Terrell is the best fighter I have faced and I lost a close decision to him four years ago."

Both Terrell and Clay were to work out today at the exhibition hall adjacent to the Astrodome.

PRO BOWL

Interest In NFL Game Is Normal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The 17th annual Pro Bowl seems to be attracting a normal amount of interest from football fans despite the drain-off of dollars in the Super Bowl game.

Sponsors of the Pro Bowl, which pits all-stars from the NFL Western Conference against the same caliber guys from the Eastern Conference, were admittedly worried when the Memorial Coliseum was chosen for the super-dooper between Green Bay and Kansas City.

That game drew 63,000—about 30,000 short of capacity at the Coliseum—but prices were high —$12, $10, and $6.

The Pro Bowl is scaled at $5.50, $4 and $3 and the advance sale has caused sponsors to predict a respectable gathering of about 50,000 Sunday.

Of course they might not all be paid. Net proceeds go to the benefit of boys' clubs in this area and the kids get a break at the gate too. All they have to do is find a $3 adult ticket-buyer.

The adult can take in the gate five kids under 12 free.

The West—a name that has no geographical significance—leads in the series, 0-6.

This year the Westerners, coached by George Allen of the Rams, are favored by eight points, but that doesn't have to mean a thing. The East was the underdog last year but came out on top, 36-7 when fullback Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns scored three touchdowns.

Alcindor Regains No. 1 Spot

NEW YORK (AP) —Lew Alcindor of UCLA regained the scoring lead, but Westley Unseld of Louisville, another top-rated center, lost his rebound lead, this week's National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics showed today.

Alcindor collected 91 points in three games last week to bring his average to 29.8 points a game, overtaking Jim Walker of Providence. Walker, who had led for two weeks, scored 41 points in two contests and now averages 29.5.

Dick Cunningham of Murray State recovered 112 rebounds in four games last week and replaced Unseld, the season-long leader. Cunningham has averaged 22.3 rebounds a game to 21.7 for Unseld. Alcindo was seventh at 16.0.

Bob Lloyd of Rutgers, who ranks third in scoring with a 29.3 average, tops the free throw percentage leaders at 94.3 per cent. Alcindor is the field goal percentage leader at 67.9 per cent.

Northwestern and Memphis State retained their leadership as the nation's top offensive and defensive teams. Northwestern has averaged 96.7 points a game and Memphis State has allowed only 50.2 per contest. UCLA is only .9 of a point behind Northwestern, but Memphis State enjoys almost a six-point lead over Tennessee.

Barney Ross Died Undefeated Champ

CHICAGO (AP) — The great and the small, the old and the young, people of all faiths and races will begin saying the last goodby to Barney Ross tonight.

Visitations at the chapel where his body lay in state were to be for three hours. Funeral services will be tomorrow with burial in Chicago's Rosemont Park Cemetery.

Barney Ross, 57, lost his last fight to throat cancer yesterday.

He had never known the meaning of defeat in his battles as a boxer, a Marine and against narcotics.

He won the lightweight, junior welterweight and welterweight boxing titles in the 1930s. He won the silver star for gallantry in action on Guadalcanal in 1942.

He won over the dope habit—which he had picked up fighting off the pains of malaria as a patient in the A.S. Public Health Service Hospital, Lexington, Ky., in 1946.

Barney told the world how he conquered narcotics. A movie was made of his career as a boxer, a marine and an addict. And after that he worked in management relations, in business and as a speaker, telling how he got the monkey off his back.

"I spent $250,000 for drugs in fours years," he once said. "I beat the habit because I wanted to, because it was that or the end."

Ira Colitz, a Chicago furnitureman, remained Barney's closest friend until the end. They had been pals since boyhoods days on Chicago's west side ghetto.

"I took Barney to the Veterans Research Hospital in an ambulance last Friday," said Colitz. "He had been going there for treatments for almost a year. He looked up at me this time and asked: 'Is this the last round, Ira?'

"It turned out that it was."

OAKLAND (AP) — Two teams will furnish 18 of the 22 Western Division starters Saturday in the sixth annual American Football League All Star Game, at Oakland Coliseum.

This was disclosed yesterday with the release of the starting lineups for both the Western and Eastern squads, after the daily workouts.

Kansas City, which went on to win the AFL title, will contribute 10 of its 12 All Star participants to the starting lineups. Oakland, which also has 12 players in the game, will have eight starters.

All three Kansas City linebackers will start, head coach John Rauch of Oakland said.

BEAUTIFUL BRIDEGROOM: WHY, IT'S GOLDEN BOY!

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — Traditionally brides are beautiful, but here was the bridegroom telling the assembled guests: "I feel beautiful."

Paul Hornung, the "Golden Boy" of pro football's Green Bay Packers, was married yesterday to Patricia Roeder, of Green Bay, Wis. The ceremony was performed in the Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd by the Rt. Rev. Daniel F. Sullivan.

Hornung, 31, considered a fast man in night life circles, told the guests, "Everyone was nervous but me."

The veteran halfback, a graduate of Notre Dame and twice voted the National Football League's outstanding player, and his 28-year-old bride will honeymoon in Hawaii.

Warriors Beaten As Rick Has His Worst Game—13

BALTIMORE (AP) — It's no secret that to stop the San Francisco Warriors, opponents must stop Rick Barry, the leading scorer in the National Basketball Assn.

It's another thing to do it, of course, or else Barry wouldn't have so many points this season and the Warriors wouldn't be in first place in the NBA's Western Division.

The Chicago Bulls, and particularly Don Fojis, put the clamps on Barry last night in Evansville Ind., and the last-place Bulls pulled out a 111-107 victory. This cut the Warriors' first-place margin to eight games over the St. Louis Hawks, whom they meet tomorrow night in San Francisco.

The Warriors play the New York Knicks tonight in Baltimore.

Barry was held by the Bulls to 13 points, his lowest total of the season but he nearly won the game, anyway.

He hit a field goal that closed the gap to 109-107, but Jim King then missed a field goal attempt that would have tied it before Keith Erickson sewed it up for the Bulls with two free throws.

Nate Thurmond of the Warriors led all with 27 points and 26 rebounds. Jim Washington paced a balanced Bulls attack with 19 points.

SHORTS TOO SHORT FOR THE CRUSTY OLD DEARS

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Male athletes will have to watch how they dress in future—someone's been complaining about their too-short shorts.

The women's committee of the West Australia Amateur Athletic Assn. has sent a protest letter to the men's committee objecting to shorts with cutaway legs and narrow sides.

But the question everybody is asking is: Who exactly complained?

"Probably just one or two crusty old dears," believes Commonwealth Games long jumper Phil May, 22, who confessed to being an offender.

"I don't think younger girls mind in the least.

"Many foreign athletes wear skimpier shorts than mine—especially the girls."

'Spyglass' Holds Secrets To Pro, Amateur Golf Treasure

PEBBLE BEACH — Bing Crosby believes Spyglass Hill, the sixth and newest of Monterey Peninsula's beautiful golf courses, holds the secret to the treasure pro and amateur golfers are seeking in his 26th annual clambake this weekend.

HANLEY

If Robert Louis Stevenson still were around to revisit Del Monte Forest he undoubtedly would concur because, as schoolboys know, the Spyglass Hill of his first novel was a strategic landmark on Treasure Island.

WHETHER IT be a treasure hunt for golf or pirate loot, an absolutely fascinating name like Spyglass Hill imparts real zest to the search. In name alone Spyglass has become as famous since its christening last March 11 as the majestic Pebble Beach and Cypress Point courses.

Intriguing names also have been bestowed on Spyglass' individual holes that wind through seaside pines and dunes. The first hole is most appropriately named Treasure Island because it is a green island in the sand. Long John Silver, Jim Hawkins and Billy Bones, all famed characters of Stevenson's book, lend their names to other holes.

IT'S DOUBTFUL, however, whether any of them ever will achieve the worldwide fame of Cypress Point's unique par 3 16th hole or Pebble Beach's magnificent par 5 18th, a truly breath-taking finisher with or without weather.

If the winds are up this weekend, Spyglass won't be a match for Pebble which is as perverse as a shrew in weather. Only the first five holes of Spyglass are exposed. From the sixth on golfers, regardless of whether they hit from the short, middle or long tees, are protected by the pines.

PEBBLE, IN CONTRAST, starts innocently with protected holes but from the sixth on it gets rugged if the Pacific surf is pounding and the winds howling. Pebble's No. 7 is a harmless looking 110-yard par 3 yet Lawson Little swears he once had to smash a No. 3 iron with everything he had to reach the green.

Pebble's No. 17, a par 3 218-yarder, exacted a toll of nine strokes from the great Arnold Palmer a few years back. Of course, Cypress Point's 16th, with its windswept scenery and 200-yard chasm carry over the Pacific, always will be the single-hole casualty champ of the Crosby.

SUBSTITUTION OF Spyglass for Monterey Peninsula Country Club as the third course in the Crosby definitely adds spice to this year's clambake. However, it still remains to be seen whether Spyglass holds the key to tournament riches.

CROSBY, NO johnny-come-lately with a golf stick or novice in evaluating golf courses, readily acknowledges Spyglass must bow to Pebble if the weather kicks up. But this does not in any way detract from his profound admiration for Spyglass.

Crosby's judgment of any golf course must be respected. After all, he is one of only two golfers who ever aced Cypress' 16th even though Bob Hope insists he did it with his eyes closed.

New Grid Rules Ban Gadgetry

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — More kicking, less electronic gadgetry and a little more actual playing time — that's what college football rules makers hope will develop from changes they've adopted.

The Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. decided yesterday to put the foot back in football and to outlaw electronic scouting devices, especially instant video-tape replays.

The fans will be getting more football for their money under a new rule which stops the clock when the ball changes hands until it is put into play by the defensive team.

"This should add about two minutes of actual playing time to the game," said Dave Nelson, head coach at the University of Delaware.

Committee Chairman Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan athletic director, said it was decided "there have been too many fair catches on kicks from scrimmage and it's the unanimous feeling that this should change."

HOLD THAT LINE

Interior linemen on the kicking team will now have to hold their positions until the ball is kicked, thus allowing the player receiving the punt about two additional seconds.

Crisler said most teams employ a nine-man spread on the line and place their punter 15 yards back, giving linemen an excellent chance to converge on the kick receiver to smother any runback.

Nelson said, "This will bring back the short or quick kick and open up a host of offensive variations."

Crisler said the rule should help develop new offensive strategy because "it brings kicking back into the game by holding the five interior lineman at the line of scrimmage."

In banning electronic scouting equipment during games, Crisler said economics was a big factor, but that keeping football philosophy from developing into a "push button type of thing" was also a major concern.

All electronic scouting gear will be prohibited during games, and specific mention was made of video-tape replays which could be flashed back to the coaches.

GREAT TEMPTATION

The committee agreed that many teams, both on college and junior college levels, won't be able to afford the electronic devices, but the temptation will be great to do so.

Most coaches agreed that it would mean the addition of at least one more member to their staffs to operate the equipment.

Most of the 15 rules changes agreed to during the three-day meeting involved clarifications of existing regulations.

Rather than ban the tackle-eligible play as proposed by a coaches subcommittee, the rule was modified to prohibit the offensive team from flanking any player, back or lineman, outside the eligible tackle.

A new rule allows coaches to confer with one player during any charged timeout.

A team which takes possession of the ball either by punt, fumble or intercepted pass won't have to give up the ball should it have a penalty called against on the same play. The team will also retain possession if there are offsetting penalties on the same play.

It was agreed to appoint a committee of college coaches to work with a similar group of high school coaches to draw up a common code of ethics which apply to both levels of competition.

Crosby Golf Tougher By Four Strokes

Addition Of Spyglass Favors Long Hitters

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH (AP) —"Addition of the Spyglass Hill golf course will make Bing Crosby's tournament easier for a long ball hitter to win," declared powerful Jack Nicklaus as the firing started today.

"It will also make scores average four strokes higher than in the past," he added before the 336 golfers swung into action.

Winner of the Masters the past two years, Nicklaus won a little wager yesterday as he toured the par 36 - 36 Spyglass Hill course in two-under 70.

Sponsor Crosby had bet $5 that Nicklaus couldn't better the regulation figures. He should have bet Arnold Palmer who arded 74 while playing with Nicklaus.

Or Billy Casper, the United States Open king, who had a 77 for his practice session at Spyglass. While neither Nicklaus or Palmer has won the Crosby,the title twice has gone to Casper, in 1958 and 1963, the first time with a record 277 for 72 holes.

Under the format of Crosby's 26th annual pro-am tournament, each pro teams with an amateur and each duo plays once each over Cypress Point, Pebble Beach and Spyglass Hill during the first three days. Low scorers contest the finals Sunday at Pebble.

This year the new Spyglass replaces the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, a par-71 layout in Crosby's triumverate. Today, Palmer was at Spyglass, Nicklaus at Pebble Beach and Casper at Cypress Point.

IT'S ROUGH

Pros have criticized Spyglass as rough both on fairway and green. Nicklaus says, "in a couple of years and with a few minor changes, this will be a fine golf course. Still, if you take three courses on this Monterey Peninsula to play a tournament this course must be one of the three."

Tees on Spyglass will be at the championship spots, probably as far back as possible, so the course will measure 6,972 yards.

Pebble Beach goes 6,747 and Cypress Point 6,333, each playing to par 72 and all three having holes located along the Pacific Ocean beach where winds can play havoc with golf shots.

Veteran Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., said Spyglass reminded him of eastern courses and added, "it's a tough course and there isn't much grass on the greens. But I suspect the scores will be relatively good. I don't think the high scores will be on this course."

Palmer figured a score of 285 to 288 would be very good at the conclusion of play Sunday. A year ago, Don Massengale of Jacksboro, Tex., surprised everyone by winning with a 283 for usually it has been the veteran pro who wins the Crosby.

Palmer also believes the inclusion of Spyglass will send the pro-am scores higher. While the winning pro collects $16,000, the pro on the winning team gets $2,700. Arnie doesn't feel the amateurs, even with their handicaps counting in the scoring, can help too much at Spyglass.

Two well-known amateurs had trouble with Spyglass Hill.

Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers' retired southpaw pitching ace, commented, "This course wasn't made for left-handers. It's more for right-handers who hit hooks."

Singer Dean Martin, who also plays in the tournament, declared, "The whole course should be declared an unplayable lie."

Weather ranging from warm sunshine to snow always plays a big part in this golf tournament. Forecasts were for fair weather.

Goose Tatum, Basketball's Clown Prince, Dies At 45

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Goose Tatum once said, "I'll keep playing until the people stop laughing."

After nearly 20 years, basketball fans around the world had a reason to stop laughing yesterday when Goose, the "clown prince of basketball," died unexpectedly at his home.

Tatum, 45, a former member of the zany Harlem Globetrotters, had battled a chronic liver ailment for the past two years.

Characteristically, Tatum was planning to fly to Dallas where the Harlem Road Kings were scheduled to play a "Goose Tatum Day" benefit game Saturday night. Goose formed the Road Kings several years ago when he split away from the Globetrotters.

Tatum was planning to disobey doctor's orders to rest six months because there were people in Dallas, just as there are everywhere, who needed to laugh.

"I couldn't let all those people down by not being there," he said. "I'll even play some."

The game will still be played as a benefit to the Goose.

Marquis Haynes, who was billed as the world's greatest dribbler when he was a teammate of Tatum's on the Globetrotters, will be at the game along with Sugarfoot Johnson and many of Tatum's old friends on the Globetrotters.

Haynes plans to take a night off from his own team, the Harlem Magicians, to fly to Dallas and sub for Tatum in the game.

Funeral services were scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow with private services at the Fort Bliss National Cemetery. Tatum served in the Army from 1942 to 1945.

New Pro Cage League Says Wilt Has Signed Contract

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — Sportsmen representing eight cities meet again today to continue formulation of a new professional basketball league.

The prospective owners convened yesterday, but no details were announced. A source said any announcement is likely to come tomorrow from Professional Sports Management in New York, the company backing the league.

The Los Angeles Herald-Examiner said groups from eight cities have paid $50,000 each toward financing franchises for the American Basketball Assn.

The eight cities hoping to join the ABA are Anaheim, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Oakland, Houston, Dallas, Louisville, and New York.

The owners were shown a $250,000 contract signed by Wilt Chamberlain, star of the Philadelphia 76ers in the flourishing National Basketball Assn., the Herald-Examiner said. But in Philadelphia, Chamberlain neither confirmed nor denied the report.

The New York World Journal Telegram said the new league may begin play next year in at least 10 cities and would raid the NBA for players.

A source close to the new league said that among those being considered for commissioner are George Mikan, former star with the NBA's Minneapolis Lakers, and retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay.

Weather Controlling Steelhead Fishing; Trout At Lake Tahoe

STEVENS

It's a vicious thing — the control that weather has over steelhead fishing. One time it's a case of too much rain that raises and muddies the various streams; another time a protracted spell of dry weather lowers the level of the streams and causes them to run too clear.

At present it is difficult for an outdoor writer to even suggest a certain area. I talked with my faithful contact at Point Arena Tuesday morning. Learned that steelheading just isn't. All streams along the coast from the Russian to the Ten Mile are much too low and much too clear for fishing.

THERE IS A crying need for rain," reported Claire Titus. "Some of our streams are now barbound; the Garcia, of course is open, it never closes, but no fish are biting. Then to make matters even worse—on the Navarro, someone dumped a lot of heavy crude oil into the river. The black, sticky stuff backs up and down with the tide. A hunt is on to learn the identity of the party who did it, but he hasn't been found as yet. In the meantime, it seems that fishing may be over for the season in the Navarro."

CONFLICTING REPORTS have come in of salmon and steelread fishing in the upper Sacramento River. One resort owner reported fair— not good— but fair salmon takes and some steelheads caught on the riffles. A first hand report, however, says the opposite. Tony Falworth, a dedicated angler who has been searching for some good steelhead fishing tried hard over the weekend to get a hookup on the Sacramento. Fished from first light until 2:30 p. m. in the Meridian area.

"I saw a number of boats on the river but none had even one fish. I contacted seven of the boats and learned that no salmon or steelhead had been taken" I have to believe Tony, he has no axe to grind.

TONY CALLED LAST night to ask if any word has come in of steelhead fishing. I read the report that had just come in from Jim Roads of Happy Camp on the upper Klamath River: "Klamath low and clear. Clear enough for flies, (Fly fishing, however, is very slow.) fish are scattered. Novices will have problem taking steelhead. Fish are in slow water. A rod with a sensitive tip is a must. Fish have been taken on roe, nightcrawlers and copper or red and silver lures. Fish average larger than last year, but are more scattered and harder to take. Weather good; days: high 50s, nights: low 30s."

I just learned the Sacramento is still dirty, lots of foreign drift matter on surface.

MEMBERS OF THE Castro Valley Rod and Gun Club take note that the dinner dance and installation dinner will not be held at the Blue Dolphin as originally planned, but will be held—with live music—at the Willow Park Golf Course, on Feb. 4. Clubhouse is located two miles north of Castro Valley Boulevard, 17007 Redwood Road.

In spite of freezing weather, the more hardy souls who have braved the elements to catch fish at Lake Tahoe seem to be doing well. Rainbows to over 8 pounds have been taken on Flatfish, and Mackinaws to 15 pounds were recorded taken quite recently. Also reports have it that the saucy Kamloops have again become active in Shasta Lake. Best lures seems to have been Flatfish and Rebels.

Novato Grapplers Win Again

Novato High School continues to wreak havoc and destruction along the Marin County Athletic League wrestling trail.

The San Rafael Bulldogs became the latest victims of the Hornet hurricane as Novato won all but two matches, six by the pin route, in a 47-6 dual-meet runaway at Novato Tuesday.

In another MCAL meet, Redwood and Tamalpais struggled to a 30-30 draw in a battle of light vs. heavy.

Tamalpais won the lightweight battle, losing only one of the first seven matches for a 25-7 lead. But Redwood, conversely, won six out of the next seven matches to gain the draw. Each team had to forfeit one match.

The Hornets once again struck with their blitzkrieg lightweights storming to victories in the first three matches.

Kirk Donaldsen recorded his 16th win without a loss this season by outpointing previously unbeaten Denny Eckart at 98 pounds, 8-1. Twin brother Ken followed by pinning Bob Smith at 107 pounds and Steve Collins made it 11-0 by running away from Dale Meyers, 16-0. Collins thus kept alive his bid for a second straight undefeated dual-meet season.

Bruce Scheibach at 129 pounds, Bob Myers at 140, Bruce Lamb at 147, Corey Profitt at 156, Bob Nagle at 167 and Bob Pratt at 177 recorded falls for the Hornets.

In a head-to-head match of heavyweight standouts, San Rafael's Chris Klyse kept his record unblemished at 7-0 by outpointing John Stewart, 8-3. The loss was only Stewart's second of the season against 11 wins.

Ray Werts, with a hard-earned 8-7 decision over Jim Turner at 120 pounds was the only other Bulldog to win.

The Novato Jayvees remained unbeaten by crushing the San Rafael junior varsity, 55-6.

Terrell Mad: Clay Gets All The Ink

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ernie Terrell may announce today whether or not he is satisfied with efforts by promoters to settle his complaints about prefight promotion of his Feb. 6 fight with Cassius Clay.

Terrell, the World Boxing Assn. champion, complained earlier this week that promoters failed to give him equal billing with Clay, the concensus heavyweight champion, on signs and billboards advertising the fight. Terrell threatened to pull out of the fight.

Both Terrell and his manager met yesterday with officials of Astrodome Championship Enterprises, the promoting group, in an effort to work out Terrell's complaints.

"We realize the tremendous pride that Ernie has, and we will try to see that he gets the recognition he so richly deserves," said Fred Hofheinz, president of the promoting group.

Terrell had complained that some signs had only a picture of Clay and that Clay's name on many of the signs was in much larger lettering.

Bill Giles, vice president and director of public relations for the Astrodome, site of the fight, said Hamid was told the promoting group was willing to change some of the signs and give definite equal billing to Terrell in all future materials used for promotion of the fight.

"We can't change many of the signs but we will have new ones made," Giles said. "The new ones will have pictures of both fighters or no pictures whatsoever."

Meanwhile, Zora Folley, who hopes to be the next challenger for the title regardless of whether Clay or Terrell is the winner, has predicted that Terrell will have to win a decision if he expects to defeat Clay, or Muhammad Ali, as Clay prefers to be known.

Folley, the No. 2 ranked heavyweight from Chandler, Ariz., scored a first round knockout over Floyd Joyner of San Francisco here Tuesday night as both Clay and Terrell watched from ringside.

"I don't believe Terrell will knock Ali out," Folley said.

"He could outpoint him with that terrific left hand, but I really feel as if Ali will win in nine to 12 rounds.

"I really don't care who wins, as I think I can beat either of them. Terrell is the best fighter I have faced and I lost a close decision to him four years ago."

Both Terrell and Clay were to work out today at the exhibition hall adjacent to the Astrodome.

PRO BOWL

Interest In NFL Game Is Normal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The 17th annual Pro Bowl seems to be attracting a normal amount of interest from football fans despite the drain-off of dollars in the Super Bowl game.

Sponsors of the Pro Bowl, which pits all-stars from the NFL Western Conference against the same caliber guys from the Eastern Conference, were admittedly worried when the Memorial Coliseum was chosen for the super-dooper between Green Bay and Kansas City.

That game drew 63,000—about 30,000 short of capacity at the Coliseum—but prices were high —$12, $10, and $6.

The Pro Bowl is scaled at $5.50, $4 and $3 and the advance sale has caused sponsors to predict a respectable gathering of about 50,000 Sunday.

Of course they might not all be paid. Net proceeds go to the benefit of boys' clubs in this area and the kids get a break at the gate too. All they have to do is find a $3 adult ticket-buyer.

The adult can take in the gate five kids under 12 free.

The West—a name that has no geographical significance—leads in the series, 0-6.

This year the Westerners, coached by George Allen of the Rams, are favored by eight points, but that doesn't have to mean a thing. The East was the underdog last year but came out on top, 36-7 when fullback Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns scored three touchdowns.

Alcindor Regains No. 1 Spot

NEW YORK (AP) —Lew Alcindor of UCLA regained the scoring lead, but Westley Unseld of Louisville, another top-rated center, lost his rebound lead, this week's National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics showed today.

Alcindor collected 91 points in three games last week to bring his average to 29.8 points a game, overtaking Jim Walker of Providence. Walker, who had led for two weeks, scored 41 points in two contests and now averages 29.5.

Dick Cunningham of Murray State recovered 112 rebounds in four games last week and replaced Unseld, the season-long leader. Cunningham has averaged 22.3 rebounds a game to 21.7 for Unseld. Alcindo was seventh at 16.0.

Bob Lloyd of Rutgers, who ranks third in scoring with a 29.3 average, tops the free throw percentage leaders at 94.3 per cent. Alcindor is the field goal percentage leader at 67.9 per cent.

Northwestern and Memphis State retained their leadership as the nation's top offensive and defensive teams. Northwestern has averaged 96.7 points a game and Memphis State has allowed only 50.2 per contest. UCLA is only .9 of a point behind Northwestern, but Memphis State enjoys almost a six-point lead over Tennessee.

Barney Ross Died Undefeated Champ

CHICAGO (AP) — The great and the small, the old and the young, people of all faiths and races will begin saying the last goodby to Barney Ross tonight.

Visitations at the chapel where his body lay in state were to be for three hours. Funeral services will be tomorrow with burial in Chicago's Rosemont Park Cemetery.

Barney Ross, 57, lost his last fight to throat cancer yesterday.

He had never known the meaning of defeat in his battles as a boxer, a Marine and against narcotics.

He won the lightweight, junior welterweight and welterweight boxing titles in the 1930s. He won the silver star for gallantry in action on Guadalcanal in 1942.

He won over the dope habit—which he had picked up fighting off the pains of malaria as a patient in the A.S. Public Health Service Hospital, Lexington, Ky., in 1946.

Barney told the world how he conquered narcotics. A movie was made of his career as a boxer, a marine and an addict. And after that he worked in management relations, in business and as a speaker, telling how he got the monkey off his back.

"I spent $250,000 for drugs in fours years," he once said. "I beat the habit because I wanted to, because it was that or the end."

Ira Colitz, a Chicago furniture man, remained Barney's closest friend until the end. They had been pals since boyhoods days on Chicago's west side ghetto.

"I took Barney to the Veterans Research Hospital in an ambulance last Friday," said Colitz. "He had been going there for treatments for almost a year. He looked up at me this time and asked: 'Is this the last round, Ira?'

"It turned out that it was."

Kansas City, which went on to win the AFL title, will contribute 10 of its 12 All Star participants to the starting lineups. Oakland, which also has 12 players in the game, will have eight starters.

All three Kansas City linebackers will start, head coach John Rauch of Oakland said.

Choose The Right Time For Important Feed To Opponent

Biting the hand that feeds you is called vicious—by feeders; but it seems very normal to all biters.

If you're going to feed a known biter, don't be foolish enough to put your hand in with the food. And if you're wondering what this has to do with bridge, play today's hand.

FIRST MOVE

South won the first trick with the queen of clubs, cleared the queen and jack of spades out of the way and went to dummy with the queen of hearts.

He discarded two diamonds on the ace and king of spades and then went after the hearts.

REASONABLE

The plan was very reasonable. South could get four heart tricks if the suit broke either 3-3 or 4-2. The odds were 5 to 1 in his favor—far better than discarding two hearts on the spades and hoping for a successful finesse in diamonds.

Unfortunately, East had a heart stopper and two good spades. If South continued the hearts, East would take three tricks. South had to be content with taking the first eleven tricks, but he was still down one.

RIGHT TIME

The hand is unbeatable if South gives up a heart trick before he has developed the setting trick for East.

After taking the first club and clearing the queen and jack of spades out of the way, South should play a low heart from each hand. This gives the opponents their food, but South is safe against all possible bites.

HEART TRICK

If East takes the heart trick and returns a diamond, South steps up with the ace of diamonds and leads a heart to dummy's queen. He discards two diamonds on the high spades and returns to his hand with a club to run the rest of the tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two hearts (forcing to game), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ 10 8 7 6 5 2
♥ J 10 9 7
♣ 6

ANSWER:

Bid two notrump, the negative response. You can raise hearts later, thus showing that your strength is in the form of distribution rather than in high cards.

Weather Controlling Steelhead Fishing; Trout At Lake Tahoe

STEVENS

It's a vicious thing — the control that weather has over steelhead fishing. One time it's a case of too much rain that raises and muddies the various streams; another time a protracted spell of dry weather lowers the level of the streams and causes them to run too clear.

At present it is difficult for an outdoor writer to even suggest a certain area. I talked with my faithful contact at Point Arena Tuesday morning. Learned that steelheading just isn't. All streams along the coast from the Russian to the Ten Mile are much too low and much too clear for fishing.

THERE IS A crying need for rain," reported Claire Titus. "Some of our streams are now barbound; the Garcia, of course is open, it never closes, but no fish are biting. Then to make matters even worse—on the Navarro, someone dumped a lot of heavy crude oil into the river. The black, sticky stuff backs up and down with the tide. A hunt is on to learn the identity of the party who did it, but he hasn't been found as yet. In the meantime, it seems that fishing may be over for the season in the Navarro."

CONFLICTING REPORTS have come in of salmon and steelread fishing in the upper Sacramento River. One resort owner reported fair— not good— but fair salmon takes and some steelheads caught on the riffles. A first hand report, however, says the opposite. Tony Falworth, a dedicated angler who has been searching for some good steelhead fishing tried hard over the weekend to get a hookup on the Sacramento. Fished from first light until 2:30 p. m. in the Meridian area.

"I saw a number of boats on the river but none had even one fish. I contacted seven of the boats and learned that no salmon or steelhead had been taken" I have to believe Tony, he has no axe to grind.

TONY CALLED LAST night to ask if any word has come in of steelhead fishing. I read the report that had just come in from Jim Roads of Happy Camp on the upper Klamath River: "Klamath low and clear. Clear enough for flies, (Fly fishing, however, is very slow.) fish are scattered. Novices will have problem taking steelhead. Fish are in slow water. A rod with a sensitive tip is a must. Fish have been taken on roe, nightcrawlers and copper or red and silver lures. Fish average larger than last year, but are more scattered and harder to take. Weather good; days: high 50s, nights: low 30s."

I just learned the Sacramento is still dirty, lots of foreign drift matter on surface.

MEMBERS OF THE Castro Valley Rod and Gun Club take note that the dinner dance and installation dinner will not be held at the Blue Dolphin as originally planned, but will be held—with live music—at the Willow Park Golf Course, on Feb. 4. Clubhouse is located two miles north of Castro Valley Boulevard, 17007 Redwood Road.

In spite of freezing weather, the more hardy souls who have braved the elements to catch fish at Lake Tahoe seem to be doing well. Rainbows to over 8 pounds have been taken on Flatfish, and Mackinaws to 15 pounds were recorded taken quite recently. Also reports have it that the saucy Kamloops have again become active in Shasta Lake. Best lures seems to have been Flatfish and Rebels.

Novato Grapplers Win Again

Novato High School continues to wreak havoc and destruction along the Marin County Athletic League wrestling trail.

The San Rafael Bulldogs became the latest victims of the Hornet hurricane as Novato won all but two matches, six by the pin route, in a 47-6 dualmeet runaway at Novato Tuesday.

In another MCAL meet, Redwood and Tamalpais struggled to a 30-30 draw in a battle of light vs. heavy.

Tamalpais won the lightweight battle, losing only one of the first seven matches for a 25-7 lead. But Redwood, conversely, won six out of the next seven matches to gain the draw. Each team had to forfeit one match.

The Hornets once again struck with their blitzkrieg lightweights storming to victories in the first three matches.

Kirk Donaldsen recorded his 16th win without a loss this season by outpointing previously unbeaten Denny Eckart at 98 pounds, 8-1. Twin brother Ken followed by pinning Bob Smith at 107 pounds and Steve Collins made it 11-0 by running away from Dale Meyers, 16-0. Collins thus kept alive his bid for a second straight undefeated dualmeet season.

Bruce Scheibach at 129 pounds, Bob Myers at 140, Bruce Lamb at 147, Corey Profitt at 156, Bob Nagle at 167 and Bob Pratt at 177 recorded falls for the Hornets.

In a head-to-head match of heavyweight standouts, San Rafael's Chris Klyse kept his record unblemished at 7-0 by outpointing John Stewart, 8-3. The loss was only Stewart's second of the season against 11 wins.

Ray Werts, with a hard-earned 8-7 decision over Jim Turner at 120 pounds was the only other Bulldog to win.

The Novato Jayvees remained unbeaten by crushing the San Rafael junior varsity, 55-6.

Variety Store Chain Planning Bay Area Debut In Novato Site

One of the first stores in its chain to be located in the Bay Area will be opened this spring in the Downtown Shopping Center, Novato, where developer Gerald Hoytt has signed T. G. and Y. Variety Stores to occupy the greater part of a new 15,000-square-foot building.

T. G. and Y. is headquartered in Oklahoma City, has 40 stores in Southern California and 459 throughout the county. The firm does a $100 million in net sales a year. It is part of the Household Finance Corp. family and a subsidiary of City Products Corp., which has over 2,400 Ben Franklin franchised stores and also owns Scott's Stores, Coos Bros., Gold Stores, Miller Desks, Barker Bros., American Furniture and the well known Butler Bros. In an aggressive expansion program the company is said to be acquiring a dozen or more other Northern California sites.

Hoytt feels he has picked up a tenant that will do credit to downtown Novato. Architects Hammarberg and Herman are designing a new building which will be adjoining and south of the Arden - Mayfair Market. Should be completed in March.

THE TIBURON OFFICE of Novato Savings and Loan Assn. is now expected to open about Feb. 1 and will be managed by Glenn H. Murray of San Anselmo. He was formerly assistant controller for Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. and has been a Marin resident for 11 years.

Murray Kanyuck

ROBERT C. KANYUCK of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant cashier at Redwood National Bank. He started with the bank in March, 1965, as assistant installment loan officer in the San Rafael office and now heads his department.

THOMAS A. SKORNIA of Ross has joined the San Francisco legal firm of Miller, Groezinger, Pettit, Evers and Martin, 650 California Street. Previously he was with Cooley, Crowley, Gaither, Godward, Castro and Huddleston, and formerly was appellate attorney in the tax division for the U. S. Department of Justice.

PAUL LAW, until recently a resident of Belvedere for many years, will be installed next Thursday as president of the Multiple Listing Service of San Francisco. He has his own real estate office in the city.

Law Murphy

PETER N. MURPHY of San Rafael has been appointed manager of the national lumber sales department for Tarter, Webster and Johnson. He joined the company in 1958 and for the past five years has been assistant manager of the lumber department.

CARL PEARSON of Mill Valley has rejoined the staff of Frank Howard Allen and Co. after an absence of three years from the firm. During this time he has been associated with Nowell and Associates in Sausalito. He will work out of Allen's Mill Valley office.

WILLIAM R. MYERS of Tiburon was honored this week for 20 years of service with Kraft Foods. He is with the San Francisco division office.

VILLAGE FAIR ASSN., Sausalito, has elected Marie Kay, president; Mike Bisceglia, vice president, and Joseph Saphier, secretary-treasurer. New board of directors includes Dorothy Bulger, Catherine Myers, Lucille Bisceglia and Ray Roy.

THERE WILL BE no slackening in employment in San Rafael during 1967, if an outlook survey of Manpower, Inc., turns out to be accurate. According to Marcia Pettijohn, manager of the local office of the temporary help and business service firm, about a third of the area's businessmen expect employment to increase, while the rest think present levels will be maintained. About 19 per cent said they expect to hire additional help.

TWA To Improve Bay Area Service

SAN FRANCISCO — Trans World Airlines will spend more than $1 million over the next 10 years to improve and modernize its sales and reservations departments in the Bay Area, according to J. M. Davenport, vice president of area sales here.

Effective Feb. 28 TWA will become the first major airline to occupy space in the new Wells Fargo Building built by the Dillingham Corp. and located at Sutter and Montgomery streets.

TWA will lease more than 80 per cent of the space on the eighth floor for its marketing division functions which previously have been located at 240 Stockton Street.

Soldier On Korea Duty Needs Advice On Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am in the U.S. Army in Korea. I receive your syndicated column from my sister at home. My brother (also in the service) and I hold jointly: Control Data; Ford; Great Western Financial; Metromedia; EG&G; Westinghouse Electric. We can't do business easily during our tours of duty, but we are interested in capital appreciation and would like your advice." Sp4 R.A.

A. I am very much pleased to hear from you and from other servicemen in faraway places.

I would hold Control Data, which seems to have surmounted the problems which plagued earnings in fiscal 1965-1966. The computer business is a tough and competitive one, but the outlook for your rather specialized company appears promising. Ford has not been a satisfactory holding from a price standpoint for several years. I would switch this issue into Becton, Dickinson.

EG&G — with a strong position in nuclear instruments—is one of the best of the science stocks. This issue should be held, in my opinion. Great Western Financial should be retained as a speculation on earnings recovery. Metromedia has a good potential for appreciation. Westinghouse Electric is a rather prosaic stock which seems likely to move pretty much with the market as a whole. For your objective, I would switch this stock into Carlisle Corp., which has been compiling an impressive record of earnings gains.

Q. "Would you please comment on United Gas Improvement, which I own?" E.H.

A. Gladly. Your company distributes natural gas in eastern Pennsylvania and electricity in some areas of that state. Growth has been steady, but the stock, like other gas utilities, has failed to attract investment favor. It is a sound holding for 5.5 per cent yield and moderate appreciation. If that meets your requirements, UGI should be retained. If you wish stronger growth with considerably less yield, I would switch to American Electric.

IBM Reports 1966 Earnings

ARMONK, N.Y. — International Business Machines Corp. announced its preliminary resorts for the year 1966.

Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the board, reported that IBM Worldwide Consolidated net earnings after taxes for the year ended Dec. 31, 1966, amounted to $526,130,192 or $9.66 a share on the 54,449,200 shares outstanding Dec. 31, 1966.

This compares with neat earnings after taxes for the year 1965 of $476,902,490, equal to $9.03 a share earned on the 52,837,371 shares outstanding Dec. 31, 1965, adjusted for the 50 per cent stock split effected May 3, 1966.

Trading Very Heavy With Gainers, Losers

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with gainers and losers pretty closely in balance today and trading very heavy.

Whether the market would register a statistical gain on the day or not would await the compiling of statistics.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.5 million shares compared with 11.39 million yesterday.

The market seemed to be on its way to its 12th clear-cut gain out of 1967's 13 sessions.

The list seemed lower at the opening but gradually produced a gain on balance.

Sperry Rand, up about a point, looked like the most active gainer. McCall Corp., off a small fraction, was ahead on volume due to a singel block of 137,902 shares.

Among active gainers, Arlan's Department Stores, Hess Oil and Disney gained about 2, Scientific Data 6, SCM and Fairchild Camer about 3 each, Itek 4, Occidental Petroleum, Sprague Electric and Ampex about a point.

Texas Instruments fell about half a dozen points.

Studebaker, A. H. Robbins and McDonnell Co. were fractional losers.

Hilton rose more than 3 points on news of merger talks with TWA, which was unchanged.

Bank Deposits Down In Marin

Both bank debits and deposits for December in Marin County were down from last year's levels.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $157,517,000, compared with $173,785,000 a year ago. Unadjusted deposits were $79,648,000, compared with Dec., 1965 figures of $87,6000,000.

Adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios were not recorded for 1966, as figures had not been compiled for a long enough period to compensate for seasonal fluctuations.

New President Of Macy Chain

SAN FRANCISCO — Joseph C. Kresse has been named president of Macy's Missouri-Kansas.

The appointment, effective Feb. 1, was announced in New York by Ernest L. Molloy, president of the R. H. Macy Corp.

Kresse will replace Thomas W. Johnston, current president of the seven-store Missouri-Kansas corporation. Johnston moves to Macy corporate headquarters in New York.

For the past five years Kresse has served Macy's California as merchandise administrator for home furnishings.

A Thought for the Day — Irish author Oscar Wilde wrote, "As long as war is regarded as wicked, it will always have its fascination. When it is looked upon as vulgar it will cease to be popular."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Choose The Right Time For Important Feed To Opponent

Biting the hand that feeds you is called vicious—by feeders; but it seems very normal to all biters.

If you're going to feed a known biter, don't be foolish enough to put your hand in with the food. And if you're wondering what this has to do with bridge, play today's hand.

FIRST MOVE

South won the first trick with the queen of clubs, cleared the queen and jack of spades out of the way and went to dummy with the queen of hearts.

He discarded two diamonds on the ace and king of spades and then went after the hearts.

REASONABLE

The plan was very reasonable. South could get four heart tricks if the suit broke either 3-3 or 4-2. The odds were 5 to 1 in his favor—far better than discarding two hearts on the spades and hoping for a successful finesse in diamonds.

Unfortunately, East had a heart stopper and two good spades. If South continued the hearts, East would take three tricks. South had to be content with taking the first eleven tricks, but he was still down one.

RIGHT TIME

The hand is unbeatable if South gives up a heart trick before he has developed the setting trick for East.

After taking the first club and clearing the queen and jack of spades out of the way, South should play a low heart from each hand. This gives the opponents their food, but South is safe against all possible bites.

HEART TRICK

If East takes the heart trick and returns a diamond, South steps up with the ace of diamonds and leads a heart to dummy's queen. He discards two diamonds on the high spades and returns to his hand with a club to run the rest of the tricks.

Kissing Teacher Marries Student

DENHELDER, Holland (UPI)—Tom Zwaag, 22, had a great thing going—a kissing college where he was the instructor in osculation. In four years some 600 girls paid 42 cents each for lessons lasting six minutes.

But one pupil tripped him up. She is now Mrs. Zwaag. Tom has gone back to his old job of park attendant.

Federal, State Programs May Need New Flexibility

Californians are being treated to the rare experience of having national leaders announce a continuation of Great Society spending on the one hand while the new state leadership is launching an austerity program that calls for a 10 per cent budget cut in all state agencies.

The end result may be that both philosophies will have to give a little.

President Johnson in his State of the Union message last week promised no slow-down in costly domestic programs such as increased social security and expanded war against poverty. These Great Society programs would be continued despite "more cost, more loss, and more agony" in Vietnam.

In California, new Gov. Ronald Reagan is attempting to make good his inaugural pledge to "squeeze, cut and trim" state expenditures. And in doing so, he is incurring the wrath of the university and college sectors, which fear that a cutback in their budgets will jeopardize the quality or quantity of education in the state.

To state taxpayers, interested primarily in how their pocketbooks will be affected, Governor Reagan's pronouncements strike a responsive chord. The enthusiasm with which the Governor is attempting to make good his campaign pledges is commendable.

But he may find that in practical application, the across-the-board budget cut proposal may prove to be too rigid.

For example, in the field of education, population growth alone may make it almost impossible to apply rigidly the 10 per cent cut in over-all budget without jeopardizing the quality of education or restricting educational opportunities for many of our young people.

If this should become apparent, we are hopeful that the new Administration will inject a little flexibility into the budget cut proposal in areas like education, which is one of California's big assets.

Ronald Reagan's landslide victory last November has been interpreted as a mandate from the people to cut government spending wherever possible. That he is attempting to do. Even if he manages to hold the line in most departments and cut back on only a few, that would be quite an accomplishment, in a state that is growing at the rate California is.

We doubt that the Reagan Administration will be able to bring about as much economy as hoped. But any trend in that direction is welcome.

Nationally, the President's hopes for more social security and an expanded war on poverty are likely to run up against some resistance, especially if a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income will have to be exacted from a population that is growing weary of high taxes.

National spending for Great Society programs may have to be compromised somewhat toward austerity, just as Governor Reagan's austerity goals may have to be relaxed somewhat in the other direction. Such developments would be in keeping with the Republican gains in the last election and the return of the two-party system both in Congress and in the State Legislature.

He made the same vow last year.

TRIBUTE TO TEACHER

What is a teacher? Here is one answer from an article written some years ago by Joy Elmer Morgan:

"The teacher is a prophet; he lays the foundations of tomorrow.

"The teacher is an artist; he works with the precious clay of unfolding personality.

"The teacher is a friend; his heart responds to the faith and devotion of his students.

"The teacher is a citizen; he is selected and licensed for the improvement of society.

"The teacher is a pioneer; he is always attempting the impossible and winning out.

"The teacher is a believer; he has abiding faith in the improvability of the human race."

You may have neither the calling nor the qualifications to be a teacher. But you can do something to relieve the never-ending need for better teachers.

Encourage at least one competent young man or woman to dedicate his or her God-given talent to the arduous but rewarding work of the classroom.

"Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them."

Bless all teachers, O Master, and enable them to grow in wisdom and understanding.

Reagan Sets Record Straight On The Thorny Tuition Problem

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The subject of tuition at the University of California was discussed in a fairly thorough manner at the first full press conference of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He has proposed, he said, tuition as one alternative for solving a portion of the financial dilemma in which the state finds itself at the present time. The other alternative probably would be additional taxes.

His administration, he emphasized, has an open mind in the matter of solving the financial problems of the state, and the university which is one function of state government.

"WE ARE PRESENTING," he said, "what we believe are ways and means to meet these problems, but if somebody can throw something at us that reveals we are terribly wrong, we are certainly going to have an open mind about it."

Regarding his feeling on tuition at the university, Governor Reagan said:

"Frankly, I am sorry that the subject of tuition has to come up in context of a discussion of financial need.

"I WOULD LIKE to have seen the subject of tuition come up simply on the basis of a good thing for the young people who are going to the university. And I will tell you right now it is my own personal view that there is no such thing as 'free education.' There is costly education and the question is how do you share the cost and who pays the cost. At no time has this proposed tuition ($400 per year) come close to what it is costing us to educate the young people.

"I believe if provisions are made for scholarships for those that truly deserve them, and if provision is made for deferment in hardship cases of the paying of this after graduation, there is nothing wrong with the young people beginning to have a responsibility with regard to at least a portion of this cost."

OF COURSE, every mention of tuition in the university and state colleges brings down the wrath of the educators, in this instance headed by Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state colleges. He views even a proposal with "grave concern" for various reasons, and contends the matter should be submitted to a vote of the people for a decision from citizens.

Higher education without tuition appears to be a good thing as long as the taxpayers of the state can afford the luxury. But, as one astute legislative advocate put it, "Everyone's against tuition except the people."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Neighbors Helpful As Flames Threaten

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On Sunday, Jan. 8, when our house here in Lucas Valley was threatened by the fire that completely gutted the home next door, we witnessed an exceedingly fine display of helpfulness, offered readily and spontaneously, by all our close neighbors and even by some living several blocks away.

Moments after the fire was detected, neighbors helped us hose down our house, spread wet blankets, carry valuable paintings and furniture to safety and push the cars out of the garage.

Having lived in other countries before settling here, we can assure you that this degree of neighborly solidarity is not surpassed anywhere in the world. We might add that once the danger had passed, we received as much help in bringing our belongings back into the house.

We also want to add a word of praise for the community fire department who worked with great efficiency and discipline. Last, but not least, we admire the many volunteer firemen who at great personal sacrifices and with great courage make this community a safer place to live in.

Change Of Heart On Commute Plans?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Let's get a bus system rolling.

Your editorials of Nov. 30 and Dec. 3, 1966, plus your report on the Coverdale and Colpitts report, left the impression that it was finally recognized that a second deck is not a solution to the commuter problem, that a bus system, hopefully on an exclusive lane of the freeway, might be forthcoming.

Did you have a change of heart on Jan. 7? Now you are back to a second deck and a $300,000,000 crossing and trains —a system costing $800,000,000 according to Hardcastle. Yes, we need competent span engineers. We also need someone to figure the cost of various alternatives. Let's have a comparison of trains and a second crossing with the cost of adding one lane each way to the bridge (instead of a second deck for autos) for buses, gradually building a two lane freeway for buses only, which would be eventually converted to rubber tired trains powered with fuel cells. In the meantime we had better get an improved bus system rolling.

Should We Pay All College Students?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A more rational assessment of the university and college tuition increase proposal depends on a re-evaluation of the role of the student in our society. Though Mr. Rafferty seems to feel that the University curriculum consists of "sex, drugs, and treason," a more sane second look will reveal that the values created in our "factories of higher learning" are indispensable. The scientists, engineers, marketers, technicians and communicators that emerge from years of hard study are the strength of our economic and social system. We aren't doing the students a favor. We need them more than they need us.

It would make sense to pay them to go to school. There isn't any natural resource more valuable. The absurdity of raising school fees is a form of social self mutilation. All concerned citizens should work for the defeat of this ridiculous proposal.

Bold Men Like Striped Neckties, Conservatives Pick Neat Patterns

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Only one out of every 50 Americans goes through life without developing dental cavities. Yet fewer than 50 per cent of children under 15 years old have ever been to a dentist.

You remember your history pretty well if you can name the only place now under the American flag on which Christopher Columbus actually set foot. It is Puerto Rico.

College lads are hardly setting a new style when they strut around the campus in corduroy slacks. Corduroy was a popular fabric in this country as far back as the American Revolution.

NO WONDER housewives get tired. It is said that they walk up to seven miles a day doing their household chores and tramping up and down the aisles of supermarkets and department stores looking for bargains. That means by bedtime they have carried on their feet a load equivalent to more than a million pounds.

The next age-old contagious disease that mankind has slated for extinction is German measles which, through the mother, can afflict unborn children. Scientists expect a vaccine against this scourge will be developed for general use during the next decade.

A MAN'S NECKTIE is supposed to indicate his personality. Neat patterns are chosen by men conservative in thought and action; stripes, by bold decisive men; flamboyant, life-of-the-party types go in for colorful knitted ties, and extroverts prefer bow ties.

Western Union's latest gimmick is a perfume-by-wire service. But in ancient Rome the Emperor Nero used to scent his orgies by showering his guests with perfume from ceiling sprinklers.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Romney Already Has Charted His Course In Viet Conflict

WASHINGTON — Impressions to the contrary — for which he has been partly responsible — Gov. George Romney knows very well where he is headed on Vietnam — and it isn't going to be a "dovish" position.

While Romney is not going to give the Johnson administration anything like a blank-check endorsement of its conduct of the war— either militarily, diplomatically, or politically — he has definite guidelines within which his own ideas will be spelled out.

There is no doubt that he will have significant criticisms to make — and will make them pointedly — but they will be made within the framework of these controlling convictions:

THAT, SINCE we are in Vietnam, we can't now withdraw even if we wanted to and shouldn't withdraw if it meant allowing South Vietnam to be overrun by force.

That the United States couldn't ignore the situation as it developed; that is, we couldn't stand by and watch the aggression take place and do nothing about it. The defense of South Vietnam against being taken over by North Vietnam was necessary, if the word of the United States was to be kept.

That the United States must see it through.

THESE GUIDELINES to Romney's thinking on Vietnam do not mean that he believes the Johnson administration has handled the problem very well. He has substanital dissents and will develop them. But the governor does not intend to say anything that will give encouragement or comfort to Hanoi or will make it more difficult for the Presdient to run the war.

Here are the kinds of criticism which we can expect from Romney when he decides the time is appropriate.

He feels that both presidents Kennedy and Johnson should never have allowed our full-scale participation in the Vietnam war to develop without a frank, continuous, and full-scale exposition to the American people as to what was happening. He believes this lack of communication has been one of the biggest factors in resistance to the war among large numbers of people and has made it unnecessarily difficult for the President.

ROMNEY FEELS we could have done more before our large involvement to be assured we were going to get larger support from other Asian and Western Pacific nations whose very safety is at stake.

He is by no means convinced that the bombing of North Vietnam is the best means of choking off the flow of men and arms into South Vietnam.

He would like to see the South Vietnamese do more to encourage the indigenous Viet Cong to return to peaceful participation in the democratic process — as the Philippine government so successfully encouraged the Huks.

Romney himself considers the dove-hawk terms often misleading. He doesn't consider himself a hawk just because he believes that the U. S. must do what is necessary to defeat the aggression. He believes there must be limits on the use of U. S. airpower. He doesn't consider himself a dove because he doubts that bombing the North is the best way to stop infiltration.

MY OWN IMPRESSION is that Romney, while willing to see the U. S. try to negotiate a settlement which secures the independence of South Vietnam, feels that President Johnson is talking too much about negotiation and is unintentionally feeding the wishful thinking on the part of Hanoi that we are weakening and want to negotiate in order to get out.

If I have correctly set out Romney's thinking, as I believe I have, then it seems to me that the Michigan Governor is going to contrbute needed impetus toward making the Republican position on Vietnam credible and defensible. Too many Republicans try to get away with criticising incidental mistakes without making it clear whether they really support the defense of South Vietnam against aggression. Romney is not going to make that mistake.

Reapportionment Party Shakeups

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The next target in the "one man, one vote" battle will be the Democratic and Republican state committees.

Legal actions, similar to those forcing the reapportionment of legislatures, are being planned by political groups in several states to extend this Supreme Court ruling to these party organizations.

STATE COMMITTEE members, considered to be the backbone of both political parties, are now elected by counties, which vary widely in number of voters of both parties.

If the "one man, one vote" rule should apply, the state committee members would be elected from areas where party voters would be more equally represented.

Party organizations in large cities, with their growing numbers of voters, would be the big gainers, while those in the rural areas would be the losers.

This is the potentially explosive political development highlighted in a confidential memorandum that Democratic National Chairman John Bailey has given President Johnson.

BAILEY, WHO is staying on as party chairman for 1967 at the request of the President, reported that the proposed legal moves are being readied by warring factions within the parties in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Of the most immediate significance to Democrats, according to Bailey, is the legal action being prepared by attorneys for the Philadelphia Democratic city organization.

This powerful Democratic group, now locked in a bitter inner-party dispute with Sen. Joseph Clark, will go into federal court next month and attack the make-up of the pro-Clark State Democratic Committee.

This legal battle, which is expected to go all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, is designed to force the selection of state committee members from reapportioned areas rather than by counties, as is now the case.

ALTHOUGH THE Pennsylvania legal squabble could cost the party Clark's seat in 1968, this legal maneuver is being watched at the Democratic National Committee not so much for its effect on that Senate race as for its legal impact on the political structure of both parties.

According to Bailey's report to the President, a court victory for the Democratic city organization could become a landmark for applying the "one man, one vote" rule to all other state committees.

If this happens, the veteran Democratic leader stressed, the results could lead to vast changes in state and local leadership before the 1968 presidential campaign.

SIGNIFICANTLY, any changes in make-up of these state committees, if decreed by the courts, will come at a time when their political importance is on the rise.

Instead of being burdened with fund raising as in past campaigns, these state committees' main task in the future will be one of spending money allotted them.

Variety Store Chain Planning Bay Area Debut In Novato Site

One of the first stores in its chain to be located in the Bay Area will be opened this spring in the Downtown Shopping Center, Novato, where developer Gerald Hoytt has signed T. G. and Y. Variety Stores to occupy the greater part of a new 15,000-square-foot building.

T. G. and Y. is headquartered in Oklahoma City, has 40 stores in Southern California and 459 throughout the county. The firm does a $100 million in net sales a year. It is part of the Household Finance Corp. family and a subsidiary of City Products Corp., which has over 2,400 Ben Franklin franchised stores and also owns Scott's Stores, Coos Bros., Gold Stores, Miller Desks, Barker Bros., American Furniture and the well known Butler Bros. In an aggressive expansion program the company is said to be acquiring a dozen or more other Northern California sites.

Hoytt feels he has picked up a tenant that will do credit to downtown Novato. Architects Hammarberg and Herman are designing a new building which will be adjoining and south of the Arden - Mayfair Market. Should be completed in March.

THE TIBURON OFFICE of Novato Savings and Loan Assn. is now expected to open about Feb. 1 and will be managed by Glenn H. Murray of San Anselmo. He was formerly assistant controller for Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. and has been a Marin resident for 11 years.

Murray Kanyuck

ROBERT C. KANYUCK of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant cashier at Redwood National Bank. He started with the bank in March, 1965, as assistant installment loan officer in the San Rafael office and now heads his department.

THOMAS A. SKORNIA of Ross has joined the San Francisco legal firm of Miller, Groezinger, Pettit, Evers and Martin, 650 California Street. Previously he was with Cooley, Crowley, Gaither, Godward, Castro and Huddleston, and formerly was appellate attorney in the tax division for the U. S. Department of Justice.

PAUL LAW, until recently a resident of Belvedere for many years, will be installed next Thursday as president of the Multiple Listing Service of San Francisco. He has his own real estate office in the city.

Law Murphy

PETER N. MURPHY of San Rafael has been appointed manager of the national lumber sales department for Tarter, Webster and Johnson. He joined the company in 1958 and for the past five years has been assistant manager of the lumber department.

CARL PEARSON of Mill Valley has rejoined the staff of Frank Howard Allen and Co. after an absence of three years from the firm. During this time he has been associated with Nowell and Associates in Sausalito. He will work out of Allen's Mill Valley office.

WILLIAM R. MYERS of Tiburon was honored this week for 20 years of service with Kraft Foods. He is with the San Francisco division office.

VILLAGE FAIR ASSN., Sausalito, has elected Marie Kay, president; Mike Bisceglia, vice president, and Joseph Saphier, secretary-treasurer. New board of directors includes Dorothy Bulger, Catherine Myers, Lucille Bisceglia and Ray Roy.

THERE WILL BE no slackening in employment in San Rafael during 1967, if an outlook survey of Manpower, Inc., turns out to be accurate. According to Marcia Pettijohn, manager of the local office of the temporary help and business service firm, about a third of the area's businessmen expect employment to increase, while the rest think present levels will be maintained. About 19 per cent said they expect to hire additional help.

TWA To Improve Bay Area Service

SAN FRANCISCO — Trans World Airlines will spend more than $1 million over the next 10 years to improve and modernize its sales and reservations departments in the Bay Area, according to J. M. Davenport, vice president of area sales here.

Effective Feb. 28 TWA will become the first major airline to occupy space in the new Wells Fargo Building built by the Dillingham Corp. and located at Sutter and Montgomery streets.

TWA will lease more than 80 per cent of the space on the eighth floor for its marketing division functions which previously have been located at 240 Stockton Street.

Soldier On Korea Duty Needs Advice On Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am in the U.S. Army in Korea. I receive your syndicated column from my sister at home. My brother (also in the service) and I hold jointly: Control Data; Ford; Great Western Financial; Metromedia; EG&G; Westinghouse Electric. We can't do business easily during our tours of duty, but we are interested in capital appreciation and would like your advice." Sp4 R.A.

A. I am very much pleased to hear from you and from other servicemen in faraway places.

I would hold Control Data, which seems to have surmounted the problems which plagued earnings in fiscal 1965-1966. The computer business is a tough and competitive one, but the outlook for your rather specialized company appears promising. Ford has not been a satisfactory holding from a price standpoint for several years. I would switch this issue into Becton, Dickinson.

EG&G — with a strong position in nuclear instruments—is one of the best of the science stocks. This issue should be held, in my opinion. Great Western Financial should be retained as a speculation on earnings recovery. Metromedia has a good potential for appreciation. Westinghouse Electric is a rather prosaic stock which seems likely to move pretty much with the market as a whole. For your objective, I would switch this stock into Carlisle Corp., which has been compiling an impressive record of earnings gains.

Q. "Would you please comment on United Gas Improvement, which I own?" E.H.

A. Gladly. Your company distributes natural gas in eastern Pennsylvania and electricity in some areas of that state. Growth has been steady, but the stock, like other gas utilities, has failed to attract investment favor. It is a sound holding for 5.5 per cent yield and moderate appreciation. If that meets your requirements, UGI should be retained. If you wish stronger growth with considerably less yield, I would switch to American Electric.

IBM Reports 1966 Earnings

ARMONK, N.Y. — International Business Machines Corp. announced its preliminary resorts for the year 1966.

Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the board, reported that IBM Worldwide Consolidated net earnings after taxes for the year ended Dec. 31, 1966, amounted to $526,130,192 or $9.66 a share on the 54,449,200 shares outstanding Dec. 31, 1966.

This compares with neat earnings after taxes for the year 1965 of $476,902,490, equal to $9.03 a share earned on the 52,837,371 shares outstanding Dec. 31, 1965, adjusted for the 50 per cent stock split effected May 3, 1966.

Trading Very Heavy With Gainers, Losers

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with gainers and losers pretty closely in balance today and trading very heavy.

Whether the market would register a statistical gain on the day or not would await the compiling of statistics.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10.5 million shares compared with 11.39 million yesterday.

The market seemed to be on its way to its 12th clear-cut gain out of 1967's 13 sessions.

The list seemed lower at the opening but gradually produced a gain on balance.

Sperry Rand, up about a point, looked like the most active gainer. McCall Corp., off a small fraction, was ahead on volume due to a singel block of 137,902 shares.

Among active gainers, Arlan's Department Stores, Hess Oil and Disney gained about 2. Scientific Data 6, SCM and Fairchild Camer about 3 each, Itek 4, Occidental Petroleum, Sprague Electric and Ampex about a point.

Texas Instruments fell about half a dozen points.

Studebaker, A. H. Robbins and McDonnell Co. were fractional losers.

Hilton rose more than 3 points on news of merger talks with TWA, which was unchanged.

Bank Deposits Down In Marin

Both bank debits and deposits for December in Marin County were down from last year's levels.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $157,517,000, compared with $173,785,000 a year ago. Unadjusted deposits were $79,648,000, compared with Dec., 1965 figures of $87,6000,000.

Adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios were not recorded for 1966, as figures had not been compiled for a long enough period to compensate for seasonal fluctuations.

Old Fogy Takes Another Look At Today's Concern With Sex

IT IS THE apparent conviction of our current intelligentsia that they discovered sex and love and that, until they arrived on the scene to enlighten us, previous generations got all their babies from Macy's or Gimbel's. With, obviously, no return privileges—or there might have been no intelligensia.

I disagree. The Bible wou'd indicate that once there was Eve, sex wasn't very far behind. And, if you think love is a recent creation, there is the Song of Solomon.

Yes, Virginia, mother and dad knew all about it even if they didn't make it a 24-hour daily affair. And I fear the new permissiveness only muddies what were clear waters.

FOR YOUNGSTERS like puppies, are lovable but untaught savages whose natural curiosity can get them into dangerous mischief unless they are guided by discipline. They both need, to make no bones about it, to be housebroken—or they will remain savages.

About six years ago, when this decade was still in its diapers, I found myself shaken by some of the hit shows running on the New York stage, of which I had long been an aficionado. Then I leaped from the frying pan into the fire by reading two of the year's best-sellers.

The combination proved traumatic. Not that I don't know all the four-letter words or that I was unaware—newspapermen do get around, you know—of the eccentric behavior that may go on between two peculiar but consenting adults.

WHAT DISTURBED me was not that such books and plays were produced—we've always had such free-wheelers—but that the critics could acclaim them. The old-time reviewer I thought, would have given them the back of his hand—and that would have been that.

For most of these offerings, if you took out the let's-be-shocking words, would have fallen flat on their faces. And even those that showed some talent might have been much better if the author had closed the door behind his characters after they'd entered the bedroom or bathroom. An ounce of suggestion, as every good artist has demonstrated, can be far more effective than a ton of photographic realism which omits no ugly detail.

At any rate, so I mused and wrote a piece rhetorically titled, "Are These the Smutty Sixties?" Which promptly brought me maledictions from the avant-garde, who termed me a dirty anti-intellectual, a Victorian too cowardly to face life in the raw and—most crushing of all—"just an old fogy."

NATURALLY, I have since avoided any reference to the controversial subject of sex. I read "Peyton Place" and found it a mess of garbage, both in content and style; but, though here some critics agreed, wild horses could not get me to say so in print. For all I know, that volume may yet win a belated Nobel Prize for its significant portrayal of contemporary American life, and be made required reading in our high-schools.

That isn't so far-fetched. At the moment, sex is a round-the-clock fetish that pervades our every field and every age-bracket. Our ads reek with it, and almost every publication devotes considerable space to it. Indeed, don't be surprised if some enterprising plublisher of educational material issues a paparback grammar with the picture of a nude on the cover.

Hopefully, the youngster would go all the way through in search of salty stuff and thus learn not to say "between you and I" before he realized he had been gypped.

A RECENT ABC commentary, "Sex in the Sixties," strongly hints that, at the college level, there are few taboos, if any, and that virginity is no longer the norm. One professor rather proudly proclaims that we are shedding the "Puritan ethic" in a glorious sexual revolution that will bring us to the more enlightened attitude of Sweden in these matters.

Strangely, he makes no mention of the fact that the incidence of venereal disease in the age 16-24 bracket has risen to alarming proportions during this glorious revolution we are undergoing. But I suppose that's the difference the optimist, who looks only on the bright side, and the pessimist, who's apt to be an old fogy.

Oh, well, let's not be counter-revolutionary. Sex, anybody?

Young Students Express Life In Shades Of Color Tone Poems

Seventh and eighth graders in Jeane Yates' class at Red Hill School in San Anselmo, asked to write poems about color, produced surprising ideas and some poems that are not only "good for seventh and eighth graders," but simply good.

Silvia Botermans authorized the silver poem.

GRAY, A less like color, inspured one of the best poems, by Margaret Latchman, who wrote;

Gray is fog upon the bay
Determined to stay
Another day.
Matter-of-fact is the color gray.
Gray is between day and night,
A blending of black and white,
Its somber tones are for trim,
But with bright colors it's full of vim!
Very often life is gray,
Normal amounts of work and play,
Exciting are blue, red and pink,
But gray is a livable color, I think.

WITH A CASUAL reference to the nuclear age, John Farey depicted the romance in bronze:

Bronze is the color of a big brass band.
March down main street, horn in hand.
Bronze is buried pirate gold,
Molding there for years untold.
Bronze is the rising sun at day,
Over a mesa or over a bay
Of or bronzen grass stooping to
The weight of early morning dew.
In ages past bronze meant fears
For bronze meant war and shields and spears.
Atomic bombs have taken the place
Of the bronze and blood of a chariot race.
Though it can't be seen just at a glance,
The bronzen beauty of a shield or lance
Can be found at morn when the sun does rise,
Or any time you open your eyes.

VICKI McVEY struck a true note in pink:

Pink is your spirit on New Year's Day—
It's the color of your cheeks in an embarrassed way.
Purple, according to Dorothy Gulick, is—
A taste of purity and love of life,
Power of change
In the midst of strife.
The depth of a brain,
The first frontier—
The purple of a nucleous
Is hard to hear.

REFLECTING ON blue, Dan Olsen wrote:

As I look up as high as high
I can see the deep blue sky
The blue is the color I see in the sea
It shows a quivering duplicate of me.
With my own eyes
I see the true beauty of the skies.
And when I look into the sea
I see me, only me.

Traffic Signal Begins Working In San Anselmo

A new traffic signal in front of the Red Hill Shopping Center on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo went into operation yesterday.

The three-phase signal has separate signals for left turns. Timing will be adjusted as soon as the flow of traffic into the new shopping center can be determined, according to San Anselmo Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell.

He said Drake Boulevard, on the shopping center side, will be striped for two-lane traffic from the Hub intersection to El Cerrito Avenue, and parking will be prohibited on that stretch from 4 to 6 p.m.

Federal, State Programs May Need New Flexibility

Californians are being treated to the rare experience of having national leaders announce a continuation of Great Society spending on the one hand while the new state leadership is launching an austerity program that calls for a 10 per cent budget cut in all state agencies.

The end result may be that both philosophies will have to give a little.

President Johnson in his State of the Union message last week promised no slow-down in costly domestic programs such as increased social security and expanded war against poverty. These Great Society programs would be continued despite "more cost, more loss, and more agony" in Vietnam.

In California, new Gov. Ronald Reagan is attempting to make good his inaugural pledge to "squeeze, cut and trim" state expenditures. And in doing so, he is incurring the wrath of the university and college sectors, which fear that a cutback in their budgets will jeopardize the quality or quantity of education in the state.

To state taxpayers, interested primarily in how their pocketbooks will be affected, Governor Reagan's pronouncements strike a responsive chord. The enthusiasm with which the Governor is attempting to make good his campaign pledges is commendable.

But he may find that in practical application, the across-the-board budget cut proposal may prove to be too rigid.

For example, in the field of education, population growth alone may make it almost impossible to apply rigidly the 10 per cent cut in over-all budget without jeopardizing the quality of education or restricting educational opportunities for many of our young people.

If this should become apparent, we are hopeful that the new Administration will inject a little flexibility into the budget cut proposal in areas like education, which is one of California's big assets.

Ronald Reagan's landslide victory last November has been interpreted as a mandate from the people to cut government spending wherever possible. That he is attempting to do. Even if he manages to hold the line in most departments and cut back on only a few, that would be quite an accomplishment, in a state that is growing at the rate California is.

We doubt that the Reagan Administration will be able to bring about as much economy as hoped. But any trend in that direction is welcome.

Nationally, the President's hopes for more social security and an expanded war on poverty are likely to run up against some resistance, especially if a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income will have to be exacted from a population that is growing weary of high taxes.

National spending for Great Society programs may have to be compromised somewhat toward austerity, just as Governor Reagan's austerity goals may have to be relaxed somewhat in the other direction. Such developments would be in keeping with the Republican gains in the last election and the return of the two-party system both in Congress and in the State Legislature.

He made the same vow last year.

TRIBUTE TO TEACHER

What is a teacher? Here is one answer from an article written some years ago by Joy Elmer Morgan:

"The teacher is a prophet; he lays the foundations of tomorrow.

"The teacher is an artist; he works with the precious clay of unfolding personality.

"The teacher is a friend; his heart responds to the faith and devotion of his students.

"The teacher is a citizen; he is selected and licensed for the improvement of society.

"The teacher is a pioneer; he is always attempting the impossible and winning out.

"The teacher is a believer; he has abiding faith in the improvability of the human race."

You may have neither the calling nor the qualifications to be a teacher. But you can do something to relieve the never-ending need for better teachers.

Encourage at least one competent young man or woman to dedicate his or her God-given talent to the arduous but rewarding work of the classroom.

"Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them."

Bless all teachers, O Master, and enable them to grow in wisdom and understanding.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan Sets Record Straight On The Thorny Tuition Problem

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The subject of tuition at the University of California was discussed in a fairly thorough manner at the first full press conference of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He has proposed, he said, tuition as one alternative for solving a portion of the financial dilemma in which the state finds itself at the present time. The other alternative probably would be additional taxes.

His administration, he emphasized, has an open mind in the matter of solving the financial problems of the state, and the university which is one function of state government.

"WE ARE PRESENTING," he said, "what we believe are ways and means to meet these problems, but if somebody can throw something at us that reveals we are terribly wrong, we are certainly going to have an open mind about it."

Regarding his feeling on tuition at the university, Governor Reagan said:

"Frankly, I am sorry that the subject of tuition has to come up in context of a discussion of financial need.

"I WOULD LIKE to have seen the subject of tuition come up simply on the basis of a good thing for the young people who are going to the university. And I will tell you right now it is my own personal view that there is no such thing as 'free education.' There is costly education and the question is how do you share the cost and who pays the cost. At no time has this proposed tuition ($400 per year) come close to what it is costing us to educate the young people.

"I believe if provisions are made for scholarships for those that truly deserve them, and if provision is made for deferment in hardship cases of the paying of this after graduation, there is nothing wrong with the young people beginning to have a responsibility with regard to at least a portion of this cost."

OF COURSE, every mention of tuition in the university and state colleges brings down the wrath of the educators, in this instance headed by Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state colleges. He views even a proposal with "grave concern" for various reasons, and contends the matter should be submitted to a vote of the people for a decision from citizens.

Higher education without tuition appears to be a good thing as long as the taxpayers of the state can afford the luxury. But, as one astute legislative advocate put it, "Everyone's against tuition except the people."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Neighbors Helpful As Flames Threaten

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On Sunday, Jan. 8, when our house here in Lucas Valley was threatened by the fire that completely gutted the home next door, we witnessed an exceedingly fine display of helpfulness, offered readily and spontaneously, by all our close neighbors and even by some living several blocks away.

Moments after the fire was detected, neighbors helped us hose down our house, spread wet blankets, carry valuable paintings and furniture to safety and push the cars out of the garage.

Having lived in other countries before settling here, we can assure you that this degree of neighborly solidarity is not surpassed anywhere in the world. We might add that once the danger had passed, we received as much help in bringing our belongings back into the house.

We also want to add a word of praise for the community fire department who worked with great efficiency and discipline. Last, but not least, we admire the many volunteer firemen who at great personal sacrifices and with great courage make this community a safer place to live in.

Change Of Heart On Commute Plans?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Let's get a bus system rolling.

Your editorials of Nov. 30 and Dec. 3, 1966, plus your report on the Coverdale and Colpitts report, left the impression that it was finally recognized that a second deck is not a solution to the commuter problem, that a bus system, hopefully on an exclusive lane of the freeway, might be forthcoming.

Did you have a change of heart on Jan. 7? Now you are back to a second deck and a $300,000,000 crossing and trains —a system costing $800,000,000 according to Hardcastle. Yes, we need competent span engineers. We also need someone to figure the cost of various alternatives. Let's have a comparison of trains and a second crossing with the cost of adding one lane each way to the bridge (instead of a second deck for autos) for buses, gradually building a two lane freeway for buses only, which would be eventually converted to rubber tired trains powered with fuel cells. In the meantime we had better get an improved bus system rolling.

Should We Pay All College Students?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A more rational assessment of the university and college tuition increase proposal depends on a re-evaluation of the role of the student in our society. Though Mr. Rafferty seems to feel that the University curriculum consists of "sex, drugs, and treason," a more sane second look will reveal that the values created in our "factories of higher learning" are indispensable. The scientists, engineers, marketers, technicians and communicators that emerge from years of hard study are the strength of our economic and social system. We aren't doing the students a favor. We need them more than they need us.

It would make sense to pay them to go to school. There isn't any natural resource more valuable. The absurdity of raising school fees is a form of social self mutilation. All concerned citizens should work for the defeat of this ridiculous proposal.

Bold Men Like Striped Neckties, Conservatives Pick Neat Patterns

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Only one out of every 50 Americans goes through life without developing dental cavities. Yet fewer than 50 per cent of children under 15 years old have ever been to a dentist.

You remember your history pretty well if you can name the only place now under the American flag on which Christopher Columbus actually set foot. It is Puerto Rico.

College lads are hardly setting a new style when they strut around the campus in corduroy slacks. Corduroy was a popular fabric in this country as far back as the American Revolution.

NO WONDER housewives get tired. It is said that they walk up to seven miles a day doing their household chores and tramping up and down the aisles of supermarkets and department stores looking for bargains. That means by bedtime they have carried on their feet a load equivalent to more than a million pounds.

The next age-old contagious disease that mankind has slated for extinction is German measles which, through the mother, can afflict unborn children. Scientists expect a vaccine against this scourge will be developed for general use during the next decade.

Quotable notables: "I would rather have five energetic and competent enemies than one fool friend" — Luther Burbank.

A MAN'S NECKTIE is supposed to indicate his personality. Neat patterns are chosen by men conservative in thought and action; stripes, by bold decisive men; flamboyant, life-of-the-party types go in for colorful knitted ties, and extroverts prefer bow ties.

Western Union's latest gimmick is a perfume-by-wire service. But in ancient Rome the Emperor Nero used to scent his orgies by showering his guests with perfume from ceiling sprinklers.

Prosperity note: Nearly one out of every three U.S. adults now gets at least part of his income in the form of a regular check from the federal government.

Worth remembering: "If you lend someone $5 and never see him again, you got a great bargain."

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A NEW SECOND grade teacher, who had majored in psychology at college, gave every one of her charges this letter to take home to their parents after their first day in the fall semester: "Dear Mamas and Papas: If you'll promise not to believe everything your child tells you that happens at school, I'll promise not to believe everything I hear about what happens at home. Your child's teacher."

A BUS DRIVER deserted his perch long enough to collar a seedy-looking character some seats to the rear. "Don't you see that sign saying 'No Smoking Allowed'?" demanded the driver. "I do," admitted the passenger. "I also see the sign next to it saying 'Wear a Lovable Bra!' I ain't paying no attention to that one, either."

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Larkspur Downtown Businessmen's Assn. proposed to form an assessment district to purchase land for up to 200 parking spaces.

City Mgr. A. E. Almcrants ordered removal of Mill Valley's 28-year-old town clock because none of its four faces kept even remotely accurate time.

20 YEARS AGO

Three convicts, missing in San Quentin penitentiary for two days, were located hiding in a small light well in the prison library.

Sausalito City Council agreed to return South School to the Sausalito School District for $4,000 for the building and $1,250 for furniture and equipment.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Romney Already Has Charted His Course In Viet Conflict

WASHINGTON — Impressions to the contrary — for which he has been partly responsible — Gov. George Romney knows very well where he is headed on Vietnam — and it isn't going to be a "dovish" position.

While Romney is not going to give the Johnson administration anything like a blank-check endorsement of its conduct of the war— either militarily, diplomatically, or politically — he has definite guidelines within which his own ideas will be spelled out.

There is no doubt that he will have significant criticisms to make — and will make them pointedly — but they will be made within the framework of these controlling convictions:

THAT, SINCE we are in Vietnam, we can't now withdraw even if we wanted to and shouldn't withdraw if it meant allowing South Vietnam to be overrun by force.

That the United States couldn't ignore the situation as it developed; that is, we couldn't stand by and watch the aggression take place and do nothing about it. The defense of South Vietnam against being taken over by North Vietnam was necessary, if the word of the United States was to be kept.

That the United States must see it through.

THESE GUIDELINES to Romney's thinking on Vietnam do not mean that he believes the Johnson administration has handled the problem very well. He has substantial dissents and will develop them. But the governor does not intend to say anything that will give encouragement or comfort to Hanoi or will make it more difficult for the Presdient to run the war.

Here are the kinds of criticism which we can expect from Romney when he decides the time is appropriate.

He feels that both presidents Kennedy and Johnson should never have allowed our full-scale participation in the Vietnam war to develop without a frank, continuous, and full-scale exposition to the American people as to what was happening. He believes this lack of communication has been one of the biggest factors in resistance to the war among large numbers of people and has made it unnecessarily difficult for the President.

ROMNEY FEELS we could have done more before our large involvement to be assured we were going to get larger support from other Asian and Western Pacific nations whose very safety is at stake.

He is by no means convinced that the bombing of North Vietnam is the best means of choking off the flow of men and arms into South Vietnam.

He would like to see the South Vietnamese do more to encourage the indigenous Viet Cong to return to peaceful participation in the democratic process — as the Philippine government so successfully encouraged the Huks.

Romney himself considers the dove-hawk terms often misleading. He doesn't consider himself a hawk just because he believes that the U. S. must do what is necessary to defeat the aggression. He believes there must be limits on the use of U. S. airpower. He doesn't consider himself a dove because he doubts that bombing the North is the best way to stop infiltration.

MY OWN IMPRESSION is that Romney, while willing to see the U. S. try to negotiate a settlement which secures the independence of South Vietnam, feels that President Johnson is talking too much about negotiation and is unintentionally feeding the wishful thinking on the part of Hanoi that we are weakening and want to negotiate in order to get out.

If I have correctly set out Romney's thinking, as I believe I have, then it seems to me that the Michigan Governor is going to contrbute needed impetus toward making the Republican position on Vietnam credible and defensible. Too many Republicans try to get away with criticising incidental mistakes without making it clear whether they really support the defense of South Vietnam against aggression. Romney is not going to make that mistake.

Reapportionment Party Shakeups

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The next target in the "one man, one vote" battle will be the Democratic and Republican state committees.

Legal actions, similar to those forcing the reapportionment of legislatures, are being planned by political groups in several states to extend this Supreme Court ruling to these party organizations.

STATE COMMITTEE members, considered to be the backbone of both political parties, are now elected by counties, which vary widely in number of voters of both parties.

If the "one man, one vote" rule should apply, the state committee members would be elected from areas where party voters would be more equally represented.

Party organizations in large cities, with their growing numbers of voters, would be the big gainers, while those in the rural areas would be the losers.

This is the potentially explosive political development highlighted in a confidential memorandum that Democratic National Chairman John Bailey has given President Johnson.

BAILEY, WHO is staying on as party chairman for 1967 at the request of the President, reported that the proposed legal moves are being readied by warring factions within the parties in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Of the most immediate significance to Democrats, according to Bailey, is the legal action being prepared by attorneys for the Philadelphia Democratic city organization.

This powerful Democratic group, now locked in a bitter inner-party dispute with Sen. Joseph Clark, will go into federal court next month and attack the make-up of the pro-Clark State Democratic Committee.

This legal battle, which is expected to go all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, is designed to force the selection of state committee members from reapportioned areas rather than by counties, as is now the case.

ALTHOUGH THE Pennsylvania legal squabble could cost the party Clark's seat in 1968, this legal maneuver is being watched at the Democratic National Committee not so much for its effect on that Senate race as for its legal impact on the political structure of both parties.

According to Bailey's report to the President, a court victory for the Democratic city organization could become a landmark for applying the "one man, one vote" rule to all other state committees.

If this happens, the veteran Democratic leader stressed, the results could lead to vast changes in state and local leadership before the 1968 presidential campaign.

SIGNIFICANTLY, any changes in make-up of these state committees, if decreed by the courts, will come at a time when their political importance is on the rise.

Instead of being burdened with fund raising as in past campaigns, these state committees' main task in the future will be one of spending money allotted them.

Old Fogy Takes Another Look At Today's Concern With Sex

IT IS THE apparent conviction of our current intelligentsia that they discovered sex and love and that, until they arrived on the scene to enlighten us, previous generations got all their babies from Macy's or Gimbel's. With, obviously, no return privileges—or there might have been no intelligensia.

I disagree. The Bible wou'd indicate that once there was Eve, sex wasn't very far behind. And, if you think love is a recent creation, there is the Song of Solomon.

Yes, Virginia, mother and dad knew all about it even if they didn't make it a 24-hour daily affair. And I fear the new permissiveness only muddies what were clear waters.

FOR YOUNGSTERS like puppies, are lovable but untaught savages whose natural curiosity can get them into dangerous mischief unless they are guided by discipline. They both need, to make no bones about it, to be housebroken—or they will remain savages.

About six years ago, when this decade was still in its diapers, I found myself shaken by some of the hit shows running on the New York stage, of which I had long been an aficionado. Then I leaped from the frying pan into the fire by reading two of the year's best-sellers.

The combination proved traumatic. Not that I don't know all the four-letter words or that I was unaware—newspapermen do get around, you know—of the eccentric behavior that may go on between two peculiar but consenting adults.

WHAT DISTURBED me was not that such books and plays were produced—we've always had such free-wheelers—but that the critics could acclaim them. The old-time reviewer I thought, would have given them the back of his hand—and that would have been that.

For most of these offerings, if you took out the let's-be-shocking words, would have fallen flat on their faces. And even those that showed some talent might have been much better if the author had closed the door behind his characters after they'd entered the bedroom or bathroom. An ounce of suggestion, as every good artist has demonstrated, can be far more effective than a ton of photographic realism which omits no ugly detail.

At any rate, so I mused and wrote a piece rhetorically titled, "Are These the Smutty Sixties?" Which promptly brought me maledictions from the avant-garde, who termed me a dirty anti-intellectual, a Victorian too cowardly to face life in the raw and — most crushing of all—"just an old fogy."

NATURALLY, I have since avoided any reference to the controversial subject of sex. I read "Peyton Place" and found it a mess of garbage, both in content and style; but, though here some critics agreed, wild horses could not get me to say so in print. For all I know, that volume may yet win a belated Nobel Prize for its significant portrayal of contemporary American life, and be made required reading in our high-schools.

That isn't so far-fetched. At the moment, sex is a round-the-clock fetish that pervades our every field and every age-bracket. Our ads reek with it, and almost every publication devotes considerable space to it. Indeed, don't be surprised if some enterprising plublisher of educational material issues a paparback grammar with the picture of a nude on the cover.

Hopefully, the youngster would go all the way through in search of salty stuff and thus learn not to say "between you and I" before he realized he had been gypped.

A RECENT ABC commentary, "Sex in the Sixties," strongly hints that, at the college level, there are few taboos, if any, and that virginity is no longer the norm. One professor rather proudly proclaims that we are shedding the "Puritan ethic" in a glorious sexual revolution that will bring us to the more enlightened attitude of Sweden in these matters.

Strangely, he makes no mention of the fact that the incidence of venereal disease in the age 16-24 bracket has risen to alarming proportions during this glorious revolution we are undergoing. But I suppose that's the difference the optimist, who looks only on the bright side, and the pessimist, who's apt to be an old fogy.

Oh, well, let's not be counter-revolutionary. Sex, anybody?

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By CAROL MARSH

Young Students Express Life In Shades Of Color Tone Poems

Seventh and eighth graders in Jeane Yates' class at Red Hill School in San Anselmo, asked to write poems about color, produced surprising ideas and some poems that are not only "good for seventh and eighth graders," but simply good.

Silvia Botermans authorized the silver poem.

GRAY, A less like color, inspured one of the best poems, by Margaret Latchman, who wrote;

Gray is fog upon the bay
Determined to stay
Another day.
Matter-of-fact is the color gray.
Gray is between day and night,
A blending of black and white,
Its somber tones are for trim,
But with bright colors it's full of vim!
Very often life is gray,
Normal amounts of work and play,
Exciting are blue, red and pink,
But gray is a livable color, I think.

WITH A CASUAL reference to the nuclear age, John Farey depicted the romance in bronze:

Bronze is the color of a big brass band,
March down main street, horn in hand,
Bronze is buried pirate gold,
Molding there for years untold.
Bronze is the rising sun at day,
Over a mesa or over a bay
Of or bronzen grass stooping to
The weight of early morning dew.
In ages past bronze meant fears
For bronze meant war and shields and spears.
Atomic bombs have taken the place
Of the bronze and blood of a chariot race.
Though it can't be seen just at a glance,
The bronzen beauty of a shield or lance
Can be found at morn when the sun does rise,
Or any time you open your eyes.

VICKI McVEY struck a true note in pink:

Pink is your spirit on New Year's Day—
It's the color of your cheeks in an embarrassed way.
Purple, according to Dorothy Gulick, is—
A taste of purity and love of life,
Power of change
In the midst of strife.
The depth of a brain,
The first frontier—
The purple of a nucleous
Is hard to hear.

REFLECTING ON blue, Dan Olsen wrote:

As I look up as high as high
I can see the deep blue sky
The blue is the color I see in the sea
It shows a quivering duplicate of me.
With my own eyes
I see the true beauty of the skies.
And when I look into the sea
I see me, only me.

Traffic Signal Begins Working In San Anselmo

A new traffic signal in front of the Red Hill Shopping Center on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo went into operation yesterday.

The three-phase signal has separate signals for left turns. Timing will be adjusted as soon as the flow of traffic into the new shopping center can be determined, according to San Anselmo Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell.

He said Drake Boulevard, on the shopping center side, will be striped for two-lane traffic from the Hub intersection to El Cerrito Avenue, and parking will be prohibited on that stretch from 4 to 6 p.m.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hoarseness May Result Simply From Noisy Abuse Of Larnyx

VAN DELLEN

Many individuals abuse their larynx. Those with the most boisterous voices become hoarse, but the incident is forgotten when the voice returns to normal within the next day or two. Hoarseness was due to vocal fatigue or injury of the vocal chords through misuse.

There is no objection to these week-end sprees, but excessive use of the voice may have a more lasting effect upon the larynx. Many with innocent tumors, nodes, or polyps on the vocal cords admit they have mistreated their voice over a long period. Clergymen, singers, public speakers, politicians, and hucksters are candidates.

HOARSENESS IS a tricky symptom because it may mean cancer. It is for this reason the medical profession suggests early examination when hoarseness continues for more than three weeks.

Malignancies are easily controled when detected in this stage, and treatment is relatively simple in that removal of the entire larynx is not required.

However, when the disease is more extensive all the tissue in the laryngeal area must be taken out. Loss of the talking mechanisim ensues requiring the use of esophalgeal speech or an artificial voice box.

ONE TEXTBOOK dealing with diseases of the nose, throat, and ears lists 54 causes of hoarsness. Cancer is No. 1 on the list, followed by infections including tuberculosis. Ordinary laryngitis ranks 43rd despite the fact that it is looked upon as the most common cause.

Puberty also is mentioned, indicating that the change or "break" in the voice of teen-age boys is a recognized form of hoarseness. The same can be said of feebleness of the laryngeal muscles associated with old age.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

COMPLICATION OF MUMPS

Mrs. D. Z. writes: Did you ever hear of encephalitis following a case of mumps? This is what the doctor tells me my daughter has.

REPLY

Mumps encephalitis is a real disease and in the last decade has been recognized more and more frequently by physicians. We now know that in some instances the mumps virus prefers the brain, causes encephalitis, and by-passes the salivary glands entirely. Vice versa is more common, however.

FUNCTION OF INSULIN

Mrs. R. J. writes: What does insulin do in diabetes?

REPLY

It supplies what is lacking. The pancreas fails to manufacture enough insulin in diabetes. As a result, the carbohydrates ingested are not metabolized properly but pass out of the body via the urine. To overcome the deficit, insulin is injected. The antidiabetic pills are more useful when diabetes develops later in life.

CHILD LOSES TEETH

Mrs. D. writes: My 5-year-old daughter lost two top front teeth last year and so far the second teeth have not grown in. Does this mean she will have to have dentures?

REPLY

No. X-rays of the upper jaw will disclose two front teeth just waiting to erupt. I hope she is wearing space retainers.

FREEZING APPENDIX

R. M. writes: What is meant by freezing the appendix as a treatment?

REPLY

In the past, ice bags were applied to the lower abdomen to prevent an inflamed appendix from "coming to a head" and rupturing. Today, penicillin is used for this purpose.

Today's Health Hint—About one-third of those who commit suicide are chronic alcoholics.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Securities Law Protects Public

Joe Jones, a partner in a brokerage firm, worked with an associate who was also a director in the Surfire Company. Joe learned from him that Surefire would cut its dividend, a fact not available to the public.

Joe sold some of his Surefire stock to Bob Smith but did not tell him about the dividend. Afterwards the stock fell after the dividend cut.

Bob reported this transaction to the Securities Exchange Commission. The SEC said that Joe was an "insider" who had a duty to disclose his inside information. Failing in that, Joe violated the anti-fraud provisions of the law. The SEC disciplined Joe.

The 1920's and '30s saw stock manipulation which hurt stockholders. As a result Congress passed laws against people with inside information dealing with stocks. They had to disclose the facts or not deal. Company officers have a legal duty not to profit secretly at the public's expense. Any person with more than 10 per cent beneficial ownership in a company must report his stock dealings to the SEC. If they take some secret profiting or unfair advantage of other investors, the SEC may charge them with fraud.

Under the recent case the Commission decided that a company's close business associate is an "insider." He can buy and sell stocks to his own advantage only when he discloses his information to those he deals with.

The law aims to encourage the public to invest in stocks and new ventures. For this the investor needs some assurance that he is trading in a fair market, and the rule against insiders cuts down some unfairness.

To prove a case against an "insider," one must prove that he was not just acting on rumor.

The Commission may require the insider to disgorge his profits. If he profits at the company's expense, stockholders may make him return his gains to the company.

NOTE: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Whiplash Injury In Auto Crash

A Fairfax man suffered a whiplash injury when his car was struck from the rear by another car in front of Sir Francis Drake High Sschool yesterday at 3:45 p.m., according to Sam Anselmo police.

Floyd A. Anderson, 45, of Bolinas Road, Fairfax, told police he was stopped for a traffic signal on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when a car driven by Thomas R. Yuill, 16, of 525 Heather Way, San Rafael, struck the rear end of his car.

Anderson complained of neck injury, but refused treatment.

Novato Junior Chamber To Host Bosses, Honorees

A combination distinguished service award and bosses' night banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Lodge in Novato by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"Service to humanity," with the topic of the principal address by Bruce Bales, Marin County district attorney.

The junior chamber will honor a person selected as the most distinguished young man in the community this year. Nominations were made by individuals and organizations and the selection was made in secret by a panel of judges from the junior chamber.

Employers of members of the junior chamber will be guests of the members they employ.

Meeting Canceled

Only commissioners Mrs. Brooks Pringle and Walter A. Anderson turned up for a special meeting of the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday, so the meeting was canceled for lack of a quorum.

Students Cast Votes In Run-Off Election

Run-off election for student body president of San Rafael High School between David Brown and Charles Rosenblad was held today.

The seniors were the only announced candidates in this week's election, but a write-in, Patti Rubenstein, polled so many votes that a run-off was forced.

Donald Timmer was elected student body vice president, and Janet Noble, student body secretary, with Cynthia Sayles as director of social affairs and Shari Liggett director of assemblies.

Senior class election winners were: Kersey Clausen, president; Robert Ryan, vice president; Deborah McClain, secretary-treasurer, social affairs, Cynthia Jensen; congress: Kersey Clausen, Steven Hauge, John Houston, Edward Johnston, Rodney Lame, Robert Maglione, and Peter Tupas.

Junior class: Herbert Rowland, vice president; Shelly Hecht, secretary-treasurer; congress: John Buehler, Peter Carpou, William Ceglarz, William Hamilton, Christine O'Kane, Patricia Peterson, Nancy Pridmore; Michelle Burton, social affairs.

Sophomore: Pamela Nelson, president; Celeste Jessen, vice president; Carol Waxman, secretary-treasurer; Majorie Joost, director of social affairs; congress: Steven Bacon, Catherine Ceglarz, Derek Ckark, Constance Croker, Jeffry Godwin, Teresa Moran, Pamela Nelson, and Marsha Wagner.

Freshman: Russell Colombo, vice president; Jane Rubenstein, director of social affairs; congress: Bruce D'Ambra, Mitchell Grandi, Rick Haenggi, Daniel Jordan, Michael McPherson, Eric Miller, Anthony Nathe, David Ripp, Robert Smity.

The school has a policy against disclosing the number of votes cast for the candidates.

Teen-Ager's Traffic Death Restores Vision For Two

BONITA (UPI) — The traffic death of a 16-year-old boy has resulted in two persons regaining their eyesight, the boy's mother revealed yesterday.

Steven Barnett, 16, of this San Diego county community, was fatally injured last Thursday when the car he was driving to Las Vegas, Nev., went out of control and rolled off U.S. 91 just west of Baker, Calif.

Moments after the youth died in St. Bernardine's Hospital in San Bernardino, his mother, Mrs. Joe G. Barnett, was asked by a nun if his eyes could be used for transplants.

"I was shocked by the request and didn't know what to say," she said. "You get the feeling you don't want them touched—that they have been through enough.

"My daughter Leslie was sitting there with me and I asked her what to do. She said she thought Steve would have approved, so I consented and signed the papers."

Mrs. Barnett was notified yesterday that John Vitek, 31, of Rialto had been given one eye and John B. Cenname, 13, of Upland the other. Vitek was blind in the left eye and his other eye was going blind rapidly, Dr. Glen R. Bending, a San Bernardino Ophthalmologist said. Cenname had been blind in the left eye for one year because no suitable donor had been found.

Bending said both patient recipients already have vision in their restored eyes and the transplants apparently will prove successful. He said the operations were possible only because of Mrs. Barnett's prompt decision.

Toll Payers' Peculiarities Are Recited

Paying toll on the Golden Gate Bridge is one particular bridge some people believe in crossing when they come to it.

California Highway Patrol Capt. Edward Moore told of some of the less serious things that happen at the toll plaza when he spoke to the Marin Coin Club at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley last night, reported Edward Ryan, treasurer.

It is to Moore's office that people must go who find themselves without the 25 cents to get them through the plaza.

He told of some motorists who laboriously count out handfuls of pennies only to find themselves four cents short.

One person, who drives regularly across the bridge, arrives at the toll plaza and, without a word reaches under the car seat. He pulls out a long wooden paddle, carefully places a quarter on the end and hands it through the window to the collector.

Why? Moore thought the motorist may have a phobia about static electricity, said Ryan.

Grease Burns Followed By Dope Charges

Grease popping in a frying pan led Mill Valley police yesterday to what they believe was a cache of marijuana.

Police were notified by the county communications service that an ambulance was en route to 101 Sarah Drive to pick up a man who had been burned while frying an egg. The officers went there to assist.

While the ambulance was taking Patrick Fitzsimmons, 40, to Marin General Hospital for treatment of grease burns on chest and right arm, police found what they believed to be marijuana in a coffee grinder in the kitchen and on a table in the living room. Also in the livingroom, they reported, was a water pipe of the type used to smoke marijuana.

They booked August Walter Kelley, 21, his wife, Anna, 20, and David Earnest Harris, 19, all residents at the address, at the county jail on suspicion of possessing narcotics and narcotics equipment. All three were released on their own recogizance.

Wrong Address In Baby Story

The first patient in the new maternity ward at Hamilton Air Force Base was listed in a story in yesterday's Independent-Journal as Mrs. Ronald C. Mellinger of 201 West Kelly Drive on the base.

Mrs. Millinger, wife of S/Sgt. Ronald C. Mellinger, lives at 792 Ignacio Boulevard in Raphael Village. The address given is the home of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Joseph A. Mellinger.

Reagan Crime Bills Going To Senators

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Portions of Gov. Reagan's anti-crime program calling for a Crime Technological Research Foundation and for life sentences for persons convicted of "inflicting great bodily harm" in robbery, burglary or rape were introduced today in the Senate.

Sen. George Dukmejian, R-Long Beach, sponsored the legislation. He is heading a legislative task force drawing up proposals for the governor's program.

BOARD TO RULE

The bill setting up the scientific crime-fighting foundation would provide that the governor appoint a 10-member board to direct the organization.

Deukmejian introduced two other anti-crime bills which he said weren't part of Reagan's program. One measure would require legal questions dealing with search and seizure to be settled before trial. The other would make it illegal to leave keys in an unattended car with a fine of up to $25.

RECORD SECRECY

Other parts of Reagan's crime program call for guaranteeing local governments the right to pass laws to cope with local problems and hiding from public view the records of persons arrested but not convicted of crimes.

Similar bills have been introduced in the Senate, but not by Deukmejian.

OBSCENITY IDEA

Another part of Reagan's program against crime dealing with obscenity was introduced in the upper house by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai. His bills would attempt to protect persons under 18 from obscene literature and would rewrite California law along lines of recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions.

In related legislation, Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, proposed that anyone found innocent of violating the state business and professions code shall be exempt from any proceedings by state boards or licensing agencies based on the same charge.

Kuchel Wants U.S. Income For Parks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., proposed today that federal revenues from mining and offshore oil royalties be used for national parks and other major recreation projects.

Kuchel said the earmarking of such revenues for recreation purposes would provide from $90 million to $300 million a year.

The recommendation was made during a news conference at which Kuchel also urged creation of a redwood national park in California and diversion of water into the lower Colorado River.

When questioning by newsmen turned to politics, Kuchel declined to discuss his expected candidacy for re-election to the Senate. He also gave restrained answers to questions about Ronald Reagan, who said he would not support Kuchel in the primary next year.

Kuchel said the land and water conservation fund was currently "a little on the low side" and in need of additional funds. He said he would introduce legislation to authorize federal mining and offshore oil royalties to be deposited in the fund rather than into the general fund of the treasury.

In discussing the redwood park proposal, Kuchel said it was "quite reasonable" for Reagan to have asked for additional time for the new state administration to study the plan.

A redwood national park, Kuchel said, was "completely in the public interest" but would require agreement of both conservationist groups and state officials.

Kuchel also said he was "delighted" by Reagan's appointment of William Gielli as water resources director to replace William Warne.

Asked about his political plans, Kuchel said he had "no desire ever to become a candidate for president or vice president" but declined to discuss any plans to seek re-election to the Senate.

But Kuchel, who dropped regular news conferences after his re-election in 1962, said he had recognized a need to get back to California more often and to "have a few more press conferences than I did last year."

County Eyes Spider, Cat Bite Cases

Ocelot and black widow bites suffered by county employees in the line of duty were the biggest concerns before the Marin County Safety Commission today.

The commission told heavy equipment operator John M. Costa Jr. of the county fire department that he erred in not immedaitely getting medical help after being bitten twice by a black widow spider at the county fire department headquarters in Woodacre on Dec. 7.

Costa, 43, on call for the evening, was bitten after getting into bed in the department ready room. The spider, under his pillow, bit him twice on the back before he killed it. He recognized it as a black widow, but went to bed without reporting the bites or asking for help.

DATA LACKING

The next day, he saw a doctor after suffering pains in his legs. He was home for four days recovering.

The commission agreed it did not have enough information on a dispute between Deputy Sheriff Eugene D. Brannon, 35, and an ocelot in Tiburon Dec. 2. The deputy was bitten and scratched on both hands.

Commissioners wanted to know the where, why, and how of the incident. Brannon, not present today, received a tetanus shot, according to a brief report.

The commission also complained of sketchy information on facial cuts suffered by supervising group counselor Donald Quayle at Juvenile Hall Nov. 27 when he tried to subdue a youth and was hit and cut on the face with glass.

CASES DELAYED

Both the Brannon and Quayle cases were put off until next month so they could be discussed with more details.

In line with recent changes in the membership guide for the commission, it recommended building maintenance foreman William Sullivan, representing employees, and Director Betty L. Presley of the welfare department, as department head at large, for one-year terms. County Medical Director Michael Scholl was recommended for a two-year term, replacing County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht.

CONSIDERING A NEWSPAPER CAREER?

The newspaper is no place for someone who likes it soft. Newspaper work is hard and challenging, intellectually and physically.

But there are rewards—good financial rewards and other rewards, too.

The newspaperman knows he contributes to keeping people informed, and no society can remain free without information.

He helps his newspaper mirror the community's thinking, and a society must exchange its best thoughts to motivate its highest achievements.

He and his newspaper provide businessmen with an unparalleled way for telling the community about their products and services, and a free marketplace cannot exist without news of the marketplace.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hoarseness May Result Simply From Noisy Abuse Of Larnyx

VAN DELLEN

Many individuals abuse their larynx. Those with the most boisterous voices become hoarse, but the incident is forgotten when the voice returns to normal within the next day or two. Hoarseness was due to vocal fatigue or injury of the vocal chords through misuse.

There is no objection to these week-end sprees, but excessive use of the voice may have a more lasting effect upon the larynx. Many with innocent tumors, nodes, or polyps on the vocal cords admit they have mistreated their voice over a long period. Clergymen, singers, public speakers, politicians, and hucksters are candidates.

HOARSENESS IS a tricky symptom because it may mean cancer. It is for this reason the medical profession suggests early examination when hoarseness continues for more than three weeks.

Malignancies are easily controled when detected in this stage, and treatment is relatively simple in that removal of the entire larynx is not required.

However, when the disease is more extensive all the tissue in the laryngeal area must be taken out. Loss of the talking mechanisim ensues requiring the use of esophalgeal speech or an artificial voice box.

ONE TEXTBOOK dealing with diseases of the nose, throat, and ears lists 54 causes of hoarsness. Cancer is No. 1 on the list, followed by infections including tuberculosis. Ordinary laryngitis ranks 43rd despite the fact that it is looked upon as the most common cause.

Puberty also is mentioned, indicating that the change or "break" in the voice of teen-age boys is a recognized form of hoarseness. The same can be said of feebleness of the laryngeal muscles associated with old age.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

COMPLICATION OF MUMPS

Mrs. D. Z. writes: Did you ever hear of encephalitis following a case of mumps? This is what the doctor tells me my daughter has.

REPLY

Mumps encephalitis is a real disease and in the last decade has been recognized more and more frequently by physicians. We now know that in some instances the mumps virus prefers the brain, causes encephalitis, and by-passes the salivary glands entirely. Vice versa is more common, however.

FUNCTION OF INSULIN

Mrs. R. J. writes: What does insulin do in diabetes?

REPLY

It supplies what is lacking. The pancreas fails to manufacture enough insulin in diabetes. As a result, the carbohydrates ingested are not metabolized properly but pass out of the body via the urine. To overcome the deficit, insulin is injected. The antidiabetic pills are more useful when diabetes develops later in life.

CHILD LOSES TEETH

Mrs. D. writes: My 5-year-old daughter lost two top front teeth last year and so far the second teeth have not grown in. Does this mean she will have to have dentures?

REPLY

No. X-rays of the upper jaw will disclose two front teeth just waiting to erupt. I hope she is wearing space retainers.

FREEZING APPENDIX

R. M. writes: What is meant by freezing the appendix as a treatment?

REPLY

In the past, ice bags were applied to the lower abdomen to prevent an inflamed appendix from "coming to a head" and rupturing. Today, penicillin is used for this purpose.

Today's Health Hint—About one-third of those who commit suicide are chronic alcoholics.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Securities Law Protects Public

Joe Jones, a partner in a brokerage firm, worked with an associate who was also a director in the Surfire Company. Joe learned from him that Surefire would cut its dividend, a fact not available to the public.

Joe sold some of his Surefire stock to Bob Smith but did not tell him about the dividend. Afterwards the stock fell after the dividend cut.

Bob reported this transaction to the Securities Exchange Commission. The SEC said that Joe was an "insider" who had a duty to disclose his inside information. Failing in that, Joe violated the anti-fraud provisions of the law. The SEC disciplined Joe.

The 1920's and '30s saw stock manipulation which hurt stockholders. As a result Congress passed laws against people with inside information dealing with stocks. They had to disclose the facts or not deal. Company officers have a legal duty not to profit secretly at the public's expense. Any person with more than 10 per cent beneficial ownership in a company must report his stock dealings to the SEC. If they take some secret profiting or unfair advantage of other investors, the SEC may charge them with fraud.

Under the recent case the Commission decided that a company's close business associate is an "insider." He can buy and sell stocks to his own advantage only when he discloses his information to those he deals with.

The law aims to encourage the public to invest in stocks and new ventures. For this the investor needs some assurance that he is trading in a fair market, and the rule against insiders cuts down some unfairness.

To prove a case against an "insider," one must prove that he was not just acting on rumor.

The Commission may require the insider to disgorge his profits. If he profits at the company's expense, stockholders may make him return his gains to the company.

Whiplash Injury In Auto Crash

A Fairfax man suffered a whiplash injury when his car was struck from the rear by another car in front of Sir Francis Drake High Sschool yesterday at 3:45 p.m., according to Sam Anselmo police.

Anderson complained of neck injury, but refused treatment.

Novato Junior Chamber To Host Bosses, Honorees

A combination distinguished service award and bosses' night banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Lodge in Novato by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"Service to humanity," with the topic of the principal address by Bruce Bales, Marin County district attorney.

The junior chamber will honor a person selected as the most distinguished young man in the community this year. Nominations were made by individuals and organizations and the selection was made in secret by a panel of judges from the junior chamber.

Employers of members of the junior chamber will be guests of the members they employ.

Meeting Canceled

Only commissioners Mrs. Brooks Pringle and Walter A. Anderson turned up for a special meeting of the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday, so the meeting was canceled for lack of a quorum.

Bobby Kennedy Sent $2 For Real Haircut

WASHINGTON (AP)—A New Yorker — concerned about the image of the Empire State—has sent Sen. Robert F. Kennedy $2 for a haircut.

Emanuel F. Manheimer, 25, Ossining, N.Y., said Kennedy's bushy head had bothered him for some time. But seeing the senator on television last week on the night of President Johnson's State of the Union message really was the last straw, he said.

"I am enclosing a check in the amount of $2," he said, "to maintain an image that the country might have of the Empire State." He said that when he once worked as a state park employee his boss "wouldn't allow us to report to work like that."

Kennedy apparently was unconcerned.

"I got a haircut Monday. Tell Mr. Manheimer to watch me at my next public appearance," he said through an office spokesman.

The American railroads, finding it difficult to operate coast to coast within the dozens of different time systems, divided the nation into its present zones, thus inventing standard time, in the 1880s.

Hope's Wife Steals His Viet Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A dignified and attractive lady turned up as a surprise visitor last night on Bob Hope's annual 90-minute NBC-TV broadcast of his Christmas visit to American troops overseas, and she was a rare delight.

As it happens, the lady's name is Dolores Hope, she is married to the comedian, and her rendition of "White Christmas" at her husband's show in Saigon came close to stealing the program — and not for sentimental reasons either. She simply sang wonderfully, and her performance was easily the most creative and sophisticated piece of showmanship in the broadcast. The comedian was a wise fellow to have her fly over from Tokyo to perform in Vietnam for the huge audience of servicemen.

Mrs. Hope, by the way, did not pick up the ability to sing by watching Bing Crosby movies. She was a professional singer. More than three decades ago, when Hope was appearing in the show "Roberta" in New York, George Murphy—then the performer, now the senator—took him to a nightclub where a girl named Dolores Reade was singing. He introduced them, and in 1932 they were married.

Price Of Milk Will Be Hiked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Agriculture Department said today minimum milk prices charged consumers in the Redwood milk marketing area will go up one half cent on Jan. 25.

The reason is higher costs of processing and distribution, said W. J. Hunt Jr., chief of the dairy industry division. A hearing on the prices was held in Santa Rosa Dec. 14.

The half-cent increase applies to both quarts and half gallons.

Red Trawlers Off The Coast

LONG BEACH (AP)—Russian fishing trawlers have been spotted cruising about six miles off Catalina Island in the San Pedro Channel, the California Department of Fish and Game reports.

But, the department said yesterday, as long as the vessels do not cruise closer than three miles from either the island or the mainland, they may enjoy "innocent passage" through waters of the channel.

The department also released a series of photos showing Russian trawlers and a mother ship engaged in fishing activities beyond the 12-mile zone.

The department reported spotting at least five 300-foot trawlers and a 12,000-ton freezer supply ship.

Run-off election for student body president of San Rafael High School between David Brown and Charles Rosenblad was held today.

The seniors were the only announced candidates in this week's election, but a write-in, Patti Rubenstein, polled so many votes that a run-off was forced.

Run-o-offs were scheduled, too for junior class president between William Hamilton and Paul Kent, for freshman class president between Carl Alarcon and Daniel Coleman, and for freshman class secretary between two write-in candidates, Pam Bacci and Kelly Wolfe.

Donald Timmer was elected student body vice president, and Janet Noble, student body secretary, with Cynthia Sayles as director of social affairs and Shari Liggett director of assemblies.

The school has a policy against disclosing the number of votes cast for the candidates.

Teen-Ager's Traffic Death Restores Vision For Two

BONITA (UPI) — The traffic death of a 16-year-old boy has resulted in two persons regaining their eyesight, the boy's mother revealed yesterday.

Steven Barnett, 16, of this San Diego county community, was fatally injured last Thursday when the car he was driving to Las Vegas, Nev., went out of control and rolled off U.S. 91 just west of Baker, Calif.

Moments after the youth died in St. Bernardine's Hospital in San Bernardino, his mother, Mrs. Joe G. Barnett, was asked by a nun if his eyes could be used for transplants.

"I was shocked by the request and didn't know what to say," she said. "You get the feeling you don't want them touched—that they have been through enough.

"My daughter Leslie was sitting there with me and I asked her what to do. She said she thought Steve would have approved, so I consented and signed the papers."

Mrs. Barnett was notified yesterday that John Vitek, 31, of Rialto had been given one eye and John B. Cenname, 13, of Upland the other. Vitek was blind in the left eye and his other eye was going blind rapidly, Dr. Glen R. Bending, a San Bernardino Ophthalmologist said. Cenname had been blind in the left eye for one year because no suitable donor had been found.

Bending said both patient recipients already have vision in their restored eyes and the transplants apparently will prove successful. He said the operations were possible only because of Mrs. Barnett's prompt decision.

Toll Payers' Peculiarities Are Recited

Paying toll on the Golden Gate Bridge is one particular bridge some people believe in crossing when they come to it.

California Highway Patrol Capt. Edward Moore told of some of the less serious things that happen at the toll plaza when he spoke to the Marin Coin Club at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley last night, reported Edward Ryan, treasurer.

It is to Moore's office that people must go who find themselves without the 25 cents to get them through the plaza.

He told of some motorists who laboriously count out handfuls of pennies only to find themselves four cents short.

One person, who drives regularly across the bridge, arrives at the toll plaza and, without a word reaches under the car seat. He pulls out a long wooden paddle, carefully places a quarter on the end and hands it through the window to the collector.

Why? Moore thought the motorist may have a phobia about static electricity, said Ryan.

Grease Burns Followed By Dope Charges

Grease popping in a frying pan led Mill Valley police yesterday to what they believe was a cache of marijuana.

Police were notified by the county communications service that an ambulance was en route to 101 Sarah Drive to pick up a man who had been burned while frying an egg. The officers went there to assist.

While the ambulance was taking Patrick Fitzsimmons, 40, to Marin General Hospital for treatment of grease burns on chest and right arm, police found what they believed to be marijuana in a coffee grinder in the kitchen and on a table in the living room. Also in the livingroom, they reported, was a water pipe of the type used to smoke marijuana.

They booked August Walter Kelley, 21, his wife, Anna, 20, and David Earnest Harris, 19, all residents at the address, at the county jail on suspicion of possessing narcotics and narcotics equipment. All three were released on their own recogizance.

Wrong Address In Baby Story

The first patient in the new maternity ward at Hamilton Air Force Base was listed in a story in yesterday's Independent-Journal as Mrs. Ronald C. Mellinger of 201 West Kelly Drive on the base.

Mrs. Millinger, wife of S/Sgt. Ronald C. Mellinger, lives at 792 Ignacio Boulevard in Raphael Village. The address given is the home of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Joseph A. Mellinger.

Reagan Crime Bills Going To Senators

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Portions of Gov. Reagan's anti-crime program calling for a Crime Technological Research Foundation and for life sentences for persons convicted of "inflicting great bodily harm" in robbery, burglary or rape were introduced today in the Senate.

Sen. George Dukmejian, R-Long Beach, sponsored the legislation. He is heading a legislative task force drawing up proposals for the governor's program.

BOARD TO RULE

The bill setting up the scientific crime-fighting foundation would provide that the governor appoint a 10-member board to direct the organization.

Deukmejian introduced two other anti-crime bills which he said weren't part of Reagan's program. One measure would require legal questions dealing with search and seizure to be settled before trial. The other would make it illegal to leave keys in an unattended car with a fine of up to $25.

RECORD SECRECY

Other parts of Reagan's crime program call for guaranteeing local governments the right to pass laws to cope with local problems and hiding from public view the records of persons arrested but not convicted of crimes.

Similar bills have been introduced in the Senate, but not by Deukmejian.

OBSCENITY IDEA

Another part of Reagan's program against crime dealing with obscenity was introduced in the upper house by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai. His bills would attempt to protect persons under 18 from obscene literature and would rewrite California law along lines of recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions.

In related legislation, Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, proposed that anyone found innocent of violating the state business and professions code shall be exempt from any proceedings by state boards or licensing agencies based on the same charge.

Kuchel Wants U.S. Income For Parks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., proposed today that federal revenues from mining and offshore oil royalties be used for national parks and other major recreation projects.

Kuchel said the earmarking of such revenues for recreation purposes would provide from $90 million to $300 million a year.

The recommendation was made during a news conference at which Kuchel also urged creation of a redwood national park in California and diversion of water into the lower Colorado River.

When questioning by newsmen turned to politics, Kuchel declined to discuss his expected candidacy for re-election to the Senate. He also gave restrained answers to questions about Ronald Reagan, who said he would not support Kuchel in the primary next year.

Kuchel said the land and water conservation fund was currently "a little on the low side" and in need of additional funds. He said he would introduce legislation to authorize federal mining and offshore oil royalties to be deposited in the fund rather than into the general fund of the treasury.

In discussing the redwood park proposal, Kuchel said it was "quite reasonable" for Reagan to have asked for additional time for the new state administration to study the plan.

A redwood national park, Kuchel said, was "completely in the public interest" but would require agreement of both conservationist groups and state officials.

Kuchel also said he was "delighted" by Reagan's appointment of William Gielli as water resources director to replace William Warne.

Asked about his political plans, Kuchel said he had "no desire ever to become a candidate for president or vice president" but declined to discuss any plans to seek re-election to the Senate.

But Kuchel, who dropped regular news conferences after his re-election in 1962, said he had recognized a need to get back to California more often and to "have a few more press conferences than I did last year."

County Eyes Spider, Cat Bite Cases

Ocelot and black widow bites suffered by county employees in the line of duty were the biggest concerns before the Marin County Safety Commission today.

The commission told heavy equipment operator John M. Costa Jr. of the county fire department that he erred in not immedaitely getting medical help after being bitten twice by a black widow spider at the county fire department headquarters in Woodacre on Dec. 7.

Costa, 43, on call for the evening, was bitten after getting into bed in the department ready room. The spider, under his pillow, bit him twice on the back before he killed it. He recognized it as a black widow, but went to bed without reporting the bites or asking for help.

DATA LACKING

The next day, he saw a doctor after suffering pains in his legs. He was home for four days recovering.

The commission agreed it did not have enough information on a dispute between Deputy Sheriff Eugene D. Brannon, 35, and an ocelot in Tiburon Dec. 2. The deputy was bitten and scratched on both hands.

Commissioners wanted to know the where, why, and how of the incident. Brannon, not present today, received a tetanus shot, according to a brief report.

The commission also complained of sketchy information on facial cuts suffered by supervising group counselor Donald Quayle at Juvenile Hall Nov. 27 when he tried to subdue a youth and was hit and cut on the face with glass.

CASES DELAYED

Both the Brannon and Quayle cases were put off until next month so they could be discussed with more details.

In line with recent changes in the membership guide for the commission, it recommended building maintenance foreman William Sullivan, representing employees, and Director Betty L. Presley of the welfare department, as department head at large, for one-year terms. County Medical Director Michael Scholl was recommended for a two-year term, replacing County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht.

CONSIDERING A NEWSPAPER CAREER?

The newspaper is no place for someone who likes it soft. Newspaper work is hard and challenging, intellectually and physically.

But there are rewards—good financial rewards and other rewards, too.

The newspaperman knows he contributes to keeping people informed, and no society can remain free without information.

He helps his newspaper mirror the community's thinking, and a society must exchange its best thoughts to motivate its highest achievements.

He and his newspaper provide businessmen with an unparalleled way for telling the community about their products and services, and a free marketplace cannot exist without news of the marketplace.

Developers Dislike Fees For Planning

Planning department fees, street and drainage dedications, and the cost of planning were discussed yesterday in a session at the Civic Center attended by 20 development representatives and county employees.

The session was the second prompted by complaints by civil engineer Arthur Lang of lack of communication among departments of county government and little cooperation with developers.

Representatives of developers charged that planning fees, recently revised upward, are too high, but County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said that the fees do not come close to the work involved. He said that last year, the entire income from such fees was $20,000, which would only cover salaries of a planner and a secretary.

Zucker said that under the new schedule the total for all fees in the Marincello project will come to just $20,000, where it should be more like $60,000.

"Even then, we think that the staff spent only about a fourth of the time it should have on Marincello," Zucker said.

"Maybe you're overstaffed," suggested Carl S. Brown, executive vice president of the Associated Home Builders.

Lang objected to "pressure tactics" in getting developers to dedicate land as a condition on permits. County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost and Zucker said they would continue to require street and drainage dedications as a means of cutting land acquisition cost for the general taxpayer.

Bobby Kennedy Sent $2 For Real Haircut

WASHINGTON (AP)—A New Yorker — concerned about the image of the Empire State—has sent Sen. Robert F. Kennedy $2 for a haircut.

Emanuel F. Manheimer, 25, Ossining, N.Y., said Kennedy's bushy head had bothered him for some time. But seeing the senator on television last week on the night of President Johnson's State of the Union message really was the last straw, he said.

"I am enclosing a check in the amount of $2," he said, "to maintain an image that the country might have of the Empire State." He said that when he once worked as a state park employee his boss "wouldn't allow us to report to work like that."

Kennedy apparently was unconcerned.

"I got a haircut Monday. Tell Mr. Manheimer to watch me at my next public appearance," he said through an office spokesman.

The American railroads, finding it difficult to operate coast to coast within the dozens of different time systems, divided the nation into its present zones, thus inventing standard time, in the 1880s.

Hope's Wife Steals His Viet Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A dignified and attractive lady turned up as a surprise visitor last night on Bob Hope's annual 90-minute NBC-TV broadcast of his Christmas visit to American troops overseas, and she was a rare delight.

As it happens, the lady's name is Dolores Hope, she is married to the comedian, and her rendition of "White Christmas" at her husband's show in Saigon came close to stealing the program — and not for sentimental reasons either. She simply sang wonderfully, and her performance was easily the most creative and sophisticated piece of showmanship in the broadcast. The comedian was a wise fellow to have her fly over from Tokyo to perform in Vietnam for the huge audience of servicemen.

Mrs. Hope, by the way, did not pick up the ability to sing by watching Bing Crosby movies. She was a professional singer. More than three decades ago, when Hope was appearing in the show "Roberta" in New York, George Murphy—then the performer, now the senator—took him to a nightclub where a girl named Dolores Reade was singing. He introduced them, and in 1932 they were married.

Price Of Milk Will Be Hiked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Agriculture Department said today minimum milk prices charged consumers in the Redwood milk marketing area will go up one half cent on Jan. 25.

The reason is higher costs of processing and distribution, said W. J. Hunt Jr., chief of the dairy industry division. A hearing on the prices was held in Santa Rosa Dec. 14.

The half-cent increase applies to both quarts and half gallons.

Red Trawlers Off The Coast

LONG BEACH (AP)—Russian fishing trawlers have been spotted cruising about six miles off Catalina Island in the San Pedro Channel, the California Department of Fish and Game reports.

But, the department said yesterday, as long as the vessels do not cruise closer than three miles from either the island or the mainland, they may enjoy "innocent passage" through waters of the channel.

The department also released a series of photos showing Russian trawlers and a mother ship engaged in fishing activities beyond the 12-mile zone.

The department reported spotting at least five 300-foot trawlers and a 12,000-ton freezer supply ship.

Developers Dislike Fees For Planning

Planning department fees, street and drainage dedications, and the cost of planning were discussed yesterday in a session at the Civic Center attended by 20 development representatives and county employees.

The session was the second prompted by complaints by civil engineer Arthur Lang of lack of communication among departments of county government and little cooperation with developers.

Representatives of developers charged that planning fees, recently revised upward, are too high, but County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said that the fees do not come close to the work involved. He said that last year, the entire income from such fees was $20,000, which would only cover salaries of a planner and a secretary.

Zucker said that under the new schedule the total for all fees in the Marincello project will come to just $20,000, where it should be more like $60,000.

"Even then, we think that the staff spent only about a fourth of the time it should have on Marincello," Zucker said.

"Maybe you're overstaffed," suggested Carl S. Brown, executive vice president of the Associated Home Builders.

Lang objected to "pressure tactics" in getting developers to dedicate land as a condition on permits. County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost and Zucker said they would continue to require street and drainage dedications as a means of cutting land acquisition cost for the general taxpayer.

Baker Is Named To State Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — William C. Hern, officer of a South San Francisco bakery firm, has been named the chief of the Califorina Department of Industrial Relations.

Gov. Ronald Reagan announced the appointment yesterday. Hern, 62, succeeds Sigmund Arywitz in the $19,500 a year job.

Hern was vice president and general manager of Colonial Bakeries. Before joining Colonial he served eight years as executive secretary of the San Francisco Bakery Employers Assn.

Parking Aide Quits

Colin Menzies, Mill Valley parking enforcement officer since October, 1965, yesterday submitted his resignation, effective Feb. 1. No replacement has been hired, Police Chief Dan Terzich said.
